ROOSEVELT: SHOOTING BEGUN

FEARS WAR WILL FOLLOW REPEAL OF NEUTRAL ACT

Senate Is Warned by Vandenberg.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27.—A shooting war, probably in two oceans, awaits the United States if congress strikes from the neutrality act all restrictions upon the arming of merchant ships and the dispatch of them thru combat zones to ports of nations at war.

Sen. Vandenberg.

This was the solemn prediction today of Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.], who led off the debate for the opposition as the senate began consideration of house joint resolution 237, which as amended in senate calls for repeal of three sections of the neutrality law, leaving little but the title of the act on the statute books. The original house resolution provided only for arming of American merchant ships.

Long lines of persons stood waiting patiently outside the packed galleries as the historic debate began. There was an atmosphere of quiet tension within the chamber. Scarcely any attempt was made to interrupt the only two speakers of the day, Sen. Vandenberg and Sen. Tom Connally [D., Tex.], chairman of the foreign relations committee, who briefly stated the case of the administration.

Debate Is Restrained.

Emotionalism may break forth in the days to come but dignity and restraint ruled the discussion today. Vandenberg indulged in no personalities. His powerfully eloquent address, lasting nearly two hours, brought around him at the end a score of senators to wring his hand and acclaim him for a speech which cannot fail to be recorded as one of the great deliveries in senate annals.

"I consider the pending senate decision," Vandenberg began slowly, "as substantially settling the question whether America deliberately and consciously shall go all the way into a shooting war—probably upon two oceans.

"The ultimate acknowledgment by congress of a state of war will be a mere formality, ratifying a precipitated fact, if we approve the needless provocations and trends inherent in this proposed action.

Calls It Controling Issue.

"Therefore I consider that I am now facing the controling issue—so far as our own acts are concerned—in respect to our own entry into World war No. 2. It is in the presence of that grim and sinister specter—including a second AEF without which the highest British command frankly says there cannot be an anti-axis military victory on the continent of Europe—that I take my stand against the pending resolution."

In recommending elimination of the heart of the neutrality bill the senate foreign relations committee sounded the battle charge, the senior senator from Michigan declared. He could understand, he said, how those anxious for war would support such a move.

"But I cannot understand," he declared, raising his voice in scorn, "the viewpoint which supports this pending action on the old, shallow, transparent, exploded theory that we are once more striving to keep out of active war when we thus drive straight ahead into the bloody heart of it."

Interventionists Can't Agree.

Vandenberg noted that the interventionists were at war with themselves in their haste to proceed on the road to war. One group wants outright repeal of the neutrality act and another seeks to retain certain minor provisions, such as that one prohibiting the travel of American citizens on belligerent vessels.

"I welcome this unanticipated candor; it makes for truth and reality," Vandenberg remarked, "but it leaves no further room for the comforting consolation—anaesthetic would be a better word—that we are still on the road to peace, which has been the constant Presidential promise up to date."

He was aware, Sen. Vandenberg told the senate, that Hitler may force the United States into war or get Japan to do so, and that he recognized the need of national unity under such cir-

FALL OF ROSTOV CLOSE AT HAND, GERMANS HINT

Berlin hinted broadly last night that the German capture of Rostov, Black sea port and gateway to the Caucasus, might be expected soon. Russian reports admitted the peril to Rostov was clear, with the Germans beating powerfully on the city's approaches. Great battles were reported raging in the Donetz basin. The Nazis declared Red counterattacks there were thrown back by the Italians.

The Germans said bad weather was retarding action on other fronts, but the Russians admitted a 15 mile advance by the Germans to within 50 miles of Moscow on the southwest. Red counterattacks were said to have driven the Germans back across a river.

The Germans reported Russian preparations for an attempt to break out of the Leningrad encirclement had been broken up by a Nazi artillery attack.

PRESIDENT SAYS AMERICA TAKES BATTLE STATION

Claims This Country Has Been Attacked.

The text of President Roosevelt's Navy day speech is on page 4.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27.—In his most aggressive war speech up to date President Roosevelt tonight proclaimed that "America has been attacked," that "the shooting has started," and that "history has recorded who fired the first shot." Of greater moment he ominously observed will be "who fired the last shot."

To meet the challenge of Adolf Hitler, said the President, "we Americans have cleared our decks and taken our battle stations."

The President's speech was delivered at a dinner at the Mayflower hotel that brought to a climax the celebration of Navy day, the birthday of Theodore Roosevelt and the anniversary of the foundation of the navy by the continental congress. More than 900 persons paid $5 each for the benefit of navy relief funds to eat a navy ration consisting of navy bean soup, corn beef brisket mulligan and cabbage, corn bread sticks, apple pie, cheese and beer.

Introduced by Donovan.

Mr. Roosevelt was introduced by the toastmaster of the dinner, Col. William J. [Wild Bill] Donovan, the administration's director of counterpropaganda.

The guests, almost entirely Roosevelt administration officer holders and their wives, thunderously cheered almost every passage of the President's fighting speech. It was a speech patently designed to speed to passage the repeal of the neutrality act, if not the outright declaration of war by congress that the anti-interventionists plan to move as a test of public sentiment on the war issue.

In support of his contentions that America has everything to fear from a Hitler victory the President touched off two verbal bomb shells. One was the assertion that he possesses a secret Nazi map showing how Hitler proposes to divide up and reorganize South America into five vassal states including Panama and the Panama canal, "our great life line."

Tells Plan to Abolish Religion.

The other bombshell was intended to startle church members. The President said he had another Nazi document disclosing Hitler's plan to abolish all organized religions if Hitler succeds in dominating the world. An international Nazi church is to be set up, Hitler's "Mein Kampf" substituted for the Bible and the cross of Christ replaced by "the swastika and the naked sword."

Ignoring the neutrality act's abridgement of freedom of the seas which he once acclaimed as the shield and buckler of our immunity from war Mr. Roosevelt asserted that this principle "is now, as it always has been, the fundamental policy of our government." Hitler's purpose, he said, is to frighten America off the high seas but he has misjudged the American spirit which "is now aroused."

Calls Production Vital Task.

"Our vital task," said the President, is the production and delivery of arms to the foes of the axis.

"In open defiance of that will, our ships have been sunk and our sailors have been killed," declaimed Mr. Roosevelt with blazing eyes. "I say that we do not propose to take this lying down."

His words were almost drowned in an outburst of applause and cheers.

He then went on to indorse the senate foreign relations committee's proposed repealer of all the vital remaining sections of the neutrality act.

Hits at John L. Lewis.

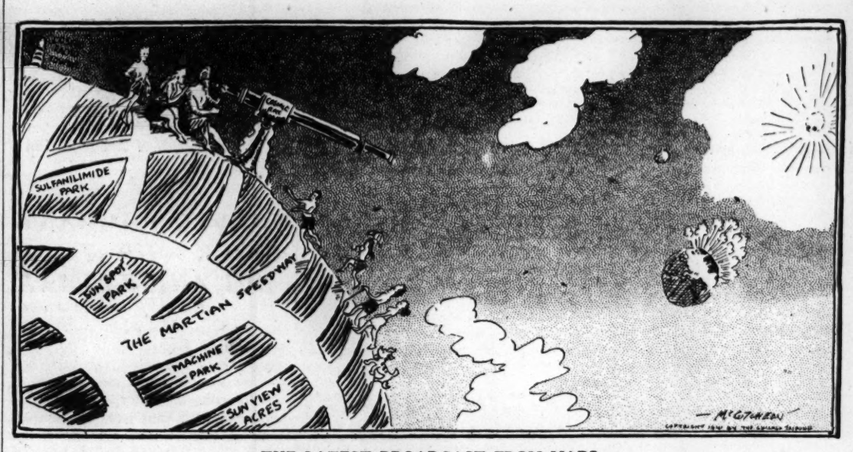
We must multiply our output of arms and not allow it to be impeded by selfish industrialists and labor leaders, the President asserted. He interpolated a mention of coal mines at this point of his speech, which was interpreted as a slap at John L. Lewis, who today defied the President in refusing to call off a strike in steel company mines.

The strategy outlined by Mr. Roosevelt is to stop Hitler and compel him to dig in. Then for want of continuing victories the Hitler power will crumble, said the President, as did the kaiser's power in 1918.

How Gangsters Split Gambling 'Take'

BIG FOUR POCKET RICHES; CAPONE BELIEVED CUT IN

A PLANETARY VIEW OF THE UNITED STATES



THE LATEST BROADCAST FROM MARS.

Now, take the United States, for example. She's the most fortunate nation in all the world—blessed beyond all other lands. She has peace, which, despite propaganda to the contrary, is a nation's most precious possession. It is the normal state of happiness and contentment. Those who sneer at it are dishonest.

She has plenty of land for elbow room. There is no border friction such as most other nations suffer from. She has everything she needs in great abundance. All kinds of foodstuffs—fruit and grain and meat and drink. She has every kind of climate. Palm trees and pines! Eucalyptus and tamarack! The Promised Land—also the land of promises.

She has all kinds of opportunities for those who have vision and purpose.

She has the most gold, the most oil, the most wheat, the most automobiles, the most of nearly every desirable thing.

All this is hers in perpetuity if she cares enough for it to keep it. She need not go to war, for no nation can invade her. Prudent defensive armaments will protect her. Her one danger is that they become offensive armaments.

With all these blessings and advantages hers, what do we hear today in her legislative halls? Incredible as it may seem, she is debating the wisdom of sacrificing all these blessings and of plunging into another hemisphere to fight in a war that can only be made her war by constant effort and trickiness. Her leaders wish to cut loose from all their traditions and go crusading thruout the whole world, promising freedoms to those who wonder why she is so lightly and gaily jeopardizing her own freedoms.

Do you wonder that history will call her course the craziest in all the annals of time?

THREAT OF RAIDS IGNORED BY MOB; DICE STILL ROLL

Hint Pay-off Keeps Al a Friend of New Bosses.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Bertram J. Cahn, president of the Chicago Crime commission, which acts in coöperation with the Chicago Association of Commerce, said yesterday that the Guzik-Nitti-Humphreys-Vogel gangsters appeared so certain of their safety from raids that they carried on gambling operations over the week-end in the country towns of Cook county despite recent disclosures of their widespread operations.

Cahn charged that Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien's men made at least one "fake" raid, known to be such to the operators of the gambling house affected. He said observers for the commission found crap games, roulette wheels, birdcage, and other gambling games in progress in many places in suburban territory Saturday and Sunday evenings.

Police Leave; Dice Roll.

Cahn said crime commission observers were present Saturday in a gambling resort in Cicero at 2131 Cicero avenue when a raiding squad from Sheriff O'Brien's office arrived. The observers reported that the patrons were told to go upstairs in a place known as the Rock Gardens, one of the most notorious gaming dens in the country, for a few minutes until the raiders left, and that the games would be resumed.

"As soon as the police left gambling started again," Cahn said his agents reported. "No arrests were made and none of the gambling apparatus was confiscated."

"These criminals seem so certain of protection they dare anything," Cahn said.

"We are not concerned about the public's gambling. We never try to teach ethics or morals to any one. We are not trying to curb the privileges of the public to engage in games of chance.

"Corruption of Government."

"But this open syndicate gambling amounts to corruption of our government.

"I earnestly hope that the sheets of paper now in the possession of THE TRIBUNE will be used as proof against bribe givers and bribe takers.

"The discovery of the ledger sheets of the Guzik syndicate is probably the greatest benefit we ever had in the way of exposing criminals and corruptionists.

"Our honest officials should use this discovery in the battle to put the Guzik gang members in prison and to break up their syndicate, thereby ridding this community of the old Capone gang grown stronger."

Previous Disclosures!

It was revealed Saturday by The Tribune that secret financial records of the Guzick-Nitti gambling syndicate show that the gang has an estimated gross income of $3,875,000 a year and net income of $2,666,000, and that annual graft payments exceed $300,000.

Sheet No. 1 of these records printed in The Tribune showed slot machine collections of $99,235 in July.

Sheet No. 2, reproduced in The Tribune on Sunday, showed how smaller gambling gangs were forced to pay 25 per cent of their profits to the big syndicate.

Sheet No. 3, made public yesterday, showed how $139,000 a month net profit rolled in from large syndicate gambling resorts.

Today's article is based on Sheets No. 4 and No. 5.

Tomorrow's Tribune will publish the sixth sheet, detailing graft payments made by the gang under the heading "Kicks."

Financial records of the Guzik-Nitti-Humphreys-Vogel gambling syndicate for July, 1941, published today in The Tribune, show a net profit of $80,070 from slot machines and tributes from smaller gangs conducting gambling businesses in Cook county outside Chicago.

The fourth sheet of six from the gang's secret ledgers is a recapitulation of the income, outgo, and split of profits. It records a gross income of $126,921 for the month of July.

Graft Payment Included.

Expenses totaled $46,851 for the month, and included $24,480 paid in graft for mob protection.

Sheet No. 5 contains a list of manufacturers from whom the syndicate purchased equipment during the month. It records the money paid to each company.

Sheet No. 4 shows that $35,850 was set aside as an unexplained reserve. This reserve, it is believed, was intended for Alphonse Capone, the former gang chieftain. The remaining $44,220 apparently was split among the four syndicate bosses, each getting $11,055.

Gambling House Income.

The heading on sheet 4 is "July, 1941, Recap." There is no reference to the large income, covered in sheet 3, which is taken by the syndicate from gambling houses in Cicero and the country towns of Cook county.

First item among receipts showed that 12 collectors gathered a July harvest of $99,235 from slot machines. This entry was followed by a second item, which noted $25,710 that had rolled in from "operators, etc." These "operators" are the subordinate gangs which pay tribute for protection and for the privilege of being allowed to operate.

Expenses Subtracted.

The two items gave the gangland accountant a total of $124,945, from which the $46,851 in expenses was subtracted, leaving $78,094. Two subsidiary items of income—$1,300 from punchboard sales and a credit of $676 from

Defied, F.D.R. Makes 3d Plea to Open Mines

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27.—President Roosevelt today made a third appeal to John L. Lewis to resume operations in soft coal mines owned by leading steel corporations, and known as captive mines, pending settlement of the labor dispute which has thrown 53,000 men out of work.

Except for one show of defiance the 20,000 miners in Western Pennsylvania quietly obeyed the strike order which became effective today. The rebellion against Lewis' order occurred at Johnstown where several hundred men went to work as usual.

The appeal was made soon after Lewis, who is president of the United Mine Workers of America, had rejected the President's second appeal, issued last night, for a resumption of operations in the mines. Roosevelt's first plea was made Saturday.

Storm Rises in Congress.

In his third appeal Mr. Roosevelt said it is essential that the mining of coal goes ahead without interruption and wrote: "For the third time your government, thru me, asks you and the officers of the UMW to authorize an immediate resumption of mining."

Lewis' rejection of the President's second appeal was contained in a letter in which he openly defied the White House.

Lewis has agreed to confer Wednesday with Myron C. Taylor, the President's envoy to the Vatican and former chairman of the United States Steel corporation, who is representing the mine operators.

Cites Mine Agreement.

Lewis said work can be resumed Thursday if the corporation will accept the Appalachian agreement signed by operators of commercial mines. It covers wages and hours and provides for a union shop, under which miners are required to join the union. Operators of the captive mines accepted the wages and hours provisions, but refused to grant a union shop, which is the sole issue in the strike.

In reply to Mr. Roosevelt's second appeal that this is a matter of "national defense" and "preservation of our freedoms," Lewis wrote: "There is yet no question of patriotism or national security involved."

"This fight is only between a labor union and a ruthless corporation—the United States Steel corporation," Lewis continued. "My adversary is a rich man named Morgan who lives in New York."

Charges Dictation of Policy.

He accused J. P. Morgan, a director of United States Steel, of dominating and dictating its policies.

"If you would use the power of the state to restrain me, as an agent of labor, then, sir, I submit that you should use that same power to restrain my adversary in this issue, who is an agent of capital [Morgan]," Lewis said.

Morgan, in New York, replied: "What utter rubbish! I am one of the directors of the United States Steel corporation, but every other statement about me in Mr. Lewis' letter is untrue."

At New York Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the United States Steel corporation said, "The present strike in the coal mines of the United States Steel corporation subsidiaries make necessary substantial reductions in our steel producing operations." He predicted complete shutdowns if coal production was not resumed.

HITLER SEEMS VICTIM OF RACKING DISEASE IN CUDAHY'S OPINION

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27.—Hitler looked as tho he had "a malignant disease" to John Cudahy, when the former ambassador to Belgium talked with him. Mr. Cudahy so testified before the senate foreign relations committee, according to testimony on neutrality act revision published today.

Mr. Cudahy told the committee: "No. 1 is not going to endure forever. I am not a physician but I never saw a man who looked so ill as he did when I saw him. He looked as if he had not slept for months."

"You are speaking of Hitler?" Sen. Shipstead asked.

"Yes, Hitler," Mr. Cudahy answered. "No. 1 they call him over there. He looked as if he had a malignant disease."

Children's Food Limited, So French Cut Their Exercise

VICHY, Oct. 27.—Because of restricted diets, the full program of physical training prepared for French school children will not be applied, it was announced today. In order that children may have enough sleep schools will open at 8:30 instead of 8 o'clock, and physical exercise will be reduced from five hours weekly to three for boys, and from four hours to two for girls.

MANILA, Oct. 27 (AP).—A postoffice worker was arrested by police at Baguio who are investigating substitution of a lead bar for a gold brick in a shipment to the San Francisco mint. Police said a lead bar, wrapped and stamped like a gold brick was found in the suspect's room.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27 (AP).—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt said today she might learn to ride a bicycle. She said she needed exercise.

Here's Truth, the Hole Truth, of Doughnut

New York, Oct. 27 [Special].—Here's how the hole got in the doughnut:

Arrow indicates hole in doughnut.

A dark eyed Puritan maiden made some fried cakes one day, ever so long ago. They were golden brown and crumbly. She put them on the window ledge to cool, and then, having a new bonnet, went out for a stroll.

In the forest she met a young Indian brave, the worst shot in the whole Wampanoag tribe, who told her he was going to scalp her.

She knew he told all the girls that, but she was afraid he'd take her new hat and say he'd almost scalped her even if he hadn't. So she told him in somewhat formal language to go climb a tree and while he was thinking about that she scampered for home.

The End of a Chase.

Now the brave was no better runner than he was a marksman. He ran and he ran, but he just couldn't catch her. She was getting near her front door and it was going to be all over the forest that he couldn't even outrun a paleface girl.

He pulled an arrow from his quiver, bent his bow, and took a pot shot at her just as she was opening the door. The arrow missed her, but bored a neat hole in the middle of one of the friedcakes.

Turning on his heel, the Indian departed. She brought her friedcakes in. A young Puritan neighbor who called that evening said the friedcake with the hole in it was the best of all.

Then the Biscuit Cutter.

She shot holes in all her friedcakes with a bow and arrow after that until she read an early Chinese version of Charles Lamb's "A Dissertation Upon Roast Pig" and began using a biscuit cutter. Some one eventually named the friedcakes doughnuts.

That's how the hole got in the doughnut, if you want to believe the story Chief Big Eagle of Maspee, Mass., told delegates to the first annual convention of the National Dunking association today.

Chief Big Eagle says he's a direct descendent of the Wampanoag Indian who shot the hole in the first doughnut, and Webster's New International Dictionary says the Wampanoags have been extinct since the 18th century.

"Esquire"—brought the net income to $80,070.

The "Esquire" entry represents the roadhouse of that name in Waukegan road near Winnetka road. This place, a gambling resort, yielded little because of a raid which limited its life to a few days early in July.

The "Outs" subhead included the following expenditures: $6,880 for pay rolls, $12,685 for equipment, miscellaneous outgo of $2,806, and the "kicks" or graft payments of $24,480.

These expenditures are explainable but below them, written apparently by another hand, are seven items of expense for which no explanation is given. These are for $25,000, $5,000, $3,500, $500, $1,000, $500, and $350. They comprise a total expenditure of $35,850. Altho there is no explanation of what these expenditures are for, they apparently were the most important expenses of the month, for the bookkeeper has deducted the $35,850 from the net profit of $80,070 before a split is made of the remaining $44,220.

Payoff to Capone?

Persons acquainted with the operations of the gambling racket claim to have an explanation for the $35,850 deduction. They believe that the largest amount, that of $25,000, is a monthly pay-off to Al Capone, who, since his release from Alcatraz penitentiary, where he served a term for income tax invasion, has been living a secluded life on his Florida estate.

Such a payment, these informants say, is not regarded entirely as a matter of sentiment. The payment would serve to keep Capone's relatives and numerous friends satisfied with the present management of the syndicate; it would cement the loyalty of the muscle men whom Capone supported so lavishly when he was the recognized king of vice and crime in Cook county.

The Guzik gang has no desire for a personal return of the old leader from his Elba.

The $5,000 item which is placed second on this mysterious expense list is reputed to be the syndicate's contribution to a defense fund; the next item of $3,500 is probably salary and expense allowance for Charles Fischetti, Capone relative and liaison man between the old chieftain and the present gang. Fischetti flies monthly to and from Chicago and Miami. The remaining items may be payments to other members of the Capone family. If they are, this is the gang's tribute to the lasting power of the Capone name.

They Call It the "Divvy."

At any rate, after the $35,850 has been subtracted from the net profit, the money remaining is divided by four. Gangland calls this the "divvy" to the four bosses of the syndicate—Jack Guzik, Frank Nitti, Murray Humphreys, and Edward Vogel. If the receipts in July are representative of the gang's monthly income, then the annual net profit to each of these four men from the operations of slot machines, tribute paid by subsidiary gambling operators, and thru the sale of merchandise to tavern owners, would exceed $132,000.

Sheet No. 5 of the gang's records lists 19 payments made in the month of July for gambling equipment [spelled by the bookkeeper "equiptment"]. These payments were as follows:

"JULY, 1941. EQUIPTMENT.

8.	Bally Mfg. on acc	$ 250
	Atlas Nov	250
	H. C. Evans	500
	Mills Nov	1,500

29	H. C. Evans	500
	Bally Mfg	500
	Mills Novelty	2,000
	Mills Novelty Bl Acct	1,000
		$12,685 "

Inquiry at the offices of these various companies found their officials loath to discuss transactions. It was definitely learned, however, that one of the companies, the Bally Manufacturing, sold target games to the syndicate and received payment as listed under the equipment account.

A Purchasing Agent.

Monarch Coin and Atlas Novelty officials assert that available records do not show payments made as listed. The equipment charges are for dice, slot machines, punchboards, and other gambling devices. The syndicate, as has been explained in previous articles, makes most of the purchases needed by smaller gambling operators.

From persons acquainted with the syndicate operations it is learned that the gang, rich as its top men are, would not have an A-1 credit rating if prompt payment were the sole measure. Political influence and fear of the gang are factors outweighing a reputation for slow pay.

For obvious reasons no company attempts to repossess a slot machine from the syndicate and no individuals are eager to sue the syndicate chieftains for debt.

Vogel Manages Machines.

Vogel is the slot machine manager and is said to dictate the purchases of equipment. Payments to the equipment makers are said to be made by Fred Evans, a suave individual of distinguished appearance. He is the reputed auditor for the gang, which pays in cash and uses no checks.

Evans and Nitti were indicted last fall on charges of conspiracy to take over the bartenders' union and run it for the benefit of the mob. With three others they were acquitted in December after George B. McLane, a union official who had accused them before the grand jury, refused to testify in court on the ground that he might incriminate himself.

LEHMAN SPEAKS FOR O'DWYER IN N. Y. MAYOR RACE

New York, Oct. 27 [Special].—Gov. Herbert H. Lehman tonight appealed to New York City voters to elect William O'Dwyer, Democratic nominee for mayor, Nov. 4.

Tonight's was the first of two speeches that Gov. Lehman will make in support of O'Dwyer who is running against Mayor Fiorello La Guardia. President Roosevelt has come out in support of La Guardia, an action which incensed Democrats and drew a rebuke from Edward J. Flynn, national chairman of the Democratic party.

Altho Gov. Lehman did not directly refer to the Presidential indorsement of La Guardia, who is running on a fusion ticket and is being supported by the communists, he proclaimed his own belief in the party system and warned that "if members of a party are to repudiate well qualified candidates of their own party, nominated by conventions or in primaries," the party system would disappear and be replaced by "selfish factions" and "racial and national blocks."

ASK WAUKEGAN POLICE TO NOTE 10 P. M. CURFEW

The Waukegan chapter of the Woman's Christian Temperance union reported to the Waukegan city council last night that many young girls had been seen on the streets after the curfew hour in the company of men—"especially soldiers and sailors." An ordinance provides that children found on the streets after 10 p. m. must be warned to go to their homes and their parents must be notified. The city council ordered Police Chief Bart Tyrrell to post copies of the ordinance where all policemen can see it.

FDR WANTS CCC, NYA MERGED, PUT UNDER CONTROL OF M'NUTT

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27 (AP).—President Roosevelt asked today that plans be drafted to consolidate the civilian conservation corps and the national youth administration and to transfer all CCC administrative duties from the war department to the federal security agency headed by Paul V. McNutt.

Mr. Roosevelt asked McNutt to draft plans for the consolidation "thru proper legislative channels," in cooperation with Budget Director Harold D. Smith, and to "prepare and carry into effect" arrangements for transferring the administrative and supply duties of the CCC to McNutt's agency. The request was made public by McNutt, who disclosed that the President had written him a letter declaring that "in view of current world conditions I feel that the war department should be relieved from all activities which may in any manner interfere with its main objective—preparation for defense."

McNutt said the President intimated that he was considering sending a message to congress explaining the need for consolidating the CCC and the NYA. Legislation would be required, because the CCC is operating under an act of congress, while the NYA was created by an executive order.

MOTHER TO TAKE BACK 4 CHILDREN SHE ABANDONED

Judge Jay A. Schiller yesterday withdrew a "mercy warrant" for the arrest of Mrs. Rose Palmer, 29 year old mother who last Friday abandoned her four children in their home at 4611 North Ashland avenue, after he was told in the Court of Domestic Relations that she had been found and would resume life with her children by virtue of charitable aid.

Judge Schiller said the warrant, charging disorderly conduct, was withdrawn to relieve Mrs. Palmer of any legal burden. Miss Bernadine Healy, social service director of St. Vincent's orphanage, where two of the children are being kept, said she would obtain a warrant charging Mrs. Palmer with contributing to the delinquency of her children in order to keep her within court jurisdiction.

A note left with the children at the time of their abandonment explained that Mrs. Palmer's husband had left her some time ago and that she was unable to support them.

STATE TO MAIL FIRST CHILD AID CASH THIS WEEK

The first month's checks under the Aid to Dependent Children program, to be mailed later this week, will bring assistance aggregating $35,691 for 2,389 Cook county children.

Allotments to the various counties of Illinois were announced yesterday at Springfield by Fletcher C. Kettle, state superintendent of public assistance.

The October checks total $151,615 for 10,718 children. The distribution includes: Du Page county, 47 children, $663; Lake county, three children, $48; Will county, 121 children, $1,637; De Kalb county, 58 children, $796, and Kankakee county, 26 children, $370. The program was instituted under legislation passed at the latest session of the general assembly. The state and federal governments divide the expense.

HARVEY PAGEANT WORKS UP TO A BIG ANTI-CLIMAX

Citzens of Harvey celebrated their city's golden jubilee last night with a torchlight parade. Many wore the costumes of 1891, the year in which Harvey was founded. Some rode in buggies. But the glory of the parade detracted somewhat from the council meeting, which was to have been the grand climax. Mayor Frank Bruggeman and the four commissioners were delayed by the parade. When they reached the council chamber, they found only eight of the 100 chairs occupied, and five of those present were municipal employés. The officials decided the crowd was a trifle small for more pageantry, and hurriedly adjourned the meeting.

GAS HALTS MINE RESCUERS; HOPE FOR 15 GIVEN UP

Four Bodies Uncovered in Wreckage After Blast.

Madisonville, Ky., Oct. 27 [Special].—Fifteen miners tonight were given up for lost after an explosion which wrecked the workings of the Sterling Coal company shaft at Daniel Boone, a small community 11 miles south of here. Four bodies were within sight of rescuers but strong gas fumes drove the rescue parties from the shaft this evening. Veterans of rescue work say there is no hope that any of the missing men will be found alive.

Arrow locates mine.

The blast occurred a few minutes after 60 men entered the shaft at 7 o'clock this morning. Seven men still were at the foot of the shaft, and were hauled out immediately. Thirty-eight others had entered the old part of the mine. All members of this crew were knocked down by the force of the blast, but were uninjured. They were able to make their way to an air shaft, where they were rescued by members of the Madisonville fire department, who lowered ladders for them to climb out.

Blast in Mechanized Section.

The fifteen miners now missing went into the new, or mechanized part of the mine, known as entry No. 7 North. This section employs mechanical coal cutters, mechanical loaders, and electric "mules" for moving the cars from the working face to the snaft. Rescued miners believe an electric spark touched off blackdamp in the entry, causing the explosion.

The blast wrecked the hoisting cage, and rescue crews have rigged up a barrel to ride up and down the shaft. This improvised lift brought the seven first rescued to the surface.

Wreckage Blocks Rescuers.

Twisted trackage, wrecked machinery, coal, rock, and other débris blocks the path of squads attempting to reach the 11 entombed men, believed to be about 2,800 feet from the shaft. When gas forced a halt in rescue efforts, mine officials estimated it may be noon tomorrow before the bodies are brought to the surface.

JUST COLLECTOR OF SLUSH FUNDS, BIOFF TESTIFIES

Says Money Was Used to 'Quiet' Legislators.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 27.—Willie Bioff, west coast union boss on trial for extortion, today unfolded from the witness stand a sensational tale that Hollywood film executives had voluntarily given him "more than a million dollars" in cash for use in fighting legislation adverse to the industry.

Solemnly and glibly, Bioff related to Federal Judge John C. Knox and the jury which will decide his fate, that he had delivered every cent of the cash to Joseph M. Schenck, former chairman of the board of 20th Century-Fox Film corporation. Schenck was convicted of income tax evasion in New York City this spring and is under sentence of three years in prison.

Two Officials on Trial.

Bioff and George E. Browne, president of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employés, are being tried on charges that they used their powerful labor positions to extort a total of $726,000 from four motion picture companies — Loew's, Inc., Warner Brothers, Paramount Pictures, and Twentieth Century Fox—from 1936 to May 1941.

Motion picture executives testified earlier in the trial that they had handed huge sums of money over to Bioff after the latter had threatened to call strikes that would ruin the movie industry.

Bioff's testimony today was intended to show that far from having extorted the money it had been turned over to him voluntarily and far from using it to feather his own nest and that of his henchman, Browne, he had in turn turned it over to Joseph Schenck.

Bioff, a former Chicago pander, is the Hollywood representative of the IATSE, which wields tremendous power in the amusement world thru control over 125,000 movie technicians, prop men, stagehands, and motion picture operators.

Embroidering Bioff's narrative, which has yet to run the gauntlet of cross-examination at the hands of United States Attorney Mathias F. Correa, were surprising acts of social and business intimacy on the part of the film officials who were allegedly the victims of the shakedown racket.

Joe Schenck lent Bioff $100,000 to buy his alfalfa ranch and then "made money for him" in the stock market, the witness declared. Schenck sent him on luxury cruises with his wife to Rio de Janeiro and Europe, with 20th Century-Fox footing the bills. On the trip to South America the Bioffs pallied around with Louis B. Mayer, head of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios and Mrs. Mayer. President Harry Warner of Warner Brothers sent a relative around to give the defendant advice on real estate.

Tells of Humble Beginnings.

Dressed in a snappy, gray double breasted suit with a blue handkerchief stuck jauntily in the pocket, the witness belied his humble start in life. Bioff said he was born in Russia, his schooling ended in the third grade, and he left home at the age of 14 years to make his way.

He became a truck driver and member of the teamsters' union in Chicago in 1923 and later became a member of the teamsters' joint council.

Bioff's Story of Arrangements.

His career as a messenger for the movie moguls, the defendant stated under questions by his attorney, Michael Luddy, began in the summer of 1935 when he had a talk about it with Nicholas M. Schenck, president of Loew's, Inc., and a brother of Joseph Schenck.

"Nicholas Schenck told me about conditions in the business, and said I would be very useful to him, that he had to transfer cash to the west coast to his brother Joe, and would I mind calling on a few people here and in Chicago and make these pickups and deliver to his brother Joe," the witness recalled.

Luddy asked Bioff what reason was given him for this procedure.

"He told me the industry was being sandbagged in all parts of the country by legislatures, that he had to use cash because it couldn't show on the books."

Bioff described himself as "very glad to do it."

Tells of Collector Rôle.

The next move, according to the testimony, was for Bioff to go to Chicago and pick up $60,000 from John Balaban of Paramount Pictures and $30,000 from James Costen of Warner Brothers. Still carrying out Nicholas Schneck's instructions, as Bioff told it, he took the $90,000 out west and arrived at Joseph Schenck's home on Hollywood boulevard one morning in late July or early August.

"I knocked at the door and a servant admitted me," continued Bioff. "Joe came down and greeted me. He suggested breakfast and he went out on a porch to eat. Then we chewed the rag for about five minutes and then he took me up to his bedroom. . . . We sat down. I took the money out of my breast pocket and handed it to him. It was $90,000."

After Schneck had thumbed thru the bills, he turned to Bioff and the witness quoted him as saying:

"Things are hard. People in the industry look for Nick and me to get things done and they should foot their pro rata share of the bill if they expect things done by me and Nick. It is a thankless job to get things done in the movie industry."

Bioff remembered having given Joe Schenck huge sums of cash on at least a dozen occasions in Hollywood and New York.

Lists Film Notables.

Then the witness counted off a list of film notables from whom he had received payments which he relayed to Schenck and his reputed slush fund. The roster included:

John Balaban, Paramount company, Chicago; James Costen, Warner Brothers, Chicago; Sam Brenner, Chicago attorney, and "two other attorneys in Chicago I can't recall the names of"; Henry Herzbrun, Paramount attorney in the west coast studios; Harry Warner, president, and his brother, Albert, vice president and treasurer, of Warner Brothers, and Charles Moskowitz, Loew's official in New York.

Also Maj. Leslie F. Thompson of Radio - Keith - Orpheum; Marvin Schenck, nephew of Nicholas and eastern talent scout for Loew's; Sidney R. Kent, president of Twentieth Century-Fox; Austin Keough, vice president and counsel for Paramount; "a young lady" from Warner Brothers [Albert Warner's secretary]; Samuel Carlisle, Warner Brothers controler; Hugh Strong, personnel manager of Twentieth Century-Fox; George Skouras, manager of Fox theaters in New York; Charles Skouras, manager of Fox theaters on the west coast; one "Mr. Rubin" of Joliet, Ill., and Mort Singer, Chicago theater man.

Attorney Luddy asked him whether he had discussed a trip with Joe Schenck in February of 1938.

"Yes," replied Bioff. "He stated to me that government agents were checking the books of different companies on the payments made to me, and to get out of the way so they couldn't interrogate me."

Schenck suggested the trip to Rio as "wise," doubly so because Louis Mayer would be aboard the swanky French liner, Normandie, on this special cruise. The Mayers and Bioffs ate together and had their deck chairs placed side by side, according to the witness.

Things were looking brighter when he returned to New York, Bioff said, but Schenck felt it advisable for him to keep under cover a while longer and so the defendant willingly allowed himself to be packed off to Europe. Schenck again bought the tickets.

The Bioffs were met upon their arrival by T. J. Hartley, London manager for Twentieth Century-Fox, the witness said. That company footed their hotel bills in London and Paris, as well as sending them in a limousine with chauffeur on a motor tour of Holland and Belgium.

When he was casting about for an alfalfa ranch in 1937, Bioff said, Joe Schenck came to his rescue and offered to lend him $100,000.

"I told him I didn't want the loan that way because some day there might be a checkup and my name would appear on his books," said the defendant. "That would look bad for me in the labor movement."

Loan Arranged Thru Nephew.

Schenck then arranged to have the loan made thru his nephew, Arthur Stebbins, who handled the insurance for the studio. The witness identified a promissory note for $100,000 he had signed on July 22, 1937, the money to be repaid to Stebbins at 4 per cent interest.

Then Schenck sent his own real estate expert, one Lou Anger, around to look at the property Bioff had decided to purchase. After receiving his expert's report, according to Bioff, Schenck said the property was worth a great deal less than he was paying for it and told him he was "no farmer."

"I'll make some money for you buying stocks," Bioff quoted Schenck as promising.

Court adjourned for the day with Bioff starting to tell how Schenck had given him $3,000 in profits on Twentieth Century-Fox film transactions and had begun to buy Consolidated Oil and Continental Can for his benefit. His friend, Joe, was buying and selling in lots of thousands of shares, he testified.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

The Tribune will pay $5 for each timely, interesting question submitted by a reader and used in this column.

The Question.

What is the most appreciated gift you've sent to a soldier or sailor?

Where Asked.

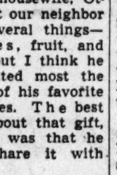
Dearborn and Madison streets.

The Answers.

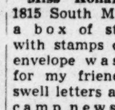
Seymour Kroll, store manager, 4916 North Drake avenue—Until the boys went on maneuvers from headquarters my brother's best appreciated gift was his electric shaver. He still takes it out once in a while to admire it. He's looking forward to the time when he can use it again.

Mrs. Libby Hillman, housewife, Los Angeles, Cal.—I sent a gift which my soldier friend says all the boys liked: a phonograph with 80 old records. With additions from other collections, he said they could march cross-country and back again with a different tune for every step.

Mrs. A. A. Wright, housewife, Ottumwa, Ia.—We've sent our neighbor boy several things—cookies, fruit, and fudge, but I think he appreciated most the bundle of his favorite magazines. The best thing about that gift, he said, was that he could share it with other soldiers.



Miss Kohar Shamlian, secretary, 1815 South Michigan avenue—Maybe a box of stationery with stamps on every envelope was selfish, for my friend writes swell letters all full of camp news. He's thanked me more than once. He's not able to buy decent stationery, and it also helps him to keep his budget balanced.



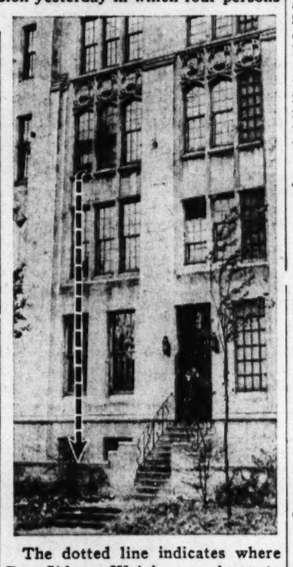
Richard Smith, salesman, 3631 Broadway—Because it was the one gift I most appreciated when I was in the army, I hoped my soldier friend would get a bang out of it: a carton of cigarets. He says keeping them fresh is not one of his big problems, either. You know how it is in a big family!

R. E. Winter, salesman, 225 South boulevard, Oak Park—If his appreciation can be measured by requests for more, I'd say it was his favorite ice box cookies. He couldn't get by with just passing around samples, so now the demand is greater than the supply. We'd like to keep the army in ice box cookies, but they'll have to be content with samples.

Blast in U. of Chicago Laboratory

(Story in adjoining column.)

Interior of third floor laboratory in George Herbert Jones building at University of Chicago after explosion yesterday in which four persons were injured.



The dotted line indicates where Dr. Sidney Weinhouse clung to third floor window sill after blast, but lost his grip and fell to ground.

U. OF C. TEACHER, THREE STUDENTS HURT BY BLAST

A chemistry instructor, a fellowship scholar and two graduate students were burned yesterday in an explosion in a third floor laboratory of the George Herbert Jones chemical laboratory building, 5747 Ellis avenue, on the University of Chicago campus.

Dr. Sidney Weinhouse, 32 years old, 5232 Drexel avenue, a fellow in the department of chemistry, crawled thru a window and clung to the window sill, then lost his grip and fell, landing on a bush. He suffered a fracture of the left leg, severe face and hand burns, and possible internal injuries.

Two graduate students working in the laboratory, Eugene Ordas, 27, of 11354 Church street, and Harry Graham, 24, of Forest Hills, N. Y., living in Chicago at 6148 Ingleside avenue, and Dr. Frank H. Westheimer, 32, of 5419 University avenue, instructor in chemistry, suffered face and hand burns.

The blast demolished equipment in the small laboratory, one of the 30 in the four story stone structure. Firemen and university officials estimated the damage to the building at "something under $1,000."

FIREMAN SUES CHEMICAL FIRM FOR HIS INJURIES

Thomas J. Tierney, 50 years old, 6015 Ardmore avenue, fire department captain of truck 13, filed suit in Superior court yesterday asking $50,000 damages of the Van Schaack Brothers Chemical Works, Inc., 3430 Henderson street, and the company's officials.

Capt. Tierney was one of nine firemen injured Aug. 17, 1940, in an explosion at the plant. Five other firemen died of burns.

The suit, filed by Attorney Joseph D. Ryan, charged that Capt. Tierney was "permanently hindered from working" by the loss of sight in one eye, and asserts that the company had no license to operate a chemical establishment in the city limits, failed to undergo fire department safety inspection, and was guilty of numerous violations of the city fire prevention and building codes.

SEIZE SUSPECT WITH POCKETFUL OF SMALL COINS

Edward James McInerney, 28 years old, was held at the detective bureau last night, accused of holding up the Thompson restaurant at 1600 North Clark street. Sergt. Bernard Bukowski and a squad from the bureau answered the robbery alarm, and McInerney, who gave his address as 1912 Winnemac avenue, was taken from a southbound Clark street car five minutes after the robbery. He was pointed out by a witness as the bandit and identified by two restaurant cashiers. Police said he was intoxicated and had in his pockets about $70, including 16 quarters, 143 dimes, 75 nickles, and 25 pennies.

ROB GASOLINE STATION MANAGER.

Two teen age bandits, one of them armed, forced Jerry Larkin, night manager of a gasoline station at 8059 Vincennes avenue, to surrender $15 last night.

SHOOTING BEGUN, PRESIDENT SAYS IN NAVY DAY TALK

Declares U. S. Has Been Attacked.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27 (AP).—The text of President Roosevelt's Navy day address follows:

"Five months ago tonight I proclaimed to the American people the existence of a state of unlimited emergency. Since then much has happened. Our army and navy are temporarily in Iceland in the defense of the western hemisphere.

"Hitler has attacked shipping in areas close to the Americas thruout the Atlantic.

"Many American owned merchant ships have been sunk on the high seas. One American destroyer was attacked on Sept. 4. Another destroyer was attacked and hit on Oct. 17. Eleven brave and loyal men of our navy were killed by the Nazis.

"We have wished to avoid shooting. But the shooting has started. And history has recorded who fired the first shot. In the long run, however, all that will matter is who fired the last shot.

Says America Attacked.

"America has been attacked. The U. S. S. Kearny is not just a navy ship. She belongs to every man, woman, and child in this nation.

"Illinois, Alabama, California, North Carolina, Ohio, Louisiana, Texas, Pennsylvania, Georgia, Arkansas, New York, Virginia—those are the home states of the honored dead and wounded of the Kearny. Hitler's torpedo was directed at every American, whether he lives on our seacoasts or in the innermost part of the nation, far from the seas and far from the guns and tanks of the marching hordes of would-be conquerors of the world.

"The purpose of Hitler's attack was to frighten the American people off the high seas—to force us to make a trembling retreat. This is not the first time he has misjudged the American spirit. That spirit is now aroused.

"If our national policy were to be dominated by the fear of shooting, then all of our ships and those of our sister republics would have to be tied up in home harbors. Our navy would have to remain respectfully—abjectly—behind any line which Hitler might decree or any ocean as his own dictated version of his own war zone.

"Naturally we reject that absurd and insulting suggestion. We reject it because of our own self-interest, our own self-respect and our own good faith. Freedom of the seas is now, as it has always been, the fundamental policy of this government.

"Hitler has often protested that his plans for conquest do not extend across the Atlantic ocean. His submarines and raiders prove otherwise. So does the entire design of his new world order.

"For example, I have in my possession a secret map made in Germany by Hitler's government—by the planners of the new world order. It is a map of South America and a part of Central America, as Hitler proposes to reorganize it.

"Today in this area there are 14 separate countries. The geographical experts of Berlin, however, have ruthlessly obliterated all existing boundary lines; and have divided South America into five vassal states, bringing the whole continent under their domination. And they have also so arranged it that the territory of one of these new puppet states includes the Republic of Panama and our great life line—the Panama canal. That is his plan. It will never go into effect.

"This map makes clear the Nazi design not only against South America but against the United States itself.

Tells of Another Document.

"Your government has in its possession another document made in Germany by Hitler's government. It is a detailed plan, which, for obvious reasons, the Nazis did not wish to publicize just yet, but which they are ready to impose on a dominated world—if Hitler wins. It is a plan to abolish all existing religions—Protestant, Catholic, Mohammedan, Hindu, Buddhist, and Jewish alike. The property of all churches will be seized by the reich. The cross and all other symbols of religion are to be forbidden. The clergy are to be forever silenced under penalty of the concentration camps, where even now so many fearless men are being tortured because they placed God above Hitler.

"In the place of the churches of our civilization, there is to be set up an international Nazi church—a church which will be served by orators sent out by the Nazi government. In the place of the Bible the words of Mein Kampf will be imposed and enforced as holy writ. And in place of the cross of Christ will be put two symbols—the swastika and the naked sword.

"The god of blood and iron will take the place of the God of love and mercy.

Expect Denial, President Says.

"These grim truths which I have told you of the present and future plans of Hitlerism will, of course, be hotly denied tomorrow in the controled press and radio of the axis powers. And some Americans will continue to insist that Hitler's plans need not worry us—and that we should not concern ourselves with anything that goes on beyond rifle shot of our own shores.

"The protestations of these American citizens—few in number—will, as usual, be paraded with applause thru the axis press and radio during the next few days, in an effort to convince the world that the majority of Americans are opposed to their duly chosen government, and in reality are only waiting to jump on Hitler's band wagon when it comes this way.

"The motive of such Americans is not the point at issue. The fact is that Nazi propaganda continues in desperation to seize upon such isolated statements as proof of American disunity.

"The Nazis have made up their own list of modern American heroes. It is, fortunately, a short list. I am glad that it does not contain my name.

Faced with Choice, He Says.

"All of us Americans, of all opinions, are faced with the choice between the kind of world we want to live in and the kind of world which Hitler and his hordes would impose upon us.

"None of us wants to burrow under the ground and live in total darkness like a comfortable mole.

"The forward march of Hitlerism can be stopped—and it will be stopped.

"Very simply and very bluntly—we are pledged to pull our own oar in the destruction of Hitlerism.

"And when we have helped to end the curse of Hitlerism we shall help to establish a new peace which will give to decent people everywhere a better chance to live and prosper in security and in freedom and in faith.

Provides Arms Against Hitler.

"Each day that passes we are producing and providing more and more arms for the men who are fighting on actual battle fronts. That is our primary task.

"And it is the nation's will that these vital arms and supplies of all kinds shall neither be locked up in American harbors nor sent to the bottom of the sea. It is the nation's will that America shall deliver the goods. In open defiance of that will, our ships have been sunk and our sailors have been killed.

"I say that we do not propose to take this lying down.

"Our determination not to take it lying down has been expressed in the orders to the American navy to shoot on sight. Those orders stand.

"Furthermore, the house of representatives has already voted to amend part of the neutrality act of 1937, today outmoded by force of violent circumstances. The senate committee on foreign relations has also recommended elimination of other hamstringing provisions in that act. That is the course of honesty and of realism.

"Our American merchant ships must be armed to defend themselves against the rattlesnakes of the sea.

"Our American merchant ships must be free to carry our American goods into the harbors of our friends.

"Our American merchant ships must be protected by our American navy.

"It can never be doubted that the goods will be delivered by this nation, whose navy believes in the tradition of 'Damn the torpedoes. Full speed ahead!'

"Our national will must speak from every assembly line—yes, from every coal mine, the all inclusive whole of our vast industrial machine. Our factories and our shipyards are constantly expanding. Our output must be multiplied.

"It cannot be hampered by the selfish obstruction of a small but dangerous minority of industrial managers who hold out for extra profits, or for 'business as usual.' It cannot be hampered by the selfish obstruction of a small but dangerous minority of labor leaders who are a menace to the true cause of labor itself, as well as to the nation as a whole.

All the Seas in Defense Zone.

"The lines of our essential defense now cover all the seas; and to meet the extraordinary demands of today and tomorrow our navy grows to unprecedented size. Our navy is ready for action. Indeed, units of it in the Atlantic patrol are in action. Its officers and men need no praise from me.

"Our new army is steadily developing the strength needed to withstand the aggressors. Our soldiers of today are worthy of the proudest traditions of the United States army. But traditions cannot shoot down dive bombers or destroy tanks. That is why we must and shall provide, for every one of our soldiers, equipment, and weapons, not merely as good but better than that of any other army on earth. And we are doing that right now.

"For this—and all of this—is what we mean by total national defense.

Stop Hitler, His First Aim.

"The first objective of that defense is to stop Hitler. He can be stopped and can be compelled to dig in. And that will be the beginning of his downfall, because dictatorship of the Hitler type can live only thru continuing victories — increasing conquests.

"The facts of 1918 are proof that a mighty German army and a tired German people can crumble rapidly and go to pieces when they are faced with successful resistance.

"Nobody who admires qualities of courage and endurance can fail to be stirred by the full fledged resistance of the Russian people. The Russians are fighting for their own soil and their own homes. Russia needs all kinds of help—planes, tanks, guns, medical supplies, and other aids—toward the successful defense against the invaders. From the United States and from Britain she is getting great quantities of those essential supplies. But the needs of her huge army will continue—and our help and British help will have to continue!

Defends Aid to Russia.

"The other day the secretary of state of the United States was asked by a senator to justify our giving aid to Russia. His reply was: 'The answer to that depends on how anxious a person is to stop and destroy the march of Hitler in his conquest of the world. If he were anxious enough to defeat Hitler, he would not worry about who was helping to defeat him.'

"Upon our American production falls the colossal task of equipping our own armed forces, and helping to supply the British, the Russians, and the Chinese. In the performance of that task we dare not fail. And we will not fail.

"It has not been easy for us Americans to adjust ourselves to the shocking realities of a world in which the principles of common humanity and common decency are being mowed down by the firing squads of the Gestapo. We have enjoyed many of God's blessings. We have lived in a broad and abundant land, and by our industry and productivity we have made it flourish.

"There are those who say that our great good fortune has betrayed us—that we are now no match for the regimented masses who have been trained in the Spartan ways of ruthless brutality. They say that we have grown fat, and flabby, and lazy—and that we are doomed.

Don't Know America, He Says.

"But those who say that know nothing of America or of American life.

"They do not know that this land is great because it is a land of endless challenge. Our country was first populated, and it has been steadily developed, by men and women in whom there burned the spirit of adventure and restlessness and individual independence which will not tolerate oppression.

"Ours has been a story of vigorous challenges which have been accepted and overcome—challenges of uncharted seas, of wild forests and desert plains, of raging floods and withering drought, of foreign tyrants and domestic strife, of staggering problems—social, economic and physical; and we have come out of them the most powerful nation—and the freest—in all of history.

"Today in the face of this newest and greatest challenge, we Americans have cleared our decks and taken our battle stations. We stand ready in the defense of our nation and the faith of our fathers to do what God has given us the power to see as our full duty."

Cold Today

The weather today will be bright and sunny, but thermometers will not go higher than 44, Forecaster R. E. Gumpf said last night. He predicted near freezing temperatures again tomorrow morning, followed by increasing cloudiness and warmer weather.

High winds ripped boats loose from their moorings and dropped the mercury 12 degrees between 9 and 10 a. m. yesterday. A heavy branch was torn from a tree at 7627 Stewart avenue and fell on a car from which Mrs. James Borsch and her son, James Jr., 3 years old, of that address, had just alighted.

Navy Reveals Grave Damage to Kearny from Torpedoing

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 27 (AP).—James Forrestal, undersecretary of the navy, told a Navy day dinner audience tonight that the destroyer Kearny, torpedoed on Oct. 17, suffered an amount of damage which no other destroyer had ever incurred and remained afloat.

He gave the first details of the encounter between the destroyer and a submarine in the North Atlantic since the navy department reported several days ago that 11 men were missing and 10 others had been wounded.

"The Kearny suffered a direct hit from a torpedo abreast of the boiler room on the starboard side and the resulting explosion not only opened up that side of the ship but blew out the deck overhead and part of the superstructure," Forrestal said.

"Yet in spite of this very substantial damage, the ship not merely remained afloat but proceeded under its own power to port."

Forrestal said the Kearny was "one of the new so-called top heavy destroyers about which there was considerable controversy several years ago, a controversy as to the soundness of design and ability to meet the tests of action."

But, he said, the results of action in this case had constituted the "highest compliments that could be paid to the silent man in the design section of the bureau of ships and to the constructors who supervised the building."

Forrestal said the two ocean fleet would be constructed a full year ahead of schedule and should be completed by November, 1946.

TROOPS TO SHOW DEFENSE AGAINST MECHANIZED WAR

Methods of meeting attacks by fast moving mechanized forces will be demonstrated by 6,000 Fort Sheridan troops during the three day military show, one of the largest of recent years in the middle west, which will be held at the fort Oct. 31 to Nov. 2, Col. F. C. Rogers, commandant, announced yesterday.

The troops will parade with fixed bayonets twice daily, at 2 and 8 p. m. After the evening parade, anti-aircraft units of the 40th coast artillery brigade will demonstrate marksmanship with 37 millimeter anti-aircraft and anti-tank guns, 3 inch anti-aircraft guns, and .30 and .50 caliber machine guns.

An admission charge of 50 cents will be made, proceeds going to the Army Relief society fund for the families of dead soldiers.

NAVY WILL FIGHT FOR FREE SEAS, STARK ASSERTS

Power in Air Essential for Fleet, He Says.

American ships will attack the vessels of any country challenging their right to freedom of the seas, Adm. Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, asserted in Chicago last night. He spoke at the Navy league dinner in the Palmer House, which climaxed the city's three day observance of Navy day.

"The President has made it abundantly clear to the world that the navy is now operating to insure our traditional policy of freedom of the seas," Adm. Stark said.

Insists on Right to Seas.

"This means but one thing—that the naval and merchant vessels of this country have a right to use the high seas for their legitimate ends, no man making them afraid. This, we insist, is our right, the enforcement of which means to attack vessels of those countries which would deny us that right."

The nation needs "guts as well as guns," the admiral said. "The most certain way of suffering the destruction of war would be thru timidity, weakness, and shrinking within our shell," he commented.

Air strength is a fundamental requirement for success in naval fighting, Adm. Stark said. He praised the thoro adaptation of aeronautical development to naval use as a vital element of sea power.

"The United States navy has long been foremost among the navies of the world in its concept and in its development and use of air strength as a fundamental requirement for success in naval operations," he said.

Use of Aeronautics Logical.

"Separated as we are from our enemies by the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, and by the potential arctic regions, the defense of the United States is primarily a maritime problem. Because our defense problem is so largely maritime, it is logical that there should be found in this country the most thoro adaptation of aeronautical development to naval use.

"Air power is uch a vital element of sea power, and perfect coördination between the two so indispensably necessary for the success of either or both, that any separation would be disastrous," Adm. Stark continued. "The soundness of our organization respecting naval aviation finds ample support from the recent experience of the British. After two years of grueling test in actual warfare and in the midst of a desperate struggle, the British navy is now trying earnestly to complete its change-over to an organization similar to ours."

Greetings to Navy Stations.

Adm. Stark was introduced by Commodore Sheldon Clark, president of the Navy league. In a brief talk, Commodore Clark sent radio greetings to navy shore stations and to other Navy day dinners. Mayor Kelly directed his talk to members of two Chicago naval squadrons, Chicago Blackhawk squadron and Chicago's Own squadron. The members, who were guests at the dinner, are all Chicago men recruited by the Chicago World War Naval Flyers committee.

Other notables at the speaker's table were Chauncey B. Borland, who was in charge of the celebration; Maj. Gen. Joseph M. Cummins, Rear Adm. Edward A. Evers, Lieut. Comm. A. H. Richards, and Adlai Stevenson, special assistant to the secretary of the navy. President Roosevelt's speech from Washington was heard at the banquet.

TORNADOES' TOLL 20 DEAD IN DIXIE; 200 ARE INJURED

Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 27 (AP).—The death list from devastating tornadoes rose to 20 today as a half dozen Arkansas and one Louisiana community dug out of the debris left by Sunday storms in three widely separated areas.

More than 200 persons were treated for injuries. Property damage was estimated at several hundred thousand dollars.

Thirteen fatalities were counted in southeast Arkansas. Striking near midnight, the twister threw down frame dwellings and business houses and plunged Hamburg, a town of 1,500, into rain swept darkness.

A similar disturbance hit sections of northwestern Arkansas at sunset Sunday, centering on Dardanelle, a town of 2,000, and striking Chicalah, Oak-E-Doak, Bethel, and Pottsville. That area listed six dead.

A storm in the Holly community near Mansfield, La., killed one and injured 11 others.

Static Blots Out German Reception of F.D.R. Speech

BERLIN, Oct. 28 [Tuesday] (AP).—Atmospheric interference made it virtually impossible to hear President Roosevelt's radio address here. Authorities who could be reached in the early morning hours declined comment, apparently waiting for word from higher-ups.

DUKE AND WALLY TO LUNCH TODAY AT WHITE HOUSE

But Mrs. Roosevelt Will Not Be There.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27.—The duke and duchess of Windsor, at long last, are to be entertained at the White House for lunch. They will share President Roosevelt's noonday meal tomorrow.

Mrs. Roosevelt made the announcement today. She added, however, that she will not be there to help entertain the royal couple. She said Mr. Roosevelt will have to do all the honors, because she has a lecture engagement in Chicago for tomorrow night which she must keep.

It was explained that the contract for her Chicago appearance was made six months ago and cannot be broken at this late date. Mrs. Roosevelt became a prolific lecturer and writer when her husband became President.

Little Excitement Evoked.

There was little excitement in official circles over the news the Windsors, who arrived in this country in September on their way to the duke's Canadian ranch, will have lunch at the White House. The parade of royalty, mostly fugitives from the European war, in and out of the White House in recent months has become commonplace.

Mrs. Roosevelt said no one had informed her of the plans for entertaining the duke and his American born wife until Mr. Roosevelt mentioned it casually at tea time yesterday. She said the state department, which is handling the arrangements, had assumed she would fit her plans to suit theirs, but had not known of the Chicago lecture contract. She said reports that she wished to avoid entertaining the duke and the duchess were ridiculous.

She said she never had met the duchess and was so busy that the only people for whom she had made any personal arrangements were her children and others coming to the White House to see her for a purpose.

In Capital Twice Recently.

The Windsors were in Washington twice recently.

The first time was when they passed thru the capital on their way to Chicago and Canada. They were received at the White House for a talk with the President, a luncheon having been postponed because of the death of G. Hall Roosevelt, brother of Mrs. Roosevelt. The second time was two weeks ago, when they passed thru the capital on their way to New York. The Windsors continued on after a stop at the British embassy.

The duke, the former King Edward VIII. of England, is governor general of the Bahamas. He gave up the throne to marry the duchess, who is the former Wallis Warfield Simpson.

6 Billion Dollar Lend-Lease Bill Goes to Roosevelt

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27 (AP).—The senate approved finally and sent to the White House today a $6,161,467,229 special appropriation measure which carried $5,985,000,000 for additional lend-lease expenditures. A prohibition against use of the funds for the purchase of agricultural products grown outside of the United States was stricken out earlier by a conference committee.

ELEANOR ROOSEVELT TO SPEAK TONIGHT ON CIVIL LIBERTIES

Today has been officially proclaimed Civil Liberties Day by Mayor Kelly in tribute to Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who will speak this evening on "Civil Liberties and the Crisis" in Orchestra hall. Mrs. Roosevelt's lecture is being sponsored by the Chicago Civil Liberties committee, which is paying $1,000 for her appearance.

Mayor Kelly will introduce Mrs. Roosevelt, and Gov. Green is expected to attend.

In issuing his proclamation, Mayor Kelly pointed out that today is the 55th anniversary of the dedication of the Statue of Liberty and that the Bill of Rights in the constitution of the United States was ratified 150 years ago this year.

DEFENSE WEEK PROGRAM TOLD BY MAYOR KELLY

A full program for the week of Nov. 11 to 16, which has been proclaimed Civilian Defense week, was announced yesterday by Mayor Kelly. The high point of the week, Mayor Kelly said, will be a parade of armed forces on Nov. 11, Armistice day.

Other special days are Nov. 12, War Against Waste day; Nov. 13, Sign Up for Defense day; Nov. 14, Health and Welfare day; Nov. 15, Civilian Protection day, and Nov. 16, Freedom day.

The Chicago Commission on National Defense will meet with civic and patriotic organizations this week to make detailed plans for defense week.

TAUNTS OF REDS SILENCE HALIFAX AT RELIEF RALLY

'Open a Western Front!' Slogan Cuts His Speech.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 27.—Viscount Halifax, British ambassador to the United States, stood mutely before a throng of 22,000 persons at a Russian war relief rally in Madison Square Garden tonight while soviet sympathizers shouted: "Open up a western front!"

Continuing against a rising storm of taunting cries of active British military aid for the Russians, the long, lean English diplomat declared that aid from the two governments—the United States and Britain—would be forthcoming. As the hubbub increased in volume, Halifax was forced to strike out the next to last paragraph and final sentence in his prepared speech.

New Party Line Slogan.

"Open up a western front!" is the new party line slogan of the local communist organization and supplants the policy of "the Yanks aren't coming!" that was the policy when the soviet-Nazi nonaggression pact was in force several months ago.

Party workers hawked "Open up a western front!" Buttons on the street corners around the garden, while girl vendors sold the Daily Worker, official communist newspaper, at the entrance. A big banner with the words "Knit for Russia—register here" hung in the outer lobby.

Inside the huge sports arena, 11 huge red flags, with the golden hammer and sickle emblem of the soviet republics emblazoned on them, hung from the balconies. They were threaded in between the United States stars and stripes, British Union Jack, and the flags of the nations conquered by Hitler.

Pictures on Background—of Pink.

Suspended from the ceiling and dangling 50 feet—right over the ring where a battery of lights usually glares down on perspiring fistic gladiators—was a gigantic, four-sided, hollow "V," the British victory symbol, with photomontage pictures of grim soldiers, sailors, starving children, grief-stricken mothers, plastered on a background of pastel pink.

There was just a hint of the coming trouble when Joseph E. Davies, former ambassador to the U. S. S. R. and chairman of the President's committee on war relief agencies, started to speak. There were scattered cries of "open up a western front!" but they subsided when a stentorian voice from the gallery yelled, "Save it for Halifax!"

Davies pictured Russia as "standing in the breach, on the frontier of civilization, fighting for us." If Russia fell, Davies visioned the German hordes controling all of Asia, Africa, and Europe. Then, he predicted they would "blackmail, strangle, starve, and prepare the Americas for either vassalage or military conquest."

Russia had built up her armies and "cleansed her house of treason" while the democracies slept, Davies declared. In fact, every one had slumbered except President Roosevelt, he remarked.

Yells Delay Halifax's Start.

When Halifax was introduced by Edward C. Carter, national chairman of Russian War Relief, Inc., he had to wait several minutes, nervously fingering his script, while the yelling demonstration went on. The cries came from the upper reaches of the galleries, from the 25 cent seats [28 cents with federal tax] while the occupants of the $10 boxes in the arena looked up and glowered.

There was applause when the British ambassador said that never before in all history had any nation shown "a finer spirit of resistance" than had Russia, but some one in the gallery yelled: "You didn't show it, but we did!"

"We of Great Britain and the United States have our part—and it is a great part—to play," went on Halifax. "Our two governments have recognized this to the full, and both are straining every nerve to send supplies, even to great cost to themselves, for they know full well that the battle of Russia is as much our battle as is the battle of Britain or the battle of the Atlantic."

He Stirs Up More Yells.

Quoting Abraham Lincoln's words about the Civil war dead — "The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here—" Viscount Halifax stirred up some more noise when he said that in the present situation "what counts now is not what we say but what we do."

"Hurray—Western front!" shrieked a heckler and the gallery began to chant: "Western front."

Viscount Halifax hurried along and wound up with a declaration that altho there had been differences in the past, in the future the British and Russian would "march side by side." That touched off the chant from the balconies louder than ever and the ambassador stepped off the platform.

Others who appeared on the program included: John Green, Scottish born president of the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America; George W. Thompson, British trade union representative; Genevieve Tabouis, French political journalist; Benny Goodman, "swing king"; Paul Muni, the actor; Richard Wright, Negro author of "Native Son"; Andrei A. Gromyko, soviet chargé d'affaires; Clark M. Eichelberger, national chairman of the interventionist organization, Committee to Defend America, and Dr. Frank Kingdon, British born chairman of the New York City chapter of the prowar, Fight for Freedom, Inc.

THOUSANDS DIE AS PESTILENCE HITS LENINGRAD

Famine and Freezing, Too, Add to City's Toll.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE FINNISH ARMY ON THE KARELIAN ISTHMUS FRONT, Oct. 27.—Typhus and typhoid, plagues spread by filth, are killing thousands in Leningrad, according to refugees who have escaped into territory controled by the Finns during the last few days.

And measles, diphtheria and scarlet fever, along with starvation and freezing temperatures, they report, are taking their toll of the city's children.

Trench Diggers Dig Graves.

These refugees, many of them near collapse, are being cared for in hospitals. Their story of conditions in the besieged city is as follows:

Bread is needed much more urgently than medicine, altho there is a shortage of both. Trucks, which a few weeks ago were collecting men and women to carry them into the suburbs to build fortifications, continue to collect the diggers but these persons now are digging mass graves instead of trenches. Other trucks collect the bodies of the thousands of persons who die every day and carry them to the burial places.

Relatives are not permitted to attend the mass burials. Many of the bodies are being buried in what once was swamp land. Many of the workers have become casualties themselves because of frozen feet.

Perhaps 500,000 Dead.

I asked several refugees if they could give an estimate of how many people have died during the siege of Leningrad. One woman who had accompanied her husband thru the dangerous fields of land mines which lie between the Russian and Finnish lines, said that women in the market asserted the figure was half a million.

Refugees said attempts are being made to organize demonstrations for surrender of the city, and that a number of persons were killed last week in the Letnyenie quarter in a riot which developed before a government bread shop. They said the shop was reserving its stocks of bread for privileged workers and members of the communist party. A special detachment of the GPU [secret police] was said to have opened fire on the crowd. Many persons were arrested.

Leningrad has five great railroad stations. All are crowded every night with homeless, hungry, freezing people. Other thousands have established themselves in freight and passenger cars standing idle in the railroad yards.

Forgot to Provide Fuel.

Four main canals run thru Leningrad. One of their main uses was to carry firewood into the city from Lake Ladoga and Lake Onega. This year no one thought of Leningrad's fuel supply until it was too late. More than 85 per cent of the city's houses use wood for fuel. Great stores of export timber on the docks are being plundered.

Lake Ladoga, north of Leningrad, has begun to freeze and there is fear among the Finns that more of the city's refugees will escape over the ice than this little country can feed and house.

Finland already is caring for more than 50,000 soviet war prisoners.

Developments on the Russian Front

(Story in adjoining column.)

Russian sources yesterday reported a clash between Russian and Japanese troops on the border, but the Japanese said they had no information on the reported battle. Far to the south the Japanese withdrew naval garrison from Sharp Peak Island, coastal point near Foochow.

MOSLEM GRAND MUFTI TAKES REFUGE IN ROME TO LEAD ARAB REVOLT

ROME, Oct. 27 (AP).—Haj Amin Effendi Al Husseini, exiled grand Mufti of Jerusalem, long a fugitive from the British, took refuge in Italy today. It was indicated he would carry on from here his anti-British activity among Moslems with the encouragement of Premier Mussolini.

The Grand Mufti.

The Fascists expect the Mufti, who fled from Iran when the British occupied that country two months ago, to serve as a strong propagandist among the Arabs, whose sympathies Rome long has sought. For years the Mufti has tried to provoke a Moslem uprising against the British.

A broadcast from Bari hailed the mufti's "fight against Anglo-Jewish domination and exploitation" in the near east, and said "with the aid of God the victory of the Arabs is certain, and Italy is happy to be able to collaborate in achieving the national hopes of the Arab world."

JAPANESE URGE THREE PROVINCES TO QUIT CHIANG

SHANGHAI, Oct. 27 (AP).—The Japanese, working thru the Nanking government of Wang Ching-wei, which they dominate, are pushing a separatist movement in the South China provinces of Kwangtung, Kwangsi and Yunnan, neutral sources said today.

Those provinces, especially Yunnan, play an important part in Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's fight against the Japanese invaders, and the defection of any of them would be a serious setback. Kumming, eastern terminus of the Burma road, is the capital of Yunnan.

Thus far there have been no reports to indicate that the Japanese political maneuvers have achieved any important success. However, Wang Ching-wei's wife is reported to be now in Hongkong, while the Nanking régime's mayor of Shanghai, Chen Kung-po, returned last week from a three week visit to the south. Several meetings between southern Chinese of the old "war lord" cliques and Nanking adherents are said to have taken place recently in Hongkong.

REPORT JAP, RED BORDER PATROLS CLASH IN SIBERIA

SHANGHAI, Oct. 27 (AP).—A raid by 20 Japanese soldiers across the tensely patroled Russian-Japanese far eastern frontier, precipitating a clash in which both sides suffered casualties, was reported today by the official soviet news agency, Tass.

[A Japanese government spokesman in Tokio today denied reports that Japanese troops had clashed with Russian patrols on the Manchukuo border.]

The Russian account said the Japanese apparently were trying to take prisoners. [Such a raid might be to gain information on Russian border dispositions.] After fighting with Russian patrols the Japanese had to withdraw, taking their wounded with them but leaving caps, rifles, and cartridges behind, Tass declared.

The brief Tass report placed the scene of the clash on Chertova mountain near the "border village of Raskino." Neither name appears on available maps, but the locality referred to was believed here to be along the poorly defined soviet-Japanese frontier near the point where the borders of Sibera, Manchukuo and Corea come together.

LET STALIN QUIT, JAPS SEEK TERMS, SAYS TOKIO PAPER

TOKIO, Oct. 27.—The newspaper Miyako today urges that the Japanese government mediate between Russia and Germany in the name of humanity and the new order.

Japan, says this paper, is the only country strong enough to undertake such mediation, and this is also the best way of meeting the threat of American entry into the war.

For that reason, says the Miyako, Stalin should be made to surrender, whereupon Japan would mediate with Hitler for generous conditions for the soviets.

GERMANS DRIVEN BACK OVER RIVER BEFORE MOSCOW

Reds Admit Nazis Within 50 Miles of Capital.

KUIBYSHEV, Russia, Oct. 27 (AP).—A German advance some 15 miles beyond Maloyaroslavets—an area of weeks of fighting—to a point only 50 miles southwest of Moscow on the Nara river was indicated tonight in military dispatches which reported that soviet counterattacks subsequently had driven the invaders back across the stream.

The Nara joins the Oka river at Serpukhov, a city of 77,000 population almost directly south of Moscow, and soviet advices spoke of the heaviest of all the increasingly violent actions as raging on the Russian left wing in that vicinity.

Continued heavy action also was reported about Maloyaroslavets itself, 65 miles southwest of Moscow, the base of the German salient.

Everywhere the Germans were hurling forward lengthening columns of infantry and tanks supported by bombers; the Red armies were beating at this supreme Nazi thrust with artillery barrages and infantry counterattacks. Fresh Nazi troops were reported moving up to the line by the tens of thousands.

Peril of Rostov Clear.

While the great struggle for Moscow thus thundered on inconclusively, the soviet's imminent peril was clear before Rostov in the far south, and here in this auxiliary capital of Kuibyshev the soviet leadership was urgently occupied with the organization of a vast new alternative war plant east of the Ural mountains.

Military advices made plain that the Germans were beating powerfully at Rostov's approaches and down upon the Crimean peninsula well to the west of the farthest German advance.

Against the disaster inherent in the possible loss of the great industrial and coal producing Donetz basin and of the lower stretches of the Don valley, soviet technicians were declared already feverishly at work in distant areas.

Speed Up in Kuznetz Basin.

The order for top speed production went to the Kuznetz basin, far to the east in Siberia. Daily averages of coal mined constantly are being exceeded.

The production in the Kuznetz area of iron ore, manganese, and nonferrous metals, all prime military necessities, was said already to have mounted to 40 per cent above peacetime totals.

Moreover, factories evacuated from the Moscow industrial area were said to be now in operation in the Ural mountains. In perhaps one of the most rapid instances of industrial retreat and remobilization in history, one such plant was claimed to have been reassembled six days after its arrival at the new site and, it was asserted, was producing at a rate five times higher than in June.

Claim Nazi Morale Lower.

MOSCOW, Oct. 28 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Great battles are raging on the fronts before Moscow and in the Donetz basin, but Adolf Hitler's troops appear to be "on the verge of exhaustion," the soviet information bureau announced early today.

A communique said that during the last 20 days there had been "a sharp deterioration in the physical condition and the morale" of the invading Germans.

The soviets specifically mentioned Mozhaisk, 57 miles west of Moscow, and the industrial Donetz basin cities of Kharkov and Tagarog, the latter 30 miles west of Rostov on the Black sea, as the locale of the fierce fighting.

A Tass broadcast earlier quoted the information bureau as saying that the guns and bombs of the Red air fleet had destroyed almost a full infantry battalion and 28 tanks near Kharkov, and had inflicted heavy losses on two infantry regiments in the Mozhaisk sector.

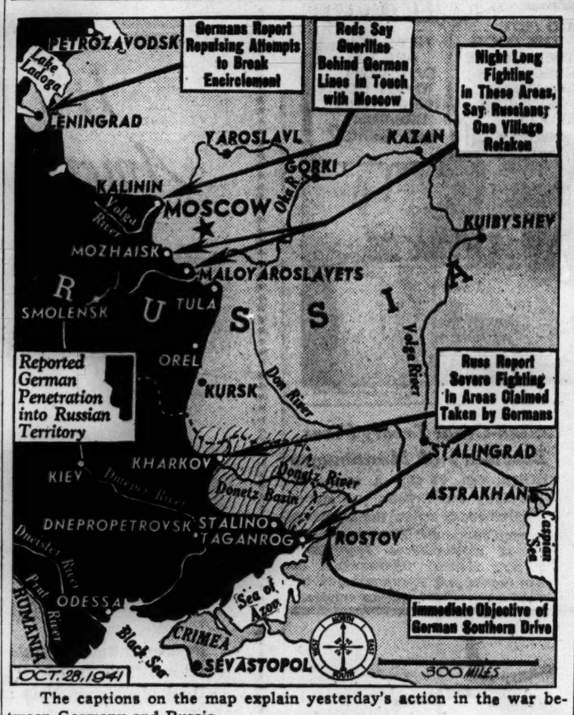
French Chaplain with 16 Citations for Bravery Dies

VICHY, France, Oct. 27.—Father Jean Umbricht, 70 years old, famous French army chaplain, died yesterday near Grenoble. The ribbon of his award of the croix de guerre had to be lengthened to accommodate 16 palms or stars, each representing a citation for gallantry in the field. He volunteered for service in this war as chaplain, was taken prisoner, and was freed on account of his age.

MRS. ANNA WORRELL DIES.

Kankakee, Ill., Oct. 27 Special].—Mrs. Anna Worrell, 77 years old, a native of Kankakee county, died today at her home here. Mr. and Mrs. Worrell observed their 55th wedding anniversary last April 8. The husband, three sons, and a daughter survive. Funeral services will be held Wednesday.

Developments on the Eastern Front



The captions on the map explain yesterday's action in the war between Germany and Russia.

ROSTOV CAPTURE MAY BE EXPECTED SOON, NAZIS HINT

Report Italians Hurl Back Red Counterattacks.

BERLIN, Oct. 27 (AP).—The German army appeared to be driving for an early capture of Rostov, big Black sea seaport and gateway to Caucasus oil, as bad weather today retarded the advance on other Russian fronts.

The high command said the Russians, launching desperate counterattacks in the Donetz basin of the southern sector, were thrown back with "heavy and bloody casualties" and loss of hundreds of prisoners, and credited Italian troops with inflicting a major share of the repulse.

The location of the fighting and the strength of the Italian forces were not given, but foreign correspondents were furnished with copies of press material on Rostov. It was recalled that similar matter was put in their hands only a few days before the Germans announced the occupation of Kharkav, the "soviet Pittsburgh," 240 miles northwest of Rostov.

Important for Grain Trade.

This Black sea port on the Don river, it was said, is highly important for its grain trade, industries, and railway and communications network. Its population was given as 500,000.

The praise of the Italians came at a time when the Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano had been visiting Adolf Hitler at his headquarters. Observers noted it was one of a succession of high command tributes to allied forces. Late last week it was the Spanish Blue division. Before that the Hungarians and Slovaks were singled out. The Finns and Rumanians are mentioned frequently.

The high command report on other fronts, particularly before Moscow, said only that operations were making continued progress "in spite of unfavorable weather." Military commentators said that while poor weather retarded the German advance it had not stopped it.

Leningrad Forces Set Back.

A DNB [official news agency] dispatch from the Leningrad front said that soviet forces preparing for a sally to break their encirclement yesterday were wiped out by German artillery before they could attack.

A subsequent soviet artillery and tank attack also was reported repulsed, with huge losses, and six out of ten attacking tanks left burning in front of the German lines.

It was from the southern front that most action was reported, however. There it was said by DNB that a German infantry regiment, despite spirited resistance, captured two burning bridges and 1,079 Russians.

In the same district, the dispatch added, German infantry took an airport by surprise, annihilated the personnel in hand to hand combat and demolished 11 planes.

Raid Moscow Day and Night.

New York, Oct. 27 (AP).—German planes are raiding Moscow day and night with fire and explosive bombs and showers of leaflets demanding the city's surrender, the British radio said tonight in a broadcast which quoted dispatches from the soviet capital.

General Injured in Russia, Not Killed, Germans Say

BERLIN, Oct. 27 (AP).—German authorities said Lieut. Gen. Otto Ottenbacher, 53 years old, of the infantry reserve, was slightly injured during an emergency landing made behind the German lines on the Russian front.

[The Moscow radio had reported a Gen. Ottenbacher fatally injured when his plane was shot down on the Moscow front.]

NAZI PLANES SINK BRITISH CRUISER OFF LIBYA: ROME

ROME, Oct. 27 (AP).—The Italian high command said today that German bombers sank a British cruiser in an air attack on a naval formation off the Libyan coast.

This was the second incident in as many days concerning a British cruiser to be reported by the high command. Yesterday's war bulletin said Italian torpedo launching planes attacked British naval units in the central and eastern Mediterranean Saturday night and hit a cruiser with a torpedo.

Four 1,000 Shells Into Bardia.

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Oct. 27 (AP).—British warships in a newly disclosed bombardment of axis objective in Libya were reported today to have fired more than 1,000 shells into Bardia. A naval source said light units blasted away at axis barracks, motor transport, and supply bases around the Libyan port on the night of Oct. 21 while other warships were shelling German gun emplacements east of Tobruk.

The source said Italian batteries opened fire as the British warships moved away but failed to score any hits.

ILLINOIS SOLDIER GETS MEDAL FOR HEROIC RESCUE

Private Peter Schur of Benld, Macoupin county, has been awarded the soldier's medal for heroism for saving an enlisted man from drowning in Manila bay, Philippine Islands, last Feb. 28, it was announced yesterday at 6th corps area headquarters. Schur, attached to the 20th squadron air base at Manila, leaped from a crash boat into the shark infested waters of the bay to rescue a soldier who was stunned when he fell from the deck of a troop transport.

EXPECT BRITISH TO BATTLE NAZI CAUCASUS DRIVE

Seen as Start of Double Threat at Suez.

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TEHERAN, Iran [Persia], Oct. 27.—British military authorities here said today they assumed that plans were being made for a military force to defend the Caucasus but privately expressed the opinion that it has not yet put in an appearance.

High ranking officers cited to THE TRIBUNE that defense of the Caucasus is much more important to the British than to the Russians. If the Reds lose Baku there is no longer much point in their continuing to fight in that area except to protect British oil supplies in Iraq, Iran and the Suez canal.

Viewed with Complacency.

Most of the British here view the advance of the Nazis with great complacency. A British legation official told THE TRIBUNE that it would be "madness" for the Nazis to try to cross the Caucasus and many military men think such a move is not likely before spring. Neutral military observers are not so sure.

[Neutral military sources in Iran said Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell had there and in Iraq 60,000 Indian troops alone which could be sent to the Caucasus. Altogether Britain has been reported to have a million men in North Africa and the middle east, but much of this force would be required for the defense of Egypt from the west. Planes from the United States are reaching Iran in increasing numbers, but Russian sources said no deliveries of military equipment have yet been made to the Red army by the British across Iran.]

Double Action Against Suez?

LONDON, Oct. 27 (AP).—Increasing indications were seen tonight that British armies in the middle east, ready for possible action against the Germans in the Caucasus, might be forced at the same time to oppose a two-way German thrust at the Suez canal. Some quarters expressed the belief such a Suez drive would topple Turkey from the fence and broaden the whole theater of the war.

The Germans appeared to be increasing their pressure toward the southeast obviously with the hope of taking Rostov, driving across the Caspian land bridge to Astrakhan on the Caspian sea and moving south against the big oil ports of Batum and Baku.

One source said that if axis forces were able to mop up the Crimea and establish themselves firmly along the north shores of the Black sea, Hitler's next move probably would be to "swing thru Turkey toward Suez from Russia at the same time as axis forces in North Africa moved toward the canal from Libya."

U. S. CITIZENSHIP BETTER THAN JOB TO SPY SUSPECT

New York, Oct. 27 (AP).—Edmund Heinie, 50, hefty and heavy accented, today answered government charges of espionage with a four hour long story of his uphill fight to maintain his identity as an American. He told a Brooklyn federal court jury trying him and 14 others on charges of espionage conspiracy that he fought in Hitler's Germany for the Ford Motor company against "keen and mean" competition and that he eventually gave up his $40,000 a year job with Ford rather than surrender his acquired American citizenship.

"That was in 1934," Heine testified. "I was called back to Detroit and asked to revert back to German citizenship, because it would help business. I refused, despite the fact that it would have meant a sizable increase in salary."

Heine testified that officials of the German People's Car company asked him to accept a $2,000 a month executive job with them. And when he said he would consider it on his trip to America they asked him to get information here for them and to straighten out certain financial matters. He said he was given a list of four names to whom he might transmit his reports to evade British censorship. They were: Lily Stein, who has pleaded guilty; Heinrich Eilers, on trial, and Heinz Jung and Ernesto Eilers, both of Lima, Peru, unapprehended defendants.

NAZIS REPRIEVE 100 HOSTAGES IN 2 FRENCH CITIES

New Clues Will Be Investigated.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, Oct. 27.—Gen. Otto von Stuelpnagel, commander of the occupation forces in France, informed the French government today that further execution of hostages for the killing of German officers in Nantes and Bordeaux has been called off.

The German said this step had been taken in order to consign to the population of France the possibility of throwing light on the assassinations, and to turn up the perpetrators. Frenchmen are said to have turned in new clews.

The decision means that 50 Frenchmen who were to have been shot at Nantes at dawn will be spared. It applies also to 50 hostages at Bordeaux who were to have been shot if the assassins were not found by midnight Wednesday.

French Take Strong Measures.

The German step follows a strong reaction in France to bloodshed, and strenuous efforts of the French government to take measures to prevent attacks on German troops.

Continuous contacts are being made between the French government and German authorities. A new law, published today, requires all French citizens to denounce any crimes or projected crimes against occupying forces, and levies penalties against any one who aids in them.

Minister of Interior Pierre Pucheu was in Paris today. Fernand de Brinon, Vichy ambassador to Paris, is still in Germany in contact with Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop there.

Private sources tonight reported that wholesale arrests of Jews in Nantes have been made by the Germans.

143 Die in Serbian Battle.

ZAGREB, Croatia, Oct. 27 (AP).—A dispatch from Belgrade tonight said 143 communists had been killed and 89 captured in a two day battle against Serbian troops in Sumadien province of Jugo-Slavia.

The communists were said to have positions in hills and woods and had stored a great quantity of military equipment. They were accused of rebellion against Serbian authority and of sabotage.

In Osijek near the Hungarian frontier 15 communists, including two women, were executed.

The town's workers met after the mass execution and pledged loyalty to the new Croat state.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 27 [Special].—Use of cellophane for wrapping textiles, hosiery, canned and bottled goods, paper, metal, or rubber products, soap, salt, cosmetics, and matches has been forbidden in Canada, owing to the diversion to war industries of glycerin and ethylene glycol. Cellophane may still be used packaging food, candy, and drugs.

Germans Face Fines if They Pay Excess Prices

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 27.—Germans caught paying illegal high prices for wares of any kind may now expect as severe punishment as the seller. A wine dealer in Hessen was fined 3,000 marks [about $1,200] for paying too high a price for wines of 1939 and 1940 vintages.

Leaves Hospital

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Pamela Hollingworth, 5, who was lost for eight days in woods, tooting horn of family car as she left hospital yesterday in Lowell, Mass.

Lowell, Mass., Oct. 27 (AP).—Little Pamela Hollingworth, 5 year old Dunstable girl who was lost for eight days on a New Hampshire mountain trail, went home today after recuperating for two weeks in the Lowell hospital.

Pam's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hollingworth, called for her and her dad carried her out of the hospital.

Pam appeared to be recovered, altho still feeling the effects of her eight days on Mount Chocorua near Conway, N. H., after she wandered away from a family picnic.

Doctors marveled that the child, clad only in overalls when lost, survived starvation and below freezing temperature. She suffered frost bitten feet.

PETAIN SETS UP LABOR CHARTER; FORBIDS STRIKES

Employers to Serve on Committees.

VICHY, France, Oct. 27.—Marshal Petain's labor charter, heralded for months as the cornerstone of his national revolution, was published in the official journal today.

The charter makes no pretense of creating a corporative state or even of setting down rigid rules for relations between capital and labor. It establishes instead a general system for professional organizations.

Lucien Romier, minister of state, who presided over the meeting of the national councils committee, explained in an introductory report that the charter makes regulations by which social peace is to be established. The chief of these proclaims "the lockout and the strike are and will remain prohibited."

The committee, says Romier's report, "undertook its task with the solemn intention of breaking definitively with the old system of class struggle."

Unions to Be Restricted.

Wages are to be paid in accordance with the social stage of the job executed. Arbitration of all types of disputes is provided for. Labor unions are retained but are restricted to organization within the single professions or industries and are "strictly excluded from all political or religious activity."

The latter provision is important since the now abolished general confederation of labor was accused of having exerted great influence over the government of Leon Blum, and some labor organizations still profess religious affiliations.

The foundation of the whole system is in the mixed social committees in which employers, employés and the government will be represented. The committee will fix wages, establish working hours and contracts, and deal with all dismissals as well as health and social security. The government will act as last court of appeal.

Small Industries Provided For.

This type of organization is prescribed for all establishments employing over 100 workers, which means about 7,100. The bulk of France's artisanship and industry remains in 540,000 small industries employing less than 100 workers. These artisans will have a special section in the union organization of each industry.

"It will serve as the basis for the creation of future corporations," M. Romier says. "These can only be constituted thru a happy combination of social and economic interests. That is a long term undertaking and the labor charter will furnish the first stage in the corporative task."

Financing of the organizations will be based upon dues from the membership, percentage of profits, and government subsidies.

Bet you still remember your first ride in a Pullman. It seemed the height of luxury then—but we hadn't dreamed of modern streamlined trains.

Making a good thing better is an old American custom! And it's an old custom of Kellogg's, world-famous makers of cereals. Over the last 25 years untold Americans have praised the goodness of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. But now a marvelous bran from one of the world's softest wheats gives ALL-BRAN new lightness, new crispness, new flavor!

If you haven't tasted this famous cereal recently, ask your grocer for the improved "golden soft" ALL-BRAN. It's just as effective as ever—but twice as delicious. To ward off constipation due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, eat ALL-BRAN every day, drink plenty of water, and "Join the Regulars."

2 BURN TO DEATH IN AUTO WHEN IT PLOWS INTO BUS

22 Get Out of Coach Just Ahead of Flames.

Two persons were burned to death yesterday and 15 bus passengers and the driver were slightly injured in a collision between an automobile and a Joliet-Chicago bus on Route 66, near Cass avenue, about five miles southeast of Downers Grove.

Both vehicles burst into flames, and only fast rescue work, police said, prevented those in the bus from being trapped inside the burning vehicle.

Those who burned to death were in the car which bore New York license C-962. One, from papers found in his clothing, was believed to have been Jack Kalmore, 6205 18th avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. The body of the other was so burned police could not tell whether it was that of a man or a woman.

Raining at Time of Crash.

It was raining at the time of the accident. The bus, operated by the Bluebird company, was proceeding east on Route 66, when an unidentified driver pulled into the west lane of the highway from a side road, just in front of the New York car which also was west bound.

The New York driver pulled sharply to the left to avoid hitting the car from the side road, and in doing so crashed into the bus. His car burst into flames, which ignited the bus.

The bus passengers scrambled to the main exit door which had jammed. The bus driver, Joseph Moss, 32 years old, 208 Herkimer avenue, Joliet, smashed open several windows, and pushed the nearest passengers thru to safety.

Marshall Rieck, a state highway employé, and Virgil Adams, who were at Adams' nearby gasoline station, then rushed over, broke several more windows and the door and dragged the remaining passengers to safety.

A few seconds later the flames enveloped the bus and quickly reduced it to a metal skeleton. The New York car also was burned to its chassis.

In all, there were 22 passengers on the bus. The 15 injured were taken to Hinsdale sanitarium, where most required only first aid.

Train Hits Car; Two Killed.

Two women were killed yesterday when their automobile was struck by a Gary electric interurban car at Central and Union streets, East Gary, Ind. They were Mrs. Carrie Smith, 39, of 3462 East 22d avenue, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Katherine J. Smith, 22, of 28th avenue and Vigo street, both of East Gary. Donald Smith, 21, son of Mrs. Carrie Smith and husband of Mrs. Katherine Smith, who was driving, escaped injury, as did his son, Rowald, five months old.

Joseph Wieczorek, 55, of 4739 Henry street, Hammond, died in St. Margaret's hospital there, of injuries suffered Sunday night when he was struck by a car in Calumet avenue, Hammond.

James Gray, 17, colored, of 4545 South Wabash avenue, died in County hospital of injuries suffered Sept. 30, when the bicycle he was riding was struck by a truck at 47th and Wells streets.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 768 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 532 were killed in Chicago, where 21,103 were injured in the same period.

DRIVER DIES A HERO

Clanton, Ala., Oct. 27 (AP).—Relatives undertook the grim task today of identifying charred bodies of 16 victims of a bus crash and fire as witnesses described the heroism of the bus driver, who gave his life in an effort to save his passengers. Six others are in hospitals, two in serious condition.

W. P. Alton, Birmingham, substitute for the regular driver on the Montgomery-Birmingham run, died today of burns suffered when he reentered the inferno inside the bus last night. William F. Penn, the latest victim, died in a hospital. He was a CCC enrollee from Ansley, Ala.

Spectators saw the driver's desperate effort to save those trapped inside. Mack Stephens, first to reach the scene, said of Alton:

"He died a hero's death if a man ever did. He was out, unhurt, but he ran to the safety door and cooked his hands pulling it open. He pulled two people out, afire all over, and we had to cut his clothing off him."

Three Drinking Autoists Get Terms in Bridewell

Three motorists, charged with driving while drunk, were sentenced yesterday to 10 days each in Bridewell by Judge Leon Edelman in Safety court. In addition each lost his driver's license for a year. The defendants were Sam Galvin, 38 years old, colored, 4761 Champlain avenue; Ralph Jensen, 37, of 3054 Armitage avenue, and Tony Supan, 26, of 2930 Rutherford street.

Wakeland of Hoopeston was killed and her husband and three other persons were injured today when Wakeland's car collided with another automobile on route 37 five miles north of here. Besides Wakeland, the injured are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kanatzer of St. Elmo and Mrs. Lyman McThompson of the state of Wyoming, all occupants of the second car.

FEARS WAR WILL FOLLOW REPEAL OF NEUTRAL LAW

Senate Given Warning by Vandenberg.

cumstances. But he would not surrender, he said, his convictions that:

"Our all-out entry into war would cost America more than she can ever gain from it, even in the victory, at long last, that would be ours.

Fears a Fascist State.

"It is my conviction that the pressures of war upon our institutions and our economy would herald here as a matter of necessity some paraphrase of the fascist state—as we have already found that even our preparations for war substantially require us to live under government by executive decree."

A British victory, he remarked, was immensely to the advantage of America and the defeat of Hitlerism of powerful importance.

"But it is equally my conviction," he asserted, "that these things are not indispensable to our own successful survival—no matter who wins any war anywhere on earth—if we faithfully attend to our own hemispherical defense.

"It is my conviction that we can give more aid to the allies as a non-belligerent than as a belligerent. It is my conviction that we can contribute more to an ultimate rational peace to save an otherwise exhausted world if we are non-belligerent."

Says People Oppose Repeal.

The pending resolution, Vandenberg declared, was in violation of the desires and expectations of a substantial majority of the American people. It seemed designed to take the nation into a shooting war on two oceans. An armed merchant ship, he asserted, was less safe than an unarmed one because its armament is wholly inadequate to protect it against attacks which it invites when it assumes this armed character.

Rising to a stirring climax, Vandenberg declared:

"We cannot establish the famous 'four freedoms' everywhere in the world in our time and generation and I think every realist knows it. Certainly we cannot police the earth. We shall do extremely well if we save these four freedoms for ourselves and for our hemisphere.

Pleads for Peace Move.

"Obviously we are already in the anomalous position of being a non-belligerent in at least one undeclared war and we cannot expect to pass unscathed thru such an enterprise.

"But before we take the final step we should be sure there is no other recourse. If we are to take the final step into war itself, I should prefer, rather than to edge our way into it, as the pending resolution would invite; I should prefer that we present to all the axis the choice of reasonable negotiations now as the alternative to our frank, all-out entry into the war, if reasonable negotiations fail.

"If all the lamps of peace shall be snuffed out, all around this distraught and mangled world, only God in his infinite pity can foretell the final fate!

"I think the pending resolution needlessly and unwisely asks for war."

Connally Argues for Repeal.

Sen. Connally had previously argued that hopes for peace aroused by the neutrality act had proved illusory.

"This resolution is a defense measure, not a war measure," he declared. "The stronger we are, the less chance there will be for a successful attack being made against us. We will increase our strength by protecting our shipping from attack on the high seas and by delivering defense materials to those countries now fighting aggression.

"Our ships are being sunk by the brutal and murderous doctrine of unrestricted submarine warefare. As a proud nation, the United States must claim its rights to the seas."

Miss Eleanor French and Ken Maynard on W-G-N.

A vocalist and a real western cowboy helped celebrate Navy day and stage a western holdup last evening during the "Affairs of Tom, Dick and Harry" over W-G-N and the Mutual network.

Miss Eleanor French from the Camellia House of the Drake hotel sang "I'm Just Wild About Harry" and "S' Wonderful," accompanied by Bob Trendler and the orchestra. Ken Maynard got off his horse at the Chicago Stadium rodeo long enough to drop in and show the trio the notches on his guns—but admitted he got his ten-gallon hat in a drugstore.

The regular Monday evening program is announced by Ed Allen and produced by William A. Bacher. Dialog lines are by Paul Larmar.

ARMY ARTILLERY SCHOOL HURRIES TRAINING COURSE

Many Subjects Covered in Quick Time.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Fort Sill, Okla., Oct. 27.—As a part of the army's revised and streamlined system of specialized training, the field artillery school here is working like a sausage mill in a frantic effort to turn out field artillery officers with at least a slight knowledge of that branch of the service. The original nine month course has been shortened to 12 weeks for all classes except that for field officers, which has been reduced to eight weeks.

The staff of 66 regular and 170 reserve officer instructors here is handicapped seriously by a shortage of new weapons for instructional purposes. Shortages also exist in class and shop space and in ammunition for adequate range firing.

Because of the lack of space various guns and other equipment are left out in the open the year around. Shortage of ammunition limits students on the range to an average of 10 problems. Firing is still done with old type artillery because the production of the latest type weapons is as yet insufficient to supply the nation's only artillery school.

Equipment Is Lacking.

There are 880 student officers, 500 officer candidates, and 1,565 enlisted specialists at the school here. For this total of 2,945 students there are only seven battalions of school artillery, and three of these are horse drawn.

The school has only one-third of its quota of new 105 mm. howitzers. The course in the tractor division of motors has not yet been started because of the lack of equipment and facilities.

The commissioned officers' classes are divided into battery officers' classes, advanced classes, officers' specialist classes, and field officers' classes.

The battery officers' classes, with 640 members, compose the largest group. Fifty-six students enter these classes and a like number complete the course each week. Approximately 8 per cent fail to receive certification of proficiency.

Emphasis on Gunnery.

The term of training is devoted to courses in motors, materiel, communications, gunnery, and tactics, with the most emphasis placed on gunnery and the least on motors. The courses run consecutively, one subject following the other, and the entire training is a condensed, streamlined version of the former nine month course.

Students for this course are captains and lieutenants who have been selected by commanding officers thruout the army.

The advanced classes are small, with 30 entering every 12 weeks and completing the course before the next class arrives. The students are majors, lieutenant colonels, and colonels selected by army commanders from officers regarded as having potential staff qualifications. About 4 per cent in this group fail to receive certification of proficiency.

Sixty are enrolled at a time in the officers' specialist classes, and each group completes 12 weeks of training before the next group arrives. Of the 60 in the group, 20 specialize in motors, 30 in communications, and 10 in horsemanship.

Field Classes Small.

The field officers' classes are composed of only 30 members each, with each group completing its eight weeks of study before the next group arrives. The classes are composed of colonels, lieutenant colonels, and majors. The course includes various rudiments of artillery likely to be encountered in the field. Only about 3 per cent fail to receive certification.

The chief purpose of the field officers' classes, according to Col. J. A. Lester, assistant commandant of the school, is to create a concept of standard rather than to import knowledge.

The big class of enlisted specialists numbers 1,675, and a group of 313 enters every four weeks. The various courses include training in motor maintenance, communications, horsemanship, horseshoeing, and saddling. The object is to produce competent enlisted men to handle the various specialist jobs found in the army. Practically no one fails to win certification in this group.

The officer candidate classes are similar to those held for cavalry. The trainees enter in groups of 125 every two weeks.

Brig. Gen. George R. Allan is commandant of the artillery school here. Fort Sill now occupies 66,000 acres and has a maximum usable artillery range of 15,000 yards.

ARCHBISHOP SEES CHURCH AT PEACE IN MEXICO SOON

Says President Eases Situation.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 27 (AP).—Confidence that religious peace will return to Mexico during President Camacho's administration was expressed today by Archbishop Martinez, head of the Roman Catholic church in Mexico.

The archbishop talked easily and with quick wit in an interview on the delicate adjustment the church is making to end a period of conflict.

Big Change Since 1937.

Under Camacho, the first chief executive in years to declare publicly, "I am a believer," the church has received a new measure of freedom, Msgr. Martinez asserted, adding:

"President Avila Camacho has notably eased the situation of the Catholic church in Mexico. Having, as we do have, good will on all sides, I have hope that religious peace will come."

The warmth of official encouragement and the extent of freedom now enjoyed by the church, which counts most Mexicans among its members, contrasts sharply with the situation that confronted Msgr. Martinez when he became archbishop in 1937. Priests had suffered physical assault, even had been slain, and masses had been broken up with force.

Moderation Wins Toleration.

Many Catholics demanded the new primate pursue a policy of strong opposition to the government. The archbishop chose moderation instead. Conditions improved, for the archbishop's attitude enabled public officials to tacitly tolerate increased church activity without loss of face. Soon the clergy were going about their tasks unabused.

The scope of the change was emphasized by the brilliant high pontifical mass celebrated Oct. 12 in the Basilica of Guadalupe, shrine of Mexico's patron saint, and attended by thousands of distinguished guests. For the first time in nearly half a century an honor guard of the army was present.

Historic Declarations of American Foreign Policy

No. 12—William R. Day:

"The rule of this government is to observe the most absolute impartiality in respect to questions arising between its neighbors; to refrain from forming a judgment upon the merits of the mutual recriminations which may attend such disputes; to abstain from advising either party to the difference; and to exert mediatorial offices only when acceptable to both parties."—Secretary of State, Sept. 16, 1898.

WHO WILL DO THE DYING AND WHY.

The great debate in the senate has begun. At the behest of the administration, the majority of the foreign relations committee of the senate has recommended the repeal of three sections of the neutrality act. The administration is asking the right not only to arm American merchant ships but to send them into the war zones and into the ports of belligerents. All of these acts are forbidden by the neutrality law as it stands.

The consequences of repeal can be foreseen with great clarity. If the administration is allowed to have its way we shall have a repetition of the ceremonial war dance of 1916-'17. Many American merchant ships will be sent to the bottom with their American crews. There will be more and bloodier Kearny incidents. Before long we shall find ourselves in the war and then—and then only—will the administration acknowledge frankly that the only way that this war can be won is by sending millions of young Americans to force a landing in Europe and defeat and destroy a stupendous military machine.

The repealer in reality is a bill to send the sons of the common people of America to their deaths. Workmen are to be sacrificed by tens and hundreds of thousands to gratify the influential denizens of Park avenue and Wall street and their hangers-on in the west and south who are shouting for war.

You ask what all this is to accomplish and you are told something about the four freedoms or the eight freedoms, as if communist Russia or imperialist, oligarchic England, or anarchic China were really interested in bringing about a democratic millennium, or would permit anything like it to be established. If any such idea were even remotely in their thinking what explanation can be made of the persistent denial of liberty to the 300 millions in India, to the exploitation of the Chinese by their war lords, to the denial of religious freedom in Russia and the slaughter there of millions of innocents without even the form of a trial.

The plain people of this country have seen thru this hypocrisy. They know that the million and a half soldiers we now have in camp are more than we need to defend America from any invasion but none too many for another expeditionary force. They know, too, that the proposed amendments of the neutrality law are not needed to put American ships in the munitions trade. Dozens of our ships have been transferred to Panamanian registry by the administration to evade the law and others could be transferred. The objection to that expedient is that when such ships are sunk no American lives are lost. The big shots of Park avenue and Wall street want plenty of Americans to drown in the North Atlantic. Every other trick calculated to inflame opinion in America has failed. Now the demand is for blood to be avenged.

SHIP COSTS.

Readers of Mr. Trohan's dispatch from Washington, reporting the prices which our taxpayers are forced to pay for the warships our government is building, must have found the facts difficult to believe.

Our ships today cost, ton for ton, from four to six times as much as was paid 20 years ago tho there has been no corresponding rise in the cost of materials and no change in specifications to warrant anything like such an increase. Likewise, ton for ton, we appear to be paying from four to six times as much for our ships as the British are paying for theirs. For example, as recently as 1935 we built 1,330-ton destroyers for $3,750,000; today we are paying $8,000,000 for 1,600 ton destroyers. They cost us about $1.25 a pound only six years ago; now they cost twice as much. Mr. Trohan says the British are constructing ships of the same class for only 56 cents a pound. Substantially similar disparities are found in the costs of fighting vessels in other categories.

Our government many years ago went into the shipbuilding business to provide a so-called yardstick of costs with which to measure the bids of private contractors. It appears that the yardstick is being used to justify costs which are outrageously high, costs which are out of proportion to prices paid for other kinds of construction and out of proportion to the prices being paid by foreign governments for their battle fleets.

Today we are expanding the navy at a rate never before attempted. The government has taken steps to control the prices of the principal raw materials from which warships are fabricated. Whatever savings are to be derived from large scale and continuous manufacture should be coming our way now, but instead we find costs going up and up.

We don't know what the explanation may be. Incompetence unprecedented in the history of the world might account for the facts Mr. Trohan has recited. Maybe the purpose is to pour out fabulous sums to buy support for the war among voters in the coastal states. Maybe the idea is to wreck our economic structure and make this country easy pickings for the communist revolutionaries.

It is to be hoped and expected that congress will lose no time in inquiring into the facts and placing the blame. The same committee might well inquire why the new merchant ship, the John C. Fremont, is "leaking like a sieve."

THE REAL FASCIST PERIL IN THIS COUNTRY.

The war party's stock lie is that the opposition to it and its war is Fascist. That lie is more than impudent and hypocritical. It is scoundrelly. The responsible American citizens who have tried to save their country from another sacrificial involvement in Europe know that one of the dangers is internal. It is the danger of the autocratic, authoritarian, absolute state threatening the American political and economic system, its responsible representative system, and its free enterprise.

There never was any fear of Fascism, Nazism, or communism here until the Roosevelt administration introduced it. Americans who oppose the war oppose the type of government which wants the war. The opposition was strong before the war itself was a danger. Fascism in name is Mussolini's sentimental symbolism of ancient Roman government. Nazism is Hitler's hideous corruption of German socialism. Russian communism is Stalin's departure from the ideas and enhancement of the terrors of the Marx-Lenin formulas and dictates.

Until the White House made these systems of government official here the only form in which the American people found the ideas on their own soil was in such silly and cowardly organizations as the Ku Klux Klan, wearing white nighties instead of brown shirts and black shirts. From that membership Mr. Roosevelt picked an associate justice of the Supreme court. It was an appropriate selection.

The American Fascists, Nazis, and communists are in the American government. They are represented, among many others, by Leon Henderson, A. A. Berle Jr., Francis Biddle, and Henry Wallace, and they are led by Franklin D. Roosevelt. Their administrations, authorities, and corporations are Fascist. Their edicts, mandates, and decrees are Fascist. Their control of congress is Fascist and it has about reduced that legislative body to the abject status of the German reichstag and the Italian senate.

Their extortions and usurpations of authority are Fascist. They have wooed or scared some of the big industrialists into their camp just as Hitler seduced such men as Fritz Thyssen, the steel man. They have the smaller fellows in a panic with their priorities, restrictions on materials and transportation. They are soft soaping workmen and farmers just as the Reds did before they drove the soviet labor leader, Tomski, to suicide, enchained the workers, and seized the possessions of the peasants, and just as Hitler did before he enslaved labor and chained the farmer to his land in perpetuity.

Fascism received its accolade in the United States with the third term. The opposition knew what was intended by that. It wasn't necessary to read Plato as the reporter of Socrates: "When the champion first appears above ground he is a protector. He smiles upon every one and salutes every one, making promises in public and also in private, liberating debtors and distributing land to the people and to his followers and wanting to be kind and good to every one. But eventually he turns into a wolf because in order to maintain his power he must live upon the blood of others."

This thing is older than Socrates and Plato and it is not new in Mussolini, Stalin, Hitler, and Roosevelt. Mussolini, the renegade and starving Italian Socialist, lives an imperial life in the Palazzo Venezia and his followers batten on the land. Stalin and his burocrats fatten in the soft spots. Harriman and Beaverbrook were almost hysterical in appreciation after a six hour gorge and drinking bout in the Kremlin. Hitler, the frustrated son of a petty Austrian customs official, not only built himself a new palace as a chancellery and a villa near Salzburg, but a mountain retreat which required 10 miles of extraordinary road building, an elevator shaft in the rock, bringing the permitted visitor to a scene which the one-time French ambassador likened to "the castle of Monsalvat, where lived the Knights of the Grail, or a new Mount Athos sheltering the meditation of a cenobite." Goering has regal estates. Gross self-indulgence is the rule of dictators.

The White House profiteering of the Roosevelt family has been unusual to the traditions of the place but not to the customs of the Fascist, Nazi, or communist rule.

Ambitious and wilful men do not change their nature. Only laws keep them in order. Laws are losing their restraints under our Fascist government. It is a contemptible lie to say that the American citizens who oppose this are themselves Fascists. What they oppose is Fascism which seeks its ends thru war and bankruptcy.

Editorial of the Day

WHY NOT THE EPOCH OF RED INK?

[Carterville (Ill.) Herald.]

We enjoy speculation concerning the future. We used to look down long stretches of railroad track into the haze to see an approaching train or place our ear on the rail to hear its clicking rumble. Today we are still like that boy, trying to see something that is coming and imagine just what it will be.

And here we begin pushing a pencil on figures.

On May 16, 1940, after the Holland-Belgium fiasco, came the request from Roosevelt for one billion for national defense.

On May 28 the amount was advanced to four billions.

On May 31 the President asked for a billion and a quarter extra, and that made it five billions.

In June and July the two ocean navy was born, and that made it 11 billions.

Two or three months later, the draft having become law, the program jumped to 25 billions.

When December came, aside from our own defense, we began thinking of arming others and the figures crept to 35 billions.

Came March in 1941, and the lend-lease act went thru and we were at the 42 billions.

In July the President asked for billions more and the total jumped to 53 billions.

Then England said that this was not enough and Russia might need help, and it went to 63 billions.

This past August the OPM said something about in 1942 we would be spending 30 billions per year [one-third total national income] for war and that ultimate cost of this war, declared or otherwise, in arming ourselves, arming others, and lending others, would be 100 billions.

The total worth of everything in the United States, from pins to skyscrapers and from toy trains to floating docks, is three times that sum, so that this war is the same as placing a mortgage on one-third of what everybody owns.

Stand by for the 200 billion figure.

Mr. Knudsen says: "We have a definite stake in keeping the sea open, even if we have to do it with a club." Might have to use that, too, if the production of other weapons doesn't start climbing soon.—Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

MORE OR LESS INFORMATIVE.

Since the matter of gambling in Chicago is now under discussion, we will rise to remark that the suckers in this community should take a look at Las Vegas, Nev. There the gambling joints are as flamboyant as chain drug stores, with this difference: Your drug store piles merchandise in its windows to screen the interior, while the Las Vegas halls of chance are fronted for perfect visibility, with plate glass to the sidewalk. We counted 20 in one block, all crowded with stooges whose faces resembled WPA sculpture, and who were, no doubt, patiently waiting for the arrival of a big fish from Hollywood.

We've invented a new way of making the "V for victory" high sign, but we're not going to try to win the war with it. Just park your watch in an upper vest [or weskit to you, sir] pocket, run the chain thru a buttonhole two notches down toward the solar plexus, and then tuck the anchor end of the chain in the other upper vest pocket. It makes a magnificent V. If this displaces your fountain pens, remember that any true patriot would carry them behind his ears for the good of the cause.

The word "blended" seems to be Big Magic in salesmanship. If the more simple and accurate "mixed" were substituted, by law or executive order, numerous advertising agencies might go out of business. . . . If you own a mixed pup, you can improve his social status by saying that he comes of "blended" ancestry.

WHITE-CLOUD'S SONG.

Fawn-colored are the grassy hills
And the sumac is blood-red,
Yellow gold is the corn
Bright on the rustling stalks.
Blow, Rain-Wind, blow!
Caress the whispering aspen!
Trembling leaves will flutter
Silver in the sun.

The red-brown earth is sleeping
And the woods are still.
The birds are sad at departing;
They will not sing.
Bark, crow in the forest!
Bark sharply, blue-black crow!
The oaks of many colors
Will echo your raucous call.

This is the tenth-month,
The month of riches and love.
This is the harvest time;
At harvest time the heart is full.
Fly, little green-wing teal!
Fly swiftly as the arrow!
Soar over sky-blue waters,
Lift my sad heart!

This is the tenth-month,
This month is still ours.
This they have left us,
This they call "Indian Summer."

Remarks on a Dog's Life.

You've all heard "how much wood would a wood chuck chuck, if a wood chuck would chuck wood?" But I'll bet you haven't heard "how many ticks would a wood tick tick, if a wood tick would tick ticks." Well, a wood tick will tick ticks, and here roughly is how.

The male tick is black and the female is gray. The male tick does nothing much except look black and shining, and indulge in l'amour. But the female, now she really goes to town. She sometimes lays as many as one thousand eggs at one time.

Why this dither about ticks? Forsooth, know you not that this is the tickiest fall in history, and that the dog kingdom is going to do something about it? So if there are a few ticks on your dog, don't think he is a watch dog, but point the dog with his tail-light due north and then start at the south end with a tweezer and go over every square millimeter until you get to the north pole and then reverse.

They say that a good frost kills them. "O happy day," says Choppy, "if it ever stops raining it may start freezing." Roy Engel.

A Solemn Warning to Stylish Writers.

Writers and speakers who are trying to be quite hot-cha often use the expression:

"Time is of the essence."

Who started this thing? What does it mean? Where is its grammar? When is somebody going to stand up and say, "the essence smells"?

ROBIN'S PILGRIMAGE.

There were fourteen at the rim of the sky,
Down thru the gold of the day they came;
Brown were their coats with October's dye. . . .
Brown were their coats, but their breasts were flame.

There were fourteen in the meadow grass,
Resting so lightly, wings dipping low;
Silent, their full-throated carols pass,
Soon to be one with the silent snow.

There were fourteen that rose anew
(Robins must follow their god, the sun);
Then to the southward they cleft the blue,
And I knew as I watched that summer was done.

GO TO BED AND DEFEAT ILLNESS.

AMONG all the remedies employed by physicians, the most powerful is rest in bed. As a rule, illness forces the individual to lie down. There are certain maladies which strike with the power of lightning and collapse demands a reclining posture to spare the heart as much as possible.

Some of us are wise enough not to wait until a fainting attack or a sharp chill is accompanied by prostration. Many a serious siege has been forestalled or cut short by dropping everything and going home. We learn by experience that a particular set of symptoms means trouble. This does not imply that every one should go to bed on the slightest provocation but that important warnings shall not be disregarded.

We all differ in our need for relaxation and sleep. But we know that fatigue places the body in a less favorable position to combat disease. Just as exhaustion may muddle thoughts and slow up mental processes, so it will take its toll on the vital organs, including those which manufacture blood. Most college students realize that in preparing for a grueling examination, they will do better if they obtain nine hours of sleep the night before.

Now, the rule concerning temperature is that one should not be up and about with a fever of a degree or more. The victim who exhibits chilly sensations plus headache — and chooses to defy the clear cut danger signal, may end up with a bout of several weeks' duration. Common sense dictates that stress of duty must not be allowed to interfere. One is likely to injure the system severely by attempting to walk off or fight off a developing ailment. Years ago, the term "walking typhoid" was aptly applied to many who refused to give up. There seemed to be something about the poison produced by the invading bacteria which destroyed judgment.

Confinement for too long a time, however, is not only weakening but is likely to endanger the habit of invalidism. Put a healthy person at complete rest for a month. Then ask him to get up and go about his business. He will be unsteady when he tries to stand, and quite unable to walk. This explains why recovery from a surgical procedure is gradual and painstaking. Our muscles, after a period of inaction, will betray us sadly. This indicates that no one should remain in a prone position overly long. If the thermometer reading is not above normal, and other circumstances permit, the patient may be encouraged to desert the "land of counterpane"—at least for brief intervals.

But in some conditions, unusual caution is required. Pneumonia, for example, leaves the victim extraordinarily weak. The heart muscle may have been damaged. At least a week should pass after convalescence has been thoroly established before sitting up is permitted. Exertion may be increased gradually each day.

When the kidneys are involved, the resumption of activity may be slow indeed. In only 50 per cent of the cases does improvement come rapidly. In the other half it is tedious. A year may elapse before we can say to the patient, "You are over the hill and you may carry on as usual."

Inflammation of the renal organs has a fashion of settling down into a low grade, chronic course. A rising blood pressure and swelling of the ankles constitute a powerful hint that restoration to health will take some time.

The rule, then, is that if we would afford our tissues an even chance, a beeline should be made to one's downy couch at the first sign of chill, fever, or exhaustion. Each autumn we encounter numerous desperate cases because the victim has been unwilling to forego some social function, altho reason dictated "health first."

A PEALING CHEST.

Mrs. T. writes: What could cause a noise in my chest? X-ray shows no disease of the lungs.

REPLY.

What kind? Does it resemble the bleating of a goat, the tinkling of a bell, the squeaking of a wheel, or the babbling of a brook? Can others hear it or are you alone conscious of its presence? If the bronchial tubes and the lungs are clear, the heart may be responsible. But this organ, as a rule, is not vociferous. More information, please.

USED UP BLOOD.

L. W. writes: What is the meaning of "blue blood?"

REPLY.

This term is supposed to have originated in Spain. The oldest and proudest families declined to intermarry with the Moorish invaders. They considered their blood "blue," meaning "pure." The phrase is now employed as synonymous with aristocratic descent. From a medical point of view, the arteries carry bright red, fresh blood while the veins transport used up or bluish fluid.

LYMPH VESSELS.

P. L. writes: You refer now and then to lymph channels. Where are these located and what is their function?

REPLY.

The lymphatic system exists thruout the body. Spaces everywhere are filled with lymph, which is a transparent, slightly yellowish liquid. The system communicates with the circulation, hence infection can reach the blood. Nodes or glands serve as strainers.

PARTING SUCH SWEET SORROW.

A. A. writes: Every time I change the part in my hair, the scalp becomes sore. How can this be prevented?

REPLY.

Each filament is attached to a tiny muscle [arrectores pilorum], which is put on a strain whenever you change the direction. It is the part of wisdom to let well enough alone.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Space for letters is obviously limited. Incoming mail far exceeds it. If a letter is not printed, attribute it to lack of room. Address letters to Voice of the People, The Tribune.

BILLIONS—AND PENURY.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—First feed our own starving, undernourished and badly housed unfortunates. The woman who, day before yesterday, left her four small children with the police has certainly a cause to hate this country, this city, this state, and this present President, to say nothing of the petty politicians who gobble up graft and grow fat and lazy. Why should it be necessary for any person to try to raise four children on $21 a month in a country where we are so wealthy that this morning news comes to us that six billion dollars more has been appropriated to the great war effort. Shame should overwhelm any one who has anything to do with this terrible situation. N. Mathews.

TEACHERS AND THE DRAFT.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—Why on earth don't the Cook county draft officials come to some mutual agreement concerning the drafting of teachers? If Maj. Armstrong recommends that teachers whose numbers are called during the school year be deferred until the end of the season why not defer them until that time? Some boards have taken heed to this suggestion but others have completely ignored it. It seems to me there should be a fast rule made for all boards to obey, either for the temporary deferment or else the absolute nondeferment of teachers.

I am sure it would help a good many teachers in planning their near future if there was a definite rule made.

V. M. Loofborough.

A GORGEOUS SUNRISE.

Glen View, Ill., Oct. 24.—May I extend my everlasting thanks to those much maligned 30-odd aldermen who voted to continue daylight saving time thru October.

I, too, am one of the many who get up ahead of the dawn in order to get to work on time and this morning it was my pleasure to see the most beautiful sunrise of my life. The sky gradually changed from its deep purples and dark, gorgeous shades to flaming yellow as the sun rose and was reflected from the swift moving clouds. It was a sight to reward one for the brief month of early rising, and the chance that it will occur again makes me, gladly, cast my vote for continuing daylight time into October from now on. Harrison Walker.

SMALL BUSINESS ESSENTIAL.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—The news item, "Odlum offers little hope to smaller firms," is not a prediction but an acknowledgment of the truth. "Little hope" is all that Mr. Odlum has been offering for years to little business. He has been the head of some of the biggest combinations in this country.

It is about time they deal little business in and start recognizing it as part of the backbone of our country. Big business has had its chance and has fallen down. It has been called upon and it cannot fulfill the demand. It needs the coöperation of small business, not its destruction. Today's crisis is everybody's business. No individual can be brushed aside as unity is the composition of democracy. H. F. M.

GREEK LETTER X IN XMAS.

Oak Park, Ill., Oct. 24.—A reader asks for "a campaign to encourage the elimination of the common practice of abbreviating Christmas with a highly improper 'Xmas'." He feels that we are substituting the unknown quantity [X] for the name of Our Lord.

Those who know Greek will recognize the Greek letter which looks like an English X but is pronounced "chi." X [Greek] is the first letter of Christ's name in Greek, often used as an abbreviation, hence X-mas. Etymologically, it was Christ's mass, then Christmas, and appropriately Xmas.

John J. Hemphill.

Briggsville, Wis., Oct. 23.—I notice that a reader is trying to have the so-called "unknown quantity" X eliminated from Christmas. X in Christmas is not an unknown quantity. The X is the Greek "chi" and represents our English Christ. If you look at the concluding words of the letters of Catholic priests and bishops you frequently find Tuus in Xto, yours in Christ [i. e., Christo].

In Xmas it is really the mass that matters. Frank B. Kraus.

A SYLVAN NOOK.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—As I have occasion to visit all the small parks on the north side in the course of my duty, I found a beautiful sylvan nook in Hollywood park on Christiana street near Peterson road. At the end of a large beautiful lawn [that resembles a velvet carpet] is a pool of water surrounded by rocks and shrubbery and behind this pool are several towering weeping willow trees to complete the rustic scene. This is a scene worthy to be reproduced in The Tribune picture section to be enjoyed by all nature lovers. G. Edward Lind.

RAVEN SHERMAN'S DEATH.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—Thank you, Milton Caniff, for the grand drama involved in the death of Raven Sherman. Such art and such ability to portray the grim realities and rough going in stricken China.

We deplored the loss of Raven and the sadness it caused Dude, but it was great drama. "Love not, ye hopeless men of clay," was so well applied, too.

Alden S. Baker.

MASS EXECUTIONS.

Decatur, Ill., Oct. 24.—What do the pro-Germans think of the mass executions in France? When some petty German officer is assassinated they kill 50 French, most of whom, if not all, had nothing to do with the assassination. No wonder right thinking people abhor Germany and all her works.

Clarence Stauffer.

A SIGN SHE'D LIKE TO SEE.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Three cheers for Caroline Burke. She has concisely expressed the thoughts many of us have. What a pleasure it would be to see "Help Our Needy" decorating the windows on Michigan avenue instead of "Bundles for Britain."

Miss C. J. Lacy.

NO FREEDOM OF THE SEAS.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—I suggest that The Tribune start a petition, national in scope, demanding that the nations wishing to purchase food in this country to feed starving children be permitted to do so. We are not selling food that is going to English children. We are giving it away. Furthermore the English have relaxed the blockade to permit the sending of food to English prisoners right in Germany.

Talk about the freedom of the seas, there is no such thing, at least not for the United States. England has controled the sea in the past and is doing so now. Also the spineless gentlemen in Washington are standing by, uttering no protest, while English censors open mail that is being sent to or by American soldiers in Iceland. M. L.

PENNY SPLITTING AND TAXES.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—On passing a meat market I noticed the prices of meats whitewashed on the show windows. The particular price that drew my attention stated a cut of meat for 13½ cents a pound. Since that day I've wondered why people insist upon adding the ½ cent sign to prices when they surely know that the average person doesn't carry around the necessary tools for "penny splitting."

Taxes also have puzzled me of late. The unsuspecting southerner, unused to the habit of paying taxes on everything that is bought would be astounded to find that an article that is marked 25½ cents was not 26 cents after all but 27 cents or maybe 28 cents, according to the many types of taxes today.

It would seem wiser to include the taxes with the selling price.

FOOTBALL TOGS NEEDED.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—I am coaching a group of underprivileged boys in football. Most of these boys have no equipment at all, and therefore are liable to be injured. Undoubtedly there are many of your readers who have old football equipment laying around accumulating dust. They could do these boys a grand favor by donating their equipment to these boys. They vary in age from 15 to 17, and most of them weigh from 125 to 140 pounds. The boys will be thankful and I very grateful. We live on the south side and would be happy to call for any equipment which any of the readers may have. Edward J. Wilke.

STARVING CHILDREN.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—Thank you for printing Herbert Hoover's speech on the front page today. Give at least a few lines on the front page every day to the European children with the fact that the British are responsible. Nellie Griffiths.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—The Tribune is to be commended for its editorial, "Hunger in Europe." With your continued support perhaps Mr. Hoover will be able to put an end to the atrocities perpetrated by London and Washington against innocent children in conquered Europe. M. S.

MORTGAGE OBLIGATION.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I would like your opinion on the following:

A had property upon which B holds first mortgage. A sold to C who took over payments on first mortgage, paying A in cash except $150, for which he gave a second mortgage and note, agreeing to pay balance within a year at rate of not less than $10 per month. C has made no payments and is trying to sell property. The first mortgage people have started foreclosure, giving C a chance to redeem within a year. They are also trying to sell the property.

1. If C sold would he not have to pay A?
2. Could he give clear title otherwise?
3. If the mortgage company sold, would they not have to consider A's mortgage for a clear title? P. M.

1. If, as we understand to be the case, C assumed the mortgage then his obligation would continue despite his subsequent sale of the property.
2. He could not convey clear of the mortgage if that is what you mean to ask.
3. We assume that by the mortgage company you mean the holder of the first mortgage. Presumably what they would sell would be the mortgage. We do not clearly understand your question.

Car "C" has four tires with the fabric showing, but fully inflated. They start out on a 100-mile trip and all keep abreast. Altho their speedometers are accurate, they don't read the same. Try to place check marks under the cars which traveled fastest and slowest, and indicate which ones showed the distances given below.

28 FACE COURT IN MINNEAPOLIS SEDITION TRIAL

16 Alleged Trotskyists Among Defendants.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 27.—Twenty-eight defendants, three of them women, went on trial today in federal court before Judge Matthew Joyce on charges of plotting and conspiring to overthrow and to destroy by force the government of the United States. It is the first sedition trial in these parts since the World war, and it is said to be the most extensive peacetime sedition roundup known to this generation.

Judge Matthew Joyce.

All the defendants are charged in the indictments with being members of the Socialist Workers party. Sixteen of them are members of the Teamsters' union, local 544, now affiliated with the Congress of Industrial Organizations. Defense counsel declares that some of the defendants in this teamster group are not members of the Socialist Workers party.

The Socialist Workers party itself is avowedly Trotskyite, according to its leaders. It adheres to the Fourth International, founded by the late Leon Trotsky. It is against the Stalinists.

Tests New Criminal Law.

Involved in the mass trial is the first test in the courts of the Smith act, passed by congress in 1940, adding new sections to the criminal code. These sections, according to the Civil Liberities union, which has an observer here, penalize opinions and advocates even in the absence of overt acts.

At today's session the court called the names of the defendants, who stood up to show their presence. One of the first acts, on suggestion of defense attorneys, was that the death of one defendant, Grant Dunne, be made a part of the record. Dunne committed suicide about a month ago while under the sedition indictment. The court then proceeded with the selection of a jury. This is expected to be completed tomorrow.

Among the defendants are Myles Dunne and Vincent Dunne, who with their brother, Grant Dunne, have been bosses of the Minneapolis Drivers' union, No. 554, for a decade. The union has precipitated some of the most sanguinary strikes in recent years, and Minneapolis at intervals has been torn with violence.

Party Secretary Accused.

Other defendants include James P. Cannon, national secretary of the Socialist Workers party; Farrell Dobbs, national labor secretary of the same; Felix Morrow, editor of The Militant, official weekly organ of the party; Carl Skoglund, former president of local 244, and Albert Goldman, attorney for the Socialist Workers party and attorney for Leon Trotsky during the latter's sojourn in Mexico.

The government's battery of lawyers is made up of District Attorney Victor E. Anderson, Henry A. Schweinhaut, special assistant attorney general from Washington, and Earl R. Larson, assistant district attorney.

Defense counsel is composed of Gilbert E. Carlson and D. J. Shama, representing local 544 defendants, aided by Arthur Le Seuer, former Minneapolis municipal judge, who two decades ago was an attorney for Arthur Townley, then head of the Nonpartisan league. Albert Goldman, himself one of the 28 defendants, and Michael J. Meyers of Chicago, are acting for the Socialist Workers party group.

Government and defense attorneys say the trial will probably last five weeks. More than 100 witnesses are expected to be called. Stacks of allegedly revolutionary literature, seized in Minneapolis and St. Paul in government raids before the grand jury returned indictments July 15, will form part of the government's evidence.

The indictment accuses the defendants, since July 16, 1938, with conspiring and confederating "to overthrow, put down, and to destroy, by force, the government of the United States of America and to oppose by force the authority thereof."

Charges declare that members of the Socialist Workers party were to be put in major positions in major industries, enabling the defendants and others to control industries thru the country to the end that "by paralyzing the same, said projected armed revolution could be easily and successfully projected."

The Russian Formula.

Another charge is that the defendants took as the "ideal formula for the carrying out of their said objectives, the Russian revolution of 1917, whereby the existing government of Russia was overthrown by force and violence, and the principles, teachings, writings, counsel and advice of the leaders of that revolution, chiefly of V. I. Lenin and Leon Trotsky, would be and they were looked to, relied on, followed, and held out to the others as catechisms and textbooks directing the manner and means by which the aforesaid aim of the defendants could and would be accomplished." The indictment declares some of the defendants went to Mexico to consult with Trotsky.

It is charged that when the selective service draft act was passed, the program was that members of the Socialist Workers party should accept service willingly, but after being inducted into the fighting forces "to do everything in their power to disrupt, hinder and impair the efficient functioning thereof, and when the appropriate time came to turn their weapons against their officers." One charge relates to the formation of a military unit known as the "Union Defense Guard."

In the background of the sedition case is a somewhat complex labor controversy.

Tobin Fights Radicals.

Daniel Tobin, president of the International Teamsters union, who had demanded a drive by the AFL on communistic influences, started an investigation of the Minneapolis union local 544.

On June 10, truck drivers union 544, with 4,000 members, voted to leave the AFL and to join the CIO.

The Civil Liberties union in a letter to Attorney General Francis Riddle last month declared that on June 13, Mr. Tobin telegraphed the President urging federal action against the truck drivers' local.

After the indictments July 15, officials of the Socialist Workers' party said the sedition case represented the "cynical payment of a political debt to help Tobin in his fight against Minneapolis teamsters who went over to the CIO."

COUNTY HUSKING CONTEST SLOWED BY MUDDY FIELD

Harold Lyle of Elgin plodded thru a rain soaked field yesterday to win the second annual corn husking contest of the Cook County Farm bureau. Lyle's net production was 37.1 bushels in 80 minutes, a record that compared poorly with last year because of the difficulties caused by the weather.

La Verne Roesslein of Barrington husked 34.1 net bushels for second place and Paul Malchow of Arlington Heights was third with 32.1. Lenhard Roesslin, last year's winner, placed fourth, altho his poundage was more than that of any of his competitors. He slid to fourth place because of too many ears left behind and too many only partly husked.

The competition was held on the Walter Senne farm, a mile northeast of Palatine, in a field of De Kalb hybrid corn that averaged 114 bushels to the acre. C. H. Mills, organization director of the bureau, said eight teams of matched sorrel Belgian horses were loaned by the Arlington Jockey club when the field proved too muddy for tractors.

POCAHONTAS COAL—Hand fired, Simplifies Your Heating Problems

Pocahontas Coal combines in balanced proportion all the chemical elements necessary for complete combustion and maximum utilization of high heating units. This chemical composition distinguishes Pocahontas Coal from average coal and establishes it as a most efficient and economical fuel for hand firing.

Its low volatile and high carbon give it lasting and slow-burning qualities which produce steady and plentiful heat during the day, and readily carries the fire on bank during the night. In the morning it is easy to have the amount of heat quickly, which mild or severe weather may require.

For most efficient results for all heating units, it is recommended that the Conical Method be used in firing round boilers and the Ridge Method in rectangular boilers.

For further information in regard to the proper method of firing Pocahontas Coal (which service is free) call or write:

GREEN ABANDONS NOTES IN RINGING CAMPAIGN RALLY

Calls Judicial Coalition Tool of Bosses.

Gov. Dwight H. Green last night abandoned his customary reading of speeches to deliver an impassioned free-style talk for the Republican judicial ticket which comes up against the powerful coalition slate under the Democratic banner next Tuesday.

He had a good audience—500 persons, mostly of Swedish descent, gathered under the auspices of the John Erricsson Central Republican club in the Svithiod Singing club headquarters at 624 Wrightwood avenue.

His Challenging Note.

His conclusion was reached on a challenging note:

"We're willing to take this chance—to preserve the American right for the people to choose who shall administer justice in their courts."

"When it started coalition represented a victory in an emergency for the people and the Chicago Bar association. But coalition has drifted along. It has ceased to be coalition in the sense it was 20 years ago. It has become an avenue thru which the political bosses operate."

Gov. Green, as Republican leader in the court struggle, reminded his listeners of the nation-wide battle between the forces of American government and those who are striving to centralize government in European patterns.

Pleads for Votes.

"Stop to think of what we are confronted with in this country, as well as in Cook county, and you will do your loyal duty by voting next Tuesday," Green said. "We will continue the American system of government."

He pleaded with voters not to permit personalities of candidates to blind them to the greater issue involved. Both as to qualifications, as passed upon by the Chicago Bar association, and as to geographical selections, which he said was an accepted principal in our government, the Republican ticket exemplifies the tried and true American system of justice, Green declared.

Among the other speakers were Lieut. Gov. Hugh W. Cross, Attorney General George F. Barrett, State Treasurer Warren Wright, and William E. Helander, one of the 21 G. O. P. candidates for the Superior court. All of these candidates appeared, but only Helander spoke, his address being broadcast from the hall.

State Hospital Fugitive Breaks Tribune Window

Henry Fisher, 64 years old, who escaped from the Manteno State Hospital for the Insane Sunday, yesterday threw a brick thru the front window of The Tribune Public Service office on Michigan avenue. His right hand was badly cut by the falling glass. Fisher, who had an empty wine bottle in his pocket, said he was cold and wanted to get back into a warm place quickly. Police took him to the Psychopathic hospital, where he is being held for Manteno authorities.

Judicial Candidates

(This is another in a series of sketches of the nominees of the Cook County judicial election of Nov. 4. They are being published in the order in which the candidates' names will appear on the ballot.)

BY PERCY WOOD.

DEMOCRATIC.

John C. Lewe.

Judge John C. Lewe of Riverside, where his neighbors once voted him their first citizen, will be in 21st and last position on the Democratic ticket for the Superior court election. He was first elected in 1934 to fill a one year vacancy, and won a full term in 1935.

Born 52 years years ago on a farm in Oak Lawn, in southwestern Cook county, Judge Lewe studied at Lewis institute and was graduated from the Chicago-Kent College of Law in 1912. He then entered general practice of law, became a master in chancery for the Circuit court in 1930, and was still occupying the post when he was chosen to run for the Superior court four years later.

On the bench the judge hung up one record in which he took no pride—granting 3,327 divorces in nine months. He said gloomily at the time that he shuddered to think what the future held for the youth of the country if divorces continued to increase.

His experience with domestic relations convinced the judge that the law providing jail for men who failed to pay alimony to their estranged or former wives should be revised.

REPUBLICAN.

Allan Healy.

Attorney Allan Healy, son of former State's Attorney John J. Healy and a leader of the Deneen wing of the Republican party, was given the bottom place on the Republican Superior court ticket.

Healy was born in Chicago 38 years ago, and attended the Francis W. Parker school before going to Williams college where he was captain of the football team. He was graduated in 1924, and then entered Harvard Law school which gave him a degree in 1927. In the same year Healy went into the United States attorney's office in Chicago, under George E. Q. Johnson, where he tried liquor cases, and participated in several important mail robbery trials.

Resigning in 1929, Healy entered the law firm headed by his father and the late Sen. Charles S. Deneen, but found a partnership with other associates a few years later.

Healy was one of the founders of the Young Republican National federation. He was a candidate for sanitary trustee in 1932 and for congressman at large in 1940. He has held an airplane pilot's license for many years.

ARREST WEALTHY MARRIED MAN AS SLAYER OF GIRL

Farmington, Me., Oct. 27 (AP).—After a grand jury returned a secret murder indictment Fred Wheeler, 50 years old, wealthy cattle dealer, was arrested late tonight in Boston on a charge of slaying blonde Florence M. Buzzell, 20, beautiful secretarial school student. She was found shot to death in a field on June 7. State Police Sergeant Merle E. Cole said that he had received word that Wheeler had been apprehended in Boston.

State Police Chief Henry Weaver, in disclosing the indictment, said that Wheeler apparently was jealous because another man was "wooing and winning the girl away from him."

Wheeler, father of four children, had financed the girl's schooling in an Augusta business college, Chief Weaver said, and "apparently another man came into the picture."

FIRE DESTROYS W. SIDE GARAGE; LOSS IS $10,000

A $10,000 blaze swept the Long Lake garage, 5215 Lake street, last night. The damage was equally divided between the building and some of the 60 cars it housed, according to Fire Inspector Edward Green.

Henry Eckhardt, fire attorney, ordered an investigation when it was learned the garage had been left in the hands of a lounger while the regular attendant, George Howard, delivered a customer's car. The fire broke out in Howard's absence and the lounger, who had been frequenting the garage for some time, was missing. William Cartwright, the owner, said a similar blaze wrecked the establishment three years ago.

APPEALS COURT RULES FOR DAIRY IN MARKET SUIT

Department of Agriculture Loses Second Time.

The attempt by the department of agriculture to force a Chicago dairy company to submit to federal marketing regulations despite the fact that the company is not engaged in interstate commerce met a second federal court rebuff yesterday. The United States Circuit Court of Appeals upheld a ruling by Judge Charles E. Woodward of the United States District court that the company need not submit.

The dairy concern is the Wrightwood Dairy company of 2942 North Ashland avenue.

The department of agriculture originally demanded an injunction that would force the company out of business unless it furnished monthly reports to the milk marketing administration.

Compliance Demanded.

The company contended that it was not subject to the regulations, which embrace interstate commerce, because all its business was within the state. But the government stood firm in its demand that the company comply.

On Oct. 29, 1940, Judge Woodward ruled that the company need not submit to the regulation and forbade the government to interfere with the firm's business.

The department of agriculture carried the case to the court of appeals.

The court of appeals opinion upholding Judge Woodward was written by Judge Otto Kerner and concurred in by Judges Will M. Sparks and Sherman Minton.

"Not Subject to Regulation."

The opinion said in part:

"To be sure, the milk problem is a serious one, and apparently for the most effective control requires unified regulations. Unfortunately, if the defendant is not subject to the regulation, the result may well be that the effective sanction of the order will wither before the forces of competition, the morale of the market will distintegrate and this attempt at solution of the problem by the government will fail."

The opinion said that solution of the problem might be impossible without coöperation of the state and federal governments, but that the case was nevertheless not an interstate matter and must be decided in accordance with the law.

FORBID VIOLENCE BY PICKETS, ASKS CANDY COMPANY

A petition filed in Circuit court yesterday in behalf of the Walter H. Johnson Candy company, 341 West Superior street, asks an injunction to restrain officers and members of the CIO United Bakery and Confectionery Workers union, local 15, and the CIO United Retail Wholesale and Department Store Employés union from the use of violence in picketing the candy concern.

The suit charges that the unionists have refused to halt the violence or to stop the strike, which was started last Wednesday, altho the company has offered wage increases of 10 cents an hour and 15 per cent for piecework. The unions are demanding a closed shop. The suit asserts that because of the strike the company has been unable to fill its contracts.

A motion for a temporary injunction, pending final ruling, will be heard tomorrow by Judge Benjamin P. Epstein.

SWIFT, ARMOUR WORKERS GIVE TO COMMUNITY FUND

Employés of Armour & Co. and Swift & Co. yesterday sent $93,907 as their contribution to the 1941 Community fund campaign. Of this amount $43,933 came from Armour workers and $49,974 from Swift employés. The sum is distinct from that given by the companies themselves.

To date the campaign has raised $1,879,195, or 52 per cent of the $3,583,000 sought. The money raised will be allocated to 185 major charities and social agencies in the city, none of which duplicates government aid.

Yesterday's gifts were announced by Robert A. Gardner, president of the fund.

Wife Is Paying Dearly for Her Nagging Ways

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

"I have a really distressing problem, and I do need your help, Miss Blake. Six weeks ago my husband left me. It was all my fault, as I see it now. I was so jealous and naggy that I practically drove him from my side. Yet, I love him so much, it is making a wreck of me.

"Until this week he wouldn't even talk to me, but I became so ill my sister called him, and he came. We had a serious talk but he still doesn't want to come back. He says a fellow like him shouldn't be married, and since I can make my own way we are better off apart. He is very stubborn and I know he listens to others who have a bad influence. What can I do? How can I show him I've changed and have learned by lesson? —Miserable."

We print the foregoing to warn other young matrons that marriage isn't what it used to be; that you cannot nag and put on jealous tantrums. There are too many easy exits from the marriage state. Men enter marriage, women, too, with the expectation that if things don't prove agreeable, dissolving the union is a simple matter. It's neither a holy or a wholesome state, to be sure, but there it is. Marriage becomes a more difficult venture in consequence, not a more lighthearted thing. You have to draw on all your reservoirs of forbearance, understanding, fortitude, and tongue control to make it go.

"Miserable" understands all that now. She's had her lesson in how easy it is to lose her man. Whether or not she gets him back is in the lap of the gods. We think she will, and hope she will, by making it her business to get him back.

Cobina Wright to Be Wed Next Monday to Corporal

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 27 [Special].—A church wedding in New York next Monday will unite in marriage Cobina Wright Jr., former society girl and now a film actress, and Corporal Palmer Beaudette, member of a wealthy Detroit family. The wedding will take place at the Riverside church at 4:30 p. m., in the presence of relatives and friends. The couple will go to Connecticut for a honeymoon of a week, after which Beaudette reports to an officer's training camp in Georgia. Miss Wright will return to Hollywood to resume her screen work.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 27.—The man who directed MGM'S two biggest money makers of a 12 month, "Boom Town" and "Honky Tonk," was the leading man of the first movie ever filmed in Hollywood—the Nestor production of "Her Indian Hero," shot in Griffith park and on the porch of the Hollywood hotel in 1909. His name is Jack Conway and he is 54.

Jack Conway, the first hero.

Robert Z. Leonard, Jack's successor.

Clark Gable, Jack's discovery.

The man who drove Conway from the leading man trade into the directing business, Robert Z. Leonard, is also a veteran director on the MGM lot. The man who taught Conway the one fundamental of picture directing is David Wark Griffith.

Pictures had been made in California before "Her Indian Hero" was shot—but none of the outfits was in Hollywood. Selig and the New York Motion Picture company were in Edendale. One of the most gravely treasured possessions of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce is a print of the film in which Conway was the reasonably handsome leading man.

Jack was a rootin' western hero and he really could ride. He made two pictures a week and tried to get Saturday off. He always hanged the rustler on the same old tree in Griffith park. His white horse, Snowball—so chosen because the hero could be picked out in any galloping group—became the first animal star.

Conway worked for most of the early California outfits—New York Motion Picture [better known as "101"], Reliance, Majestic, Selig, Fine Arts, Bluebird, Export and Import [bet you didn't remember that one], and Bosworth. But male beauty got him down. He was the rugged type, and a new fashion in Greek God heroes was coming in. In the forefront among these was Robert Z. Leonard. [Now he's rolypoly and known anywhere in Hollywood with great affection as pop.]

Conway figured he'd better become a director. In 1913 he was working for D. W. Griffith, after a spell of playing stock up and down the coast. He was Henry B. Walthall's understudy in "The Clansman," for instance, and he played several small rôles for Griffith. D. W. finally gave him a chance to make a picture—"The Old Armchair," with Gladys Brockwell.

"Gladys," says Conway, "played an old lady sitting in a chair waiting to die and reviewing her life. She'd look thru a cobwebbed window and see pictures of her life. They were beautiful pictures. Bobby Harron and Mae Marsh also were in the thing.

"Griffith didn't like these beautiful pictures. 'You are too artistic,' he told me. 'Movies should move.' . . . I took his tip and ever since then my movies have moved. I like stories with action and comedy, and I don't see any reason why such stories can't have 'class' too."

Conway was born in Graceville, Minn., and grew up on a farm where he learned to ride. When he was in his teens his Irish parents moved to Tacoma, Wash. There Jack got a job as a passenger train brakeman. He had to announce train departures in stations. One day a salesman with a hangover winced at his bellow and said: "Why don't you go on the stage with a voice like that?" This sounded like a good idea. In 1907 Jack got a job with a Santa Barbara stock company. He played stock here and there until Nestor hired him. He became Hollywood's highest paid hero at $75 a week.

Jack was directing for Irving Thalberg at Universal when Thalberg quit to join MGM. He went with his boss. His picture list is a long one—"Arsene Lupin," "A Tale of Two Cities," "A Yank at Oxford" . . . and "Alias Jimmy Valentine," his studio's first talkie.

Conway directed Clark Gable in his first picture—the small part of a laundryman. The Greek God leading man had vanished long ago, and Conway knew that the big fellow with the loving cup ears had something. He knew Gable could act because he'd seen him in "The Last Mile." And he realized Gable was hot film stuff when, the first times Gable walked into the studio commissary, girls would goggle at him and ask, "Who dat?"

Jack Conway is not always satisfied with the movies he makes, even when they turn in big profits. The main trouble is not actors, but stories, of which there are not enough. One problem, he says, is that there are too many pictures.

From Conway's angle the basic trouble of movie making is having to meet schedules and release dates. "If you don't get a Gable picture started by a certain time," he says, as an example, "then you can't meet a release date, and the studio may get one less picture per year than it hoped. The economic setup is such that some times you have to make a film without having put enough work into it.

"The ideal arrangement would be for a writer and a director who work well together to make three pictures every two years. Then they'd have time to get stories just right."

Jack, a lanky, good humored man whose sets always have an air of easy friendliness, is married to Virginia Bushman, daughter of Francis X. Bushman. They have two sons—named Pat and Mike.

If Your Child Refuses Food, Here's Advice

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

"My dear Mrs. Bevans:

"Perhaps you can give me specific advice about my particular problem. I realize the cause and see the effect, but finding the solution has puzzled me for almost a year.

"Priscilla is a healthy, happy 2½ year old in every respect except eating. Until the baby came and for quite a while afterward, she ate very well and fed herself. Since she was only 17 months old when Roy was born, I did not insist that she feed herself when she did not want to. She now has stopped feeding herself entirely and relies on us to feed her, just as we do Roy. [He now is starting to feed himself.] We have tried so hard to see that she had all the love and attention she always had before he came, and this little problem is the only one that seems to have developed.

"It is pretty hard to ignore refusal to eat. We have tried the prescription: 'Simply let her wait until she's hungry and she will eat.' But we did not find it to work in her case, and she simply found it an opportunity to focus more attention upon herself by continually begging for food and then refusing to eat it by herself, even when offered only at mealtime. I have gotten rid of most of the emotional upset which we had at mealtime for a while, but now she just sits at the table until we are thru eating, unless her father or I feed her during that time."

Well, none of the rules seems to apply. When they don't, we've got to think of something else.

Priscilla, in spite of the fact that she's had lots of love and attention, still enjoys the latter very much. And she has, with the genius young things sometimes show, hit on a sure-fire way to get it—food.

Priscilla's mother might try this approach. She and her husband might experiment with not even expecting Priscilla to feed herself, almost not allowing it, but not for a minute being mean or upsetting Priscilla. Daddy might feed her one meal and mother the other, for a number of days, and if she offers to take the spoon or fork, possibly pretend not to hear. But all the time let daddy's and mother's attention and conversation be very obviously on something else. I believe that, if this is done consistently, with absolutely no comment made on feeding herself, Priscilla would grow very bored with it. Some parents take this tack: If you were a big girl who could feed herself, we might do this or that.

"Mealtime Troubles, or Why the Child Won't Eat" is a leaflet of in a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, the Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

Mother Regains ChildlikeCharm in 'Ditto' Styles

BY REA SEEGER.

Duplicating your small daughters' youthful charm and crisp color scheme is easily accomplished with some of the costumes in a new collection of mother and daughter fashions or with the big and little sister outfits. Such "ditto" costumes are one of the most effective ways of encouraging a sense of color and a delight in fashions in small girls.

The sizes start at two years of age, and until you've seen these tiny scraps of skirts and blouses and jackets and the diminutive dresses in velveteen and wool you will not have realized just how fascinating they can be!

A new velveteen model comes in coal black with concentric band trim of scarlet soutache braid. The sleeves are short, the blouse top fitted and cut with a shallow square neckline, and the whirling skirt is short. Tiny sister and big sister as well as mother can wear this model. Another good looking daytime dress is of stone gray jersey. The dress has a gay pleated all-the-way-round skirt, a simple shirtwaist top, and a row of silver flat buttons down the front of the top.

If you like a Russian cross stitch effect you'll like the caramel beige model in fine soft wool with decorative bands of cross stitch embroidery along the lower half of the gathered skirt and on the cuffs and yoke of the blouse top. This is the third of the models that is sized for 17.

The rest of the dresses in the collection are for big and little sister. They are made of vivid colored velveteens in red, gold, and blue. A few boast stunning color contrasts, such as warm beige with hems of green and bright red rickrack braid. All of them except the black velveteens have a delightful casual, almost peasant type manner.

Assisting will be Vincent Gomez, Spanish guitarist; Jerry Shelton, accordionist, and John and Harry Hydna, duopianists.

The following revised schedule will be offered by the Original Ballet Russe in its share of the coöperative programs: Thursday—"Les Sylphides" and "Aurora's Wedding"; Friday—"Francesca da Rimini" and "Graduation Ball"; Saturday matinée—"Aurora's Wedding" and "Graduation Ball"; Saturday evening—"Les Presages" and "Blue Danube."

Secularism Gaining in American Life, 600 Pastors Told

Dr. Charles C. Morrison, editor of the Christian Century magazine, asserted yesterday that secularism is rapidly gaining precedence over religion in American culture.

Speaking before 600 Protestant clergymen at the Union Ministers' meeting in the central YMCA auditorium, 19 South La Salle street, Dr. Morrison said: "The churches of Protestantism have been under a vast illusion as to their ability to supplement secular education. Protestant children in public schools are under an influence with which the churches cannot compete and which they cannot counteract." Dr. Morrison advocated the inclusion in teacher training of a course in the pedagogy of religion, so that the subject could be presented without bias.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

There's an interesting new cleansing cream out that will appeal to the woman with extremely sensitive skin. It's also the kind of cream that's suitable for the young girl's delicate complexion.

As a preparation it's a joy to use. It's dazzling white and very soft. The cream is almost liquid in consistency, and has, on the skin, the feeling of being soothing. Because it's easy to apply, it is equally easy to remove. When it's removed you know your skin has been oiled slightly as well as cleansed, but there is no feeling that the skin is overloaded with oil.

We regard it as a remarkably good cleanser—efficient as can be in removing makeup and grime. But what we like best about it is its beneficent action on skin that is thin and easily irritated—the difficult kind of skin that must have creams neither too heavy nor too light.

The delicate sensitive skin needs particularly kindly care in fall and winter, and the choice of a cleanser is important. One that lubricates slightly is by far the best choice if you want the complexion to come thru a winter unscathed by chapping or increased dryness. This finely blended cream seems to us a pet for the thin-as-a-rose-petal skin.

Patriotic Material Sought for Schools in Latin America

The Pan-American Good Neighbor forum, 19 South La Salle street, is collecting pictures of Abraham Lincoln and other notable Americans and American historical literature to send to Latin American countries in an effort to combat Nazi propaganda.

"Pictures of Hitler and Gen. Franco of Spain are being distributed widely in schools of the Latin American republics," said Dr. Ernest Schwarz, managing director of the forum. "Our organization wishes to bring knowledge of Lincoln and other American patriots to those schools. Since ours is strictly a nonprofit group, we must beg the public for this help."

Books, maps and pictures, along with other suitable material, should be sent to the forum, room 1418, 19 South La Salle street.

Two Exhibitions Will Open Year for Arts Club

BY JUDITH CASS.

MEMBERS of the Arts club have received cards announcing the opening of the exhibition season next Tuesday with a tea from 4 to 6 o'clock. Two interesting exhibitions will be hanging in the galleries—modern tapestries from the collection of Mme. Paul Cuttoli, and art works from the private collection of Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Florsheim of Highland Park. The latter includes paintings, drawings, sculpture, and wood carvings, many of them the work of contemporary artists. There are five Picassos in this collection, which is one of the city's finest.

Mme. Cuttoli, who lives in New York, exhibited her tapestries about five years ago in the Arts club when it was in the north instead of the south Wrigley building. From that show the late Harold F. McCormick purchased a handsome Georges Braque tapestry and presented it to the club. It now hangs in the lounge.

Frenchwoman Revives Tapestry Weaving Art.

One or two tapestries in the collection that Mme. Cuttoli will bring this time may have been displayed here before, but most of those that will be seen next week are new ones. Mme. Cuttoli revived the art of weaving tapestries some years ago and interested such artists as Braque, Matisse, Picasso, Dufy, Leger, Lurcat, and Roualt in designing them.

Mrs. Thomas L. Marshall will be hostess at the tea, assisted by a large group of women, among them Mrs. John C. Murphy, who will decorate the tea table.

The supper-dance which Mrs. John J. Mitchell will give on Dec. 20 at the Racquet club will be a small one with two debutantes sharing the spotlight. The party is for Miss Ada Blanche Wrigley and Miss Peggy Nicholson.

Vocabulary Addition.

Monty Woolley, original Man Who Came to Dinner, who was in town over the week-end on his way back from Hollywood where he completed the movie version of the play, contributes a new word. Woolley, a large, blue-eyed, bearded man, used it in telling his good friend and old Yale roommate, John R. Winterbotham, about his wire to Cole Porter, also of their New Haven group of intimates. Woolley wired Porter from Hollywood asking for two tickets for the songwriter's new play that opens tomorrow night in New York. Porter wired back that he might be able to get two for him in the second gallery.

"So I wired So-and-So," said Woolley, naming a mutual friend, "and told him Cole was being snotteur, and to be sure to get me two good seats for Wednesday night."

* *

While Woolley, a man almost legendary because of the tales about him, was in town, he ate pompano at the Tavern club, and did a bit of singing of favorite old songs with old Yale friends, talked a little Greek, telephoned Bette Davis, leading lady in the movie of The Man Who Came to Dinner, in Minneapolis where she is at the bedside of her sick husband, and supped at the Winterbothams. For a man reputed to pay little attention to clothes and surroundings, he was very well turned out in a brown suit and a snappy yellow and brown wool tie. And wool socks.

There is a story that Woolley, who always wears wool socks, stayed at the Ritz-Carlton one season, but insisted on washing his own socks because he didn't like the way the laundry did it. Callers on him at the Ritz invariably found socks drying on a line in his room. Another tale of his indifference to his surroundings concerns the prints on the walls of his room. There were two. Cole Porter replaced one with a duplicate of the first, then put a third print, exactly like the other, in his back room. But Woolley never noticed.

INSTALMENT XLIV.
CAPTIVE.

There was a window by me. Thru it I gazed on blue sky and, mellow against the azure background, those same squat, round towers of St. Sulpice.

A picture from the night before rushed back to me. Raoul de Chabenil's dropped mask. . . .

It couldn't have been occasioned by a simple question about Roman Catholicism—not possibly. Something must have got by me—a face at the restaurant door, an agitating qualm which bore no relation to my innocent topic. Unless——?

For one instant an incredible notion sky-rocketed thru my brain, flood-lit my entire horizon—and as quickly blacked out. No, utterly ridiculous! Blunders like this didn't happen because they couldn't. In a Wilkie Collins novel, perhaps; not present day France.

I'd scuttled down half a dozen steps. Now, feeling idiotic, I finished my climb to the landing above.

As I touched the bell the door opened. It was a little disconcerting to find Estrella so on the alert to receive me.

"O! Good afternoon, madame."

Gravely and distantly she inclined her head, standing aside to let me pass into the room. I noticed that altho it was a clear, sunny day, her curtains were all drawn and light, pale and wan, showed thru a flutted lampshade.

"It's terribly good of you," I hesitated, "at a time like this . . . after your tragic loss."

She remained absolutely still. In a rigid whisper she said, "It had to be. Yes, one by one we take this way out."

There was no answer I could give. She looked taller than ever in her dead black dress. Emaciated, too—wasted to mere framework. Her high cheek bones stood out sharply, the faintly greenish shadows beneath them echoed by the sheen of her smooth ashen hair. I had the feeling that since my last visit she hadn't stirred outside these four walls, but had gone on endlessly pacing, without rest, without sleep.

Which was absurd. For there across a chair lay my nightgown, a marvel of fine sewing, practically ready to take away.

"Shall I undo your frock?"

"Thanks." I felt the cold, capable fingers unfastening the press-studs along my back. "That's fine, now I can wriggle out. . . . Ouch!"

"Pardon, mademoiselle. Did I prick you?"

"O, only a little! Just a pin in your belt."

As I turned round I saw the long agate eyes trained on me with a curious fixity. Then a diaphanous cloud slid over my head and settled from my shoulders in alluring folds. Estrella steered me across to a long pier glass.

"Do you not find the gown a little large?" she asked.

"Well, possibly, at my waist."

"You are right. I will run a few small tucks."

Deftly she slipped in a couple of pins, and altho I'd no heart for fripperies just now I couldn't help seeing she had given me the lines of a Tanagra figurine. I gazed, I admired—and of a sudden felt a chilled sensation all down my half naked spine. Those other eyes! Once again seen in a glass, and as before revealing some abyss of strange passion. . . .

"It's perfect. No, please, I can get out of it myself."

I gathered up the mass of chiffon and poised for a quaking second in my scanty step-ins and lace brassiere. In the mirror I had seen Estrella quietly lift my frock from the chair where I had flung it and carry it over to the striped divan.

"Thanks," I said, puzzled. "And now if I could have my clothes?"

She had stationed herself between me and the divan. Not a muscle moved. She looked me squarely in the eyes.

"Certainly," she answered. "But only when you have told me what I am determined to know."

"But," I managed, "I don't understand."

"No? I am certain you do," she replied. Kindly decide whether or not you will give me the necessary information. You are well aware what it is."

"But I haven't the remotest inkling of what information you refer to! Please hand me my frock."

She didn't stir. "Not yet. Who poisoned Madame Rentrew! Till you have answered that question you will not leave this room."

"Who! And supposing I knew the answer, can you faintly imagine me keeping it quiet?"

"It is what you are doing. I will not attempt to say why."

"Well," I gasped, "of all the preposterous nerve!"

She was a good three inches taller than I; not that I'd let that scare me. I made a dive for the divan, but brought up against what might have been the Rock of Gibraltar.

"Clothes!" I derided. "Think I mind going into the street undressed? I've only to call a policeman and—"

"We are locked in. You will not find the key."

Something told me this was no bluff; but I wasn't ready just yet to raise any sort of row."

"I see. So it's a holdup."

"So? Then you also perceive my excuse."

"Must I keep telling you. I don't? One of us is crazy, madame, and I think I can guess which. O," I cried, "that's unforgivable of me! Of course, I should have remembered this awful tragedy of your brother. Naturally you want to clear him."

"My brother is in no way concerned. You cannot harm him, but you can and will harm other innocent persons. You must be stopped while there is yet time."

"What innocent persons?"

I fired the question at her, but it glanced off.

"Need we mention names? You are cold. Very well, I will put on the fire."

Stooping, she touched an electric switch. As a round copper disk began to glow red she did something else, in the same studied detachment. From behind the plied fashion books on the table she pushed forward a small down powder puff and laid it where I could see.

Mine! I didn't need to note the peach powder sifting from the fluff [Estrella used Rachel]. Even the minute smear of coral lipstick wasn't essential, for in plain view was the tiny tag with the name of a Fifth avenue shop printed on it.

I'd lost that puff—where? All I knew was I'd missed it out of my best compact some two days ago, and that I hadn't taken it out while in this room. Paralyzingly the truth dawned. The landing closet. A swift flick over my face before I crept out and downstairs. . . .

"Thanks," I said, "for keeping it for me." I dusted my nose and dropped the puff in my bag. "And now, do let's get this other business straightened out. What am I supposed to be doing that's interfering with justice?"

"What I have just said. By holding your tongue you hope to cause an arrest and at once remove yourself and another individual from all danger. No doubt you feel it worth your while to shield this person—"

"Stop right there! I'm being paid, am I, to protect a murderer?"

"How do I know? Your motive in keeping silent is not my affair." Estrella's shoulders moved in slight scorn. "It is clear, tho, that but for this person you would scarcely be frequenting a quarter like Montague, either to make useless inquiries for a working girl, or to conduct rendezvous in an empty atelier. No, your movements there and in this building have been dictated by some one else, I think for the sole purpose of misleading the authorities. You know, as I do, that Madame Rentrew's maid will never be found."

I just went on staring. Out of the jumbled whys and hows I felt that while Estrella couldn't possibly believe all she was saying she might be horribly right about Alixe Jourdain. In spite of her relative's smug assurance, the girl was no longer alive. . . .

"If you go on talking riddles," I said, "we can't get anywhere, can we?"

GASOLINE ALLEY—ROUTINE

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

LAST TUESDAY'S QUESTIONS.

Question 2: Both sides vulnerable. The bidding proceeds:

North	East	South	West
1 spade	Pass	?

You are South and hold:
♠ 10652 ♥ KJ84 ♦ 5 ♣ KJ83
What call do you make?

Answer: Two clubs. This is the proper "in-between" bid. Your hand is too strong for a single spade raise; not strong enough for a double raise. To offer just the right amount of encouragement, you must take out to a four card suit, and should choose the minor rather than the major in order to make the future flow of bidding smooth and easy. [Fifteen points demerit for two or three spades; 10 points demerit for two hearts; 20 points demerit for four spades; 30 points demerit for one no trump; 40 points demerit for any other bid.]

Question 3: North-South vulnerable. The bidding proceeds:

North	East	South	West
1 club	1 spade	?

You are South and hold:
♠ 1053 ♥ KJ752 ♦ K432 ♣ 6
What call do you make?

Answer: Pass. The only alternative is to bid two hearts, and your hand is not strong enough for that free bid. Partner must respond to a two heart call by you and, if he is forced to bid three clubs, the result may be disastrous. If you had a better club fit [that is, three clubs and a singleton spade] a two heart call would be correct. [Ten points demerit for two hearts; 25 points demerit for two diamonds; 50 points demerit for any other call.]

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question 12: Rubber bridge, both sides vulnerable. The bidding proceeds:

North	East	South	West
1 spade	Pass	1 no trump	Pass
3 spades	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	?

You are South and hold:

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
4 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened his lowest heart; dummy ducked, and East won with the 10. East made the good return of a club. Dummy won and the spade finesse was promptly taken, losing to West's king. West knocked out the club ace, and declarer ended up by losing a trick in every suit, and his contract. South should have seen the danger of taking the spade finesse before attempting to provide for a side-suit loser. After winning with the club king, he should have led to the ace and back toward the queen of diamonds. With the diamond king in West's hand, the queen would have been established for a club discard before the trump finesse was taken and lost.

A fine wine can make an elegant occasion of a good meal which started out to be nothing more pretentious than just a dinner. Few of us feel the need to entertain in banquet style, with a different wine for each course, but many of us are finding that a single fine American-made wine adds considerably to the pleasure of guests.

Among the types of wine which may properly be served thruout a meal are burgundy, claret, chablis, and champagne [if you can afford it].

If there are to be two wines at a dinner, it is natural to serve a dry wine early in the meal, a sweet one with dessert or with the coffee.

A few years ago it wasn't uncommon to hear slighting remarks made about the quality of American wines. These days one seldom hears criticism, for some excellent wines now are being made in this country, and they are much less expensive than those formerly imported.

It isn't necessary for a hostess to possess shelves and cupboards full of glassware of various shapes and sizes in order to serve wine with meals. The sherry glass probably is most commonly used, and it will do nicely for other wines.

It's fun to cook with wines, too. Some of the most utterly delicious dishes you'll eat anywhere in good restaurants have been prepared with wine sauces. And many of your own best kitchen creations may be wine flavored.

That heavenly Marguery sauce you get with trout and filet of sole at Galatoire's in New Orleans, and at other famous French restaurants, may be a bit beyond your culinary capabilities, but fish fillets basted with chablis while broiling will give some of that same perfect flavor. Italian style chicken, baked in tomatoes and sauterne, has the wonderful flavor which might have been produced by a master chef, and even plain baked beans, with a touch of sherry in them, seem an epicurean treat.

Our department has a booklet called "Cooking with Wines and Spirits," which contains recipes for some very fine dishes to be flavored with wines. For 5 cents in stamps, the booklet will be mailed to interested readers. Address requests to me, in care of THE TRIBUNE.

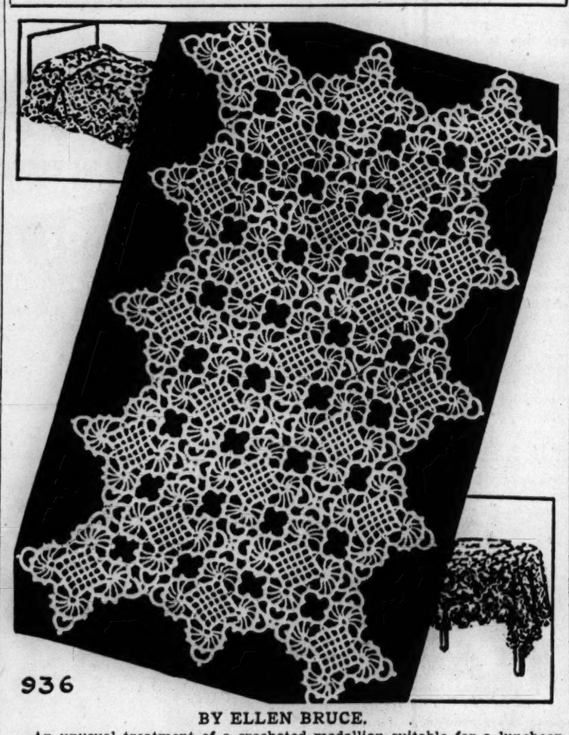
Diamond Crochet Medallion



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

An unusual treatment of a crocheted medallion suitable for a luncheon doily, tablecloth, runner, or bedspread is this diamond-shaped motif which, when units are joined together, creates one of the handsomest designs in the crochet field. It is not difficult to do, and the individual motifs may be made in about 10 minutes. The simple joining of the motifs creates a graceful and uneven edging which is especially attractive.

For instruction in crocheting the diamond-shaped motif for a luncheon doily, No. 936, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Modern Type Facial Masks Benefit Skin

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

Years ago horrible messes were contained in mask product jars. It took a good deal of courage to lay the muddy stuff on your face. We never were quite sure whether the after effect of the mud clay wasn't the result of the comparison merely between the face laden with clay and the face with the clay removed!

Certain of the mask products today are a joy to look at and a pleasure to use. Yes, they've come a long way from the cement-like compound that looked as if it had to be cracked off with a chisel. They're luscious, creamy compounds now, and no longer reserved for use as a rare luxury with a definite big date in mind.

Once a week or so the use of a face mask is recommended for the person with an oily skin and when pores appear to be getting coarser as time goes on, or if the skin has a dull, muddy look that follows in the wake of too much time spent indoors. The masks do give the skin a brightness that, in turn, gives a good psychological "lift," which is equally valuable to a women. And, of course, for the short notice pickup, the mask is your good friend.

There's this important point to observe in the use of a mask as a quick pickup. Rest while you are "under" it. Rest horizontally, too, while the compound is drying. And after you have removed the mask for good beauty measure use a "skin freshener." Herein lies the secret of relaxing those tension lines that seem to be part and parcel of today's woman, with her calender crowded.

STOCKINGS GO FURTHER
Getting the best wear from every pair is easy—the Ivory Flakes way. These girls did it!

How's 340 hours of wear from one pair of pretty silk sheers?

Meet Wanda Meade, Fashion Show Model. She's so pleased!... "What a test! What wear! Seems to me that's the longest I've ever had a pair of stockings wear! Now I wash out my stockings with Ivory Flakes as soon as I take them off instead of sticking them in the laundry bag." Yes, prompt Ivory Flakes care pays!

... Betty Anne Burke's nylons stayed color-fresh and strong through 56 days of wear

Business-girl and flyer, too! Thrilled Betty Anne Burke reports: "I wore this pair of beautiful nylons every day at work in a brokerage office, and wore them flying, too. Each night I washed them with New Ivory Flakes. It paid me well to treat my nylons just as carefully as my silk stockings. Ivory Flakes are tops with me."

Make the stockings you have seem like more!
THEY'RE NOT THE ONLY GIRLS who are thanking Ivory Flakes these days—when longer stocking wear is more important than ever! Hundreds of busy women like these have taken Ivory Flakes "one-pair tests." And their testimony has shown millions this easy way to help stockings go further!

Try this Ivory Flakes way to help your stockings go further!
1. Wash your stockings with pure Ivory Flakes immediately after every wearing. Get rid of perspiration and soil that weaken the fibers.
2. Use lukewarm Ivory Flakes suds. (Strong soaps and hot water can cause fading.)
3. Don't rub. Gently squeeze pure Ivory Flakes suds through your stockings.
4. Dry away from heat and strong sunlight. Always let Ivory Flakes care help your stockings give longer wear. (A pure, gentle soap is kind to delicate hosiery threads and colors.)

ACT TO EXTEND USE OF PARKING TICKETS TODAY

Allman to Give Order to Police Captains.

The first steps toward supplying all policemen with automobile parking violation tags will be taken when Police Commissioner Allman meets with supervising and district captains this morning. The tickets have been in use for a year by the traffic division only.

"These ticket-tags are to be used only when the policeman has definitely determined he cannot find the owner of the vehicle which is wrongly parked," Allman said yesterday. "The tags can be used to best advantage on cars parked in loading zones, beside fire hydrants, or parked so that they block traffic in alleys."

Told to Pay Cafeteria Fines.

Allman said the police will be instructed to make every tag returnable 48 hours after the violation. The violator will be instructed on the tag to appear at the Cafeteria court in the city hall and pay a $1 or $2 fine, depending upon the violation.

If an alleged violator does not appear at the court and either pay the fine or ask for a trial he will receive a "courtesy letter" from Joseph L. Gill, clerk of the Municipal court. That letter will warn him that if he does not appear within another 48 hours a warrant for his arrest will be sent to the police station nearest his home.

Gill explained that if an alleged violator is brought in on a warrant costs may increase the penalty to from $3 to $5.

83 Per Cent Pay Fines.

Capt. David Flynn, chief of the traffic division, estimated yesterday that since last November 48,000 parking violation tags have been attached to cars. It is estimated that fines have been paid on approximately 40,000, or 83 per cent.

Gill said that 4,000 warrants have been issued to police stations and have not been returned because "courtesy letters" were delayed and frequently warrants were not issued until the case was two months old. By that time, he said, it was difficult to find the violator. This difficulty will be removed by a speed-up system, he said.

Mrs. Eula Ware with son, Robert, age 5.

Mrs. Eula Ware, 23 years old, of Dalton, Ga., told Judge Oscar F. Nelson yesterday that, after he granted her custody of her son, Robert, 5, in August, she returned to Georgia with the boy and was met at the train in Dalton by her ex-husband, who took the boy away from her. She asked that the former husband, George, 24, of 3411 North Kenton avenue, be held in contempt.

Ware divorced Mrs. Ware in Georgia, where he was granted the custody of the child with the provision that the boy remain with his maternal grandmother in Dalton. Later he obtained court permission to bring Robert to Chicago, where he refused to permit Mrs. Ware to see the boy. It was then that she was granted custody, according to her attorney, Norman Becker.

Ware's attorney, Harry Mitchell, protested the contempt petition, asserting that a Georgia court had subsequently granted Ware full custody of his son. Judge Nelson continued the case until tomorrow.

Aurora and Elgin to Raise 60 Ride Tickets by 10%

The Illinois Commerce commission yesterday authorized the Chicago, Aurora, and Elgin railroad to raise the price of its 60 ride monthly commutation tickets 10 per cent. The railroad had asked permission to drop the 60 ride tickets entirely, but the commission ordered the increased rate instead. Early this year the railroad was authorized by the commission to eliminate its 54 ride monthly tickets and to substitute weekly tickets for 10, 12, and 14 rides.

SUPREME COURT TO DECIDE BASIS OF OVERTIME PAY

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27 (AP).—The Supreme court agreed today to review far-reaching litigation to determine the proper method of computing overtime pay under the wage-hour act.

The wage-hour administration was granted a review of a Circuit court decision holding that the Dallas News was within its rights in computing overtime paid its employés on the basis of an agreed wage which was above the required minimum pay.

Overtime payments should be made, the wage-hour administration contended, on the basis of an hourly rate obtained by "averaging the weekly wage over the number of hours worked."

The administration said the newspaper, before the wage-hour law became effective, made agreements with each of its employés for a basic hourly rate of pay "determined by dividing the employé's weekly salary by 60."

Under this arrangement, the wage-hour petition added, an employé may work as much as 53 1-3 hours without any compensation in addition to his weekly salary. The act, it was said, specified a 40 hour regular work week.

MAYOR ASSURED STEEL TO FINISH STATE ST. BRIDGE

Mayor Kelly said yesterday he has been assured by Donald M. Nelson, executive director of priorities for the Office of Production Management, that Chicago will get steel to complete the $2,000,000 State street bridge, subway rails, and steel for other public works which are already started. Priorities also have been sought on the proposed $670,000 Calumet river bridge at 130th street and a $1,250,000 bridge at North Halsted street.

WITNESS IN GANG RIDE CASE GOES ON TRIAL NOV. 10

Frank Zito, who survived a gangland ride, and helped convict Joe Montana Jr. in the Criminal court last week, will go on trial in the federal District court Nov. 10 on a charge of violating the alcohol tax laws.

That date was set yesterday by Judge William J. Campbell when Zito appeared in court with two co-defendants, Walter J. Smith, 26 years old, and Joseph Falbo, 42. They were arrested 13 months ago after a 500 gallon still was seized at 2994 Archer avenue.

Zito, 26, was shot last July 26, and left for dead in an alley. He named Montana as one of his assailants, and testified against Montana in the latter's trial. Montana was convicted of assault and sentenced to a minimum term of 10 years. Smith, a co-defendant with Zito in the pending liquor trial, is on probation in connection with the holdup shooting of Harry P. Walsh, chief of the guards of THE TRIBUNE.

INJURIES STRIKE N. U. AND MINNESOTA CAMPS

BOWLING FANS: ORDER ALL-STAR TICKETS NOW!

Tournament Opens in Coliseum Dec. 7.

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

Bowling fans, this is the news you have been waiting for!

Ned Day.

Mail orders will be accepted, starting today, for tickets to the All-Star Elimination and Match Game Championship tournament, which is to be held in the Chicago Coliseum Dec. 7 thru 14 under sponsorship of Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and the Bowling Proprietors' Association of America.

For weeks now the bowling world, realizing that the sponsors intend to make the event comparable in quality and competition with the All-Star football game and the Golden Gloves tournaments, has been clamoring for information on tickets and reservations.

First Come, First Served.

The answer to all these, whether they are among the hundreds who have made inquiry of THE TRIBUNE and at bowling centers, is that the tickets would be ready in a few days. Fans who wish to be sure of good seats should order now, as the requests will be filled in the order of their receipt when the tickets are ready for distribution.

They will represent admissions to another of Chicago's "firsts" in the sports field, an event that promises to be second to only the American Bowling congress' annual tournament in bowling—a sport of 16 million participants.

Coöperating with the sponsors—and with the fans who wish to obtain their tickets thru the easiest means possible—will be the members of the Bowling Proprietors' Association of Greater Chicago. This group, working thru a committee headed by Matthew Dillon, president of the association, plans to take orders for reserved and box seats at their individual establishments and forward the orders—with the checks or money orders—to the tournament headquarters. The tickets then will be mailed directly to the buyers.

What Tickets Will Cost.

Should the ticket purchasers prefer to send their orders directly to the ticket office they may mail checks or money orders to the All-Star tournament ticket headquarters, room 530, Tribune Tower. Orders will be accepted for box and reserved seats. General admissions will be sold only at the door during the tournament.

Box seats will be priced at $1.65 evenings and 85 cents afternoons. Reserved seats, to be sold only for evening matches, will be $1.10. General admission will be 55 cents both afternoon and evening. Special tickets admitting two women, two service men in uniform, or two high school students—the latter holding Bowling Proprietors' Association of Greater Chicago cards—will be sold for afternoon shows at two for 55 cents. The general admission and special tickets will be sold at the box office only.

Day-Jackson Match Features.

The first four evening performances, Dec. 7 thru 10, will feature the final 40 game block of the Ned Day-Lowell Jackson individual championship match. Five 10 man squads of such stars as Walter Ward of Cleveland, Nelson Burton of St. Louis, Joe Wilman of Berwyn, Charlie Daw of Milwaukee, and others will bowl each of the first four afternoons, and one squad after the Day-Jackson match each night.

The closing four days will be limited to individual matches in which the 11 high men among the 60 in the initial eliminations, together with the loser of the Day-Jackson match, will compete against each other.

RACING BOARD TO CONTINUE RINGER HEARING TODAY

Witnesses Not Likely to Appear, Tho.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The Illinois racing board will renew its investigation of the Hasty Notion for Rapid Bone substitution today in a hearing which may be comparatively dull because of the absence of visiting sportsmen from Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Burbank, Cal., and Abilene, Tex. The most notable absentees are expected to be John M. Sperry, Thomas Malone, William Rafferty and R. V. C. Van Cleve.

The above four towns are listed rather indiscriminately in connection with the above four gentlemen because both Sperry and Van Cleve are experts in the art of multilocation and may have addresses ranging from Key West to Medicine Hat.

Acquittals No End.

Rafferty and Malone are not quite so elusive, however, because in their assorted difficulties with the law they have not only admitted but insisted that they live in Philadelphia. This has worked out very fortunately for Rafferty, because his record still is as white as a lily as far as the authorities in the City of Brotherly Love are concerned. He has been acquitted consistently on what the Philadelphia courts are convinced are trumped up charges ranging from operating a gambling house to assault and battery.

Regardless of Rafferty's excellent reputation as a Philadelphia automobile merchant, the Illinois racing authorities have profound suspicions that he and the other three above named gentlemen may have some knowledge of how Chicago race fans were taken for another merry ride in the third race at Hawthorne on Sept. 24 when Hasty Notion, an eastern horse of the $5,500 class, ran under the name of Rapid Bone to beat a band of novices of $1,500 division.

Ignore All Invitations.

All four of these persons disregarded the Illinois racing board's invitation to attend the first hearing last Friday before Maj. Edynfed Williams, William Fay, and Frank Mandel. Persistent refusal to heed the invitation may prompt the authorities to put teeth in the discipline of race tracks for the first time in the history of the American turf.

Albert J. Meserow, assistant attorney general who is representing the Illinois racing board in the inquiry, has stated that he intends to seek grand jury indictments in this case. If indictments are returned extradition proceedings will be launched in an endeavor to bring the culprits back to Illinois for prosecution under the racing law of 1941 which provides a prison sentence for running a ringer.

Sperry, who was ruled off the turf for a share of responsibility in the Laddie Boy ring case at Washington Park in 1938, apparently returned to Chicago without taking the trouble to change his name in executing the Rapid Bone coup. A John Sperry of Los Angeles joined a William Rafferty of Philadelphia in the Sherman hotel for the duration of the period during which Rapid Bone was being put over at Hawthorne, and he blew town immediately after the race. In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

WHERE now are the self-appointed deëmphasizers of college football? . . . When a national demand arises for athletically trained young men, the army, the navy, and the marine and air corps turn first to the campuses where men still believe courage in the give and take of fierce body contact and the ability of a youth to think fast are qualities which can best be developed on the gridiron. . . . The daily mail of this department is loaded with dispatches from army and navy stations describing the efficiency of former college players "on the land, in the air, and on the sea," as they say on the radio. . . . It was so in 1917 and 1918 and in the 10 years following the armistice, college football enjoyed its greatest prosperity. . . . Attendance this fall, stimulated by such rivalries as those between Minnesota and Michigan, Michigan and Ohio State, and Notre Dame and Army is soaring to record heights, but behind it all is the thought that the game itself is producing men of which its country may be proud, as soldiers and as citizens. . . . National defense owes a tremendous debt to the Waldorfs, the Biermans, the Leahys, the Crislers, and the Elwards, and to the executives of their respective universities who refused to be stampeded into abolition of the sport a few years back. . . .

Among the aviation cadets at Randolph Field, Tex., are Tom Lohr of Lincoln Park, N. J., former quarter back and captain of the Brown university eleven; Rog Newberry of Cleveland, captain of the 150 pound crew at Yale in 1938, and Bob Wheaton of Putnam, Conn., onetime cross-country, track, and tennis captain at the University of Connecticut. . . . When the major league club owners gather for their winter meeting, Danny Litwhiler, young Philly slugger, is expected to be the object of spirited bidding between the Reds and the Dodgers. . . . In addition to his second year batting average of .305, Danny banged out 18 homers and is one of the best defensive left fielders in the business. . . . Aside to Lois M. Drueke of Skokie, Ill.: Left handed pitchers are called southpaws because most parks are laid out so that the pitcher faces west or southwest. . . . Thus, the left arm is the south arm. . . . Five or six hundred members of the student body in the 100 piece band will accompany the Notre Dame football team to Baltimore for the battle with Navy on Nov. 8. . . . They will stop off in Washington on the way home. . . . Every player now active in the National Football league has had college experience.

The Cold Facts.

The Wake's prediction on last week's college football games resulted as follows: 59 right, 16 wrong, 3 ties. We forecast correctly the outcome of 26 western games against five wrong guesses and one tie. We hit 11-2-1 in the east and 14-4-0 in the south. An 8-5-1 forecast on the far west pulled down the percentage a bit. Over the season the record stands: 310 right, 68 wrong, and 24 ties for a percentage of .820.

ANDERSON, END AT OHIO STATE, FIRED BY COACH

Brown Gives No Reason for Dismissal.

Columbus, O., Oct. 27 (AP).—Charley Anderson, Ohio State's flashy end who played three years of high school football at Massillon High school under Coach Paul E. Brown, was dismissed from the Ohio squad tonight.

Brown, who took over the coaching duties at Ohio State this year, refused to explain the dismissal but sources close to the situation said it probably was because Anderson broke training rules which Brown prescribed at the start of the season.

PITTS KEEPS SPIRIT.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 27 (AP).—The four times beaten Pitt Panthers displayed new life today as they started practice on a rain sogged field for their fourth Big Ten opponent, Ohio State.

Their spirit was up due to the discovery of two new scoring threats, Full Back Johnny Ross and Half Back Bill Dutton, whose last minute runs scored the Panthers' first touchdown of the year against Duke Saturday.

ILLINI MAY LOSE PAWLOWSKI.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 27 [Special].—Assuring the Illini that they played a much better game at Notre Dame than the score indicated, Coach Bob Zuppke today began to prepare the team for the homecoming battle against Michigan here Saturday.

West Tregoning, sophomore from La Salle, came to the front by his performance against Notre Dame and may dispute the right end position with Jim McCarthy. Alex Agase, sophomore reserve tackle, loomed as a possible right guard since little hope is entertained that Joe Pawlowski will play. Pawlowski is in a South Bend hospital with a neck injury.

BATTLE FOR ROGERS' POST.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 27 [Special].—Michigan's football squad, bruised and battered from the rough Minnesota game, enjoyed a one day respite from contact drill today as Coach Fritz Crisler devoted the afternoon session to viewing motion pictures of the game with the Gophers. Michigan plays at Illinois Saturday.

Crisler announced that Rudy Smeja and Phil Sharpe would fight it out for the end position left vacant by the spinal injury to Joe Rogers, senior veteran, who is thru for the season. Smeja, a former Lindblom High star, filled in for 50 minutes after Rogers was injured Saturday.

Helge Pukema, regular Minnesota guard, who suffered a kidney injury, was released from University hospital yesterday and returned to Minneapolis.

GREENLEAF WINS FROM PROCITA IN CUE TOURNEY

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 27 (AP).—Ralph Greenleaf stayed unbeaten in the world pocket billiard tournament tonight while the defending champion, Willie Mosconi of Philadelphia, was defeated in an upset.

Greenleaf had an uphill battle to defeat Joe Procita, Gloversville, N. Y., 125 to 100 in 14 innings. The 17-time former champion from Chicago won his fifth straight with an unfinished run of 88, the high run of the tourney to date.

Mosconi lost to Onofrio Lauri, Brooklyn veteran, 125 to 114, in 21 innings.

Score by innings of Greenleaf-Procita match:

GREENLEAF—0 0 12 0 0 0 0 20 0 0 2 8 1 0 88—131. Scratches 6, total 125.

The Story of the Big, Bad Bears

Coach Halas Names the 11 Best Players Who Have Worn Bear Uniforms

[This is the last of a series on the Chicago Bears' rocky road to the football heights, from the early 1920s to the present.]

BY EDWARD PRELL.

YOU see a lot of great football players in two decades of professional football — and George Halas is on his third 10 year span. The big man of the Bears was warned when this series started that he would be asked to name an all-time Chicago Bears' team. The task was made easier by exempting the present members of the wonder team which now has won 15 straight games and has gone without defeat against the best type of competition for almost a year.

Bronko Nagurski.

Even so, Halas was hesitant about singling out 11 men from the hundreds who have helped build up his team thru the years. He made his choices after asking to name an honor roll to give due credit to those other stalwarts.

The makeup of Halas' all-time Bear eleven gives proof that players go on to solid, comfortable business lives after they have thrown a block for the last time or made their final tackle.

Karr, a Big Bashful Kid, Who Asked for His Job.

Chicago fans still get a thrill recalling the spectacular plays of Bill Hewitt, end from Michigan who scorned a helmet. He was a great offensive and defensive man, a specialist in breaking thru and blocking punts or tackling passers before they could throw the ball. Today Bill is in charge of more than 200 filling stations operated by a large eastern refining company. His headquarters are in Philadelphia.

Bill Karr, a big, bashful kid, came to Chicago in 1933 to see A Century of Progress. His father advanced expense money only after Bill had promised to try out with the Bears. He saw the sights, but had a hard time working up enough nerve to ask Halas for a chance. But when he did report he lost no time fitting in as a regular. Now he's back in his native West Virginia as a state highway lieutenant.

The first deal Halas made as coach in professional football was to buy Ed Healy from Rock Island for $100. It was George's system to buy those players who proved too tough for his own men. Healy was in that category. He was an inspirational type, a big, blond curly haired fellow whose every move suggested power. He is now a successful South Bend business man.

Link Lyman, the other all-time tackle, came to the Bears from Canton, O., after starring at the University of Nebraska. His term of service over, he returned home and now is line coach of the Huskers. The best description of Link was that he was an enormous man who always was in the thick of things.

No need of apologies for the guards, either. There's Hunk Anderson, on the left side, and Jim McMillen on the right. Anderson joined the Bears in the early 1920s when he still was a line coach at Notre Dame. These duties prevented him from joining the Bears for daily workouts, but this gladly was waived by Halas. Hunk is the only player in Bear history who was excused from regular drills. His present job is supervising the Bear line, which helps the backs make those spectacular dashes.

McMillen of the Red Grange era at Illinois played several seasons with the Bears, became one of Jim Londos' most persistent pursuers for the heavyweight wrestling championship, and stays on his country estate near Antioch, Ill., between wrestling assignments.

Paddy Driscoll, Red Grange! Two of the All-Time Greats.

George Trafton played longer in the pro league than any other lineman—13 seasons. He was the first center to pass the ball with one hand—and he has only three fingers on his right one, at that. He also was one of the first centers to pull out of the line on pass defense when his team went into a six man line. He hauled in many an enemy pass. George now is proprietor of a loop gymnasium where the country's leading fighters train. He follows the Bears on some of their trips—especially to Green Bay.

Paddy Driscoll made his name in professional football with the Cardinals. After Grange left the Bears

WILDCATS LOSE RIGHT TACKLE TONY SAMARZIA

Doubt Frickey Can Play for Gophers.

3 Gophers Hurt

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 27 (AP).—The physical state of Minnesota's Golden Gophers held the spotlight tonight, with the news both good and bad.

On the debit side there were Capt. Bruce Smith and Herman Frickey, his back field substitute, suffering leg injuries and Helge Pukema, giant guard, still taking things easy after being knocked out in the Michigan game last Saturday after the other two were hurt.

On the credit side Bill Baumgartner, the pass catching end who suffered a broken fibula in the Washington game, the Gophers' first contest of the season, was back in uniform and indicated he may be ready to bolster the Gopher aerial game against Northwestern here next Saturday.

Smith appeared to be in the best shape of the three injured, and probably will be ready by Saturday. Pukema was active in a sweat suit today, but was a doubtful starter against the Wildcats, while Frickey was still suffering intense pain and seemed to be the most unlikely starter of the three.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Tony Samarzia, sophomore right tackle who played excellent football against Ohio State, will not be in the lineup when Northwestern invades Minnesota Saturday for the all-important Western conference game. Samarzia suffered a twisted left knee in the last seconds of the Ohio State game. Carl Erickson, Northwestern trainer, reported yesterday that Samarzia not only will be out of action this week but he will be fortunate if he can play against Notre Dame Nov. 15.

With only 32 seconds left to play at Ohio State, Don Buffmire, Wildcat left half, punted to Ohio State's end zone where the ball was caught by Dick Fisher. Altho the play was an automatic touch back, Fisher ran and was tackled on his own 7 yard line. Fisher dodged Samarzia, covering the kick, and while no player hit Tony, in suddenly checking his direction, he twisted his leg and pulled the tendons.

Position a Major Problem.

Filling the right tackle position has been a major problem for the Northwestern coaches. Leon Cook, a senior, started against Kansas State and Wisconsin. He was injured in scrimmage before the Michigan game. Cook probably will be able to play this week. Ray Vincent, sophomore tackle from Harvey, Ill., has had brief experience in the Michigan and Ohio State games. Neither Cook nor Vincent is as aggressive as Samarzia. Cook lacks agility because of his weight. Vincent's handicap is inexperience.

In any study of Northwestern's defensive weaknesses, the right tackle position must take precedence. Michigan struck at this position with Bob Westfall smashing inside tackle on spin plays, and with Tom Kuzma slashing outside on straight plays. These Michigan ball carriers gained 46 yards in four attempts during the Wolverines' 78 yard touchdown drive.

In the last three periods Samarzia plugged the position tight. At Ohio State Samarzia's performance practically was on a par with that of Alf Bauman.

Minnesota's superior weight in the line and general aggressiveness based on a fast charge are factors that point to a victory for the Gophers Saturday. Without considering Minnesota's other probable advantages there are two more weaknesses in the Northwestern defenses which indicate Minnesota should win. Victory is not out of the Wildcats' reach, but Minnesota unquestionably is the favorite.

Two Defensive Problems.

The Wildcats' defensive problems are [1] a mediocre defense against forward passes, and [2] ineffective tackling by the men backing up the Northwestern line and the flanks of that scrimmage line.

Northwestern's pass defense against Wisconsin and Michigan obviously was unsatisfactory. It was better against Ohio State because Northwestern's superior line play hurried the Buckeye passers, Dick Fisher and Paul Sarringhaus. Yet Fisher completed a 30 yard pass in the first quarter that led to Ohio State's Racing against seven rivals of the $1,500 class, she beat Loch Ness and Tetradan in a three horse photo finish.

Favorites Take a Beating.

The cold, blustery weather drove even the hardy regulars into the shelter of the steam heated clubhouse section. The program was run off over a track that had been made sloppy by morning rains.

Juanita M.'s victory climaxed a succession of failures by favorites. Miss Balko had run second at 8 to 5 odds in the first; the 9 to 5 choice, Pretty Rose, had been out of the money in the second; Maddy Cat had been able to do no better than third at 7 to 5 in the third, and the odds-on selection, Art o' War, had been beaten by Equioval in the fourth. Among Juanita M.'s victims was the 2 to 1 choice in the fifth, Jeweltone, which finished out of the money.

Big Day for No. 7s.

A favorite finally scored when Learner, a 6 to 5 shot, dominated the earlier stages of the sixth race and lasted long enough to beat Grey Flash by a neck.

Even at that the fans who played the number system would have been better off than any one else, for Learner was the fourth consecutive No. 7 to score. He was preceded by Swift Sue, Equioval, and Juanita M.

TAKES MORE THAN RAIN TO HALT A BEARS' PRACTICE

In Fact, Some Mud Was What Halas Wanted.

Yesterday's rain and cold weather were welcomed by the Chicago Bears' board of strategy and at the time when normal citizens were rushing for shelter, the professional football champions were running and passing soaked footballs all over the greensward at a secret lake front spot.

Adverse weather fitted in perfectly with Owner-Coach George Halas' plans for preparing for Sunday's big payoff game with the Green Bay Packers in Wrigley field. The Bears shifted their training headquarters so as not to disturb the tarpaulin covering on the north side ball park, which is designed to keep the field dry.

Hide from Packer Scouts.

"Nature beat us to it," said Halas, "by providing rain. Later in the week we were going to soak a few footballs in water to give our passers and receivers a chance to handle a wet football. We'd like to have a nice day Sunday, but you can't overlook the fact we might not get it."

The Bears were told to give no clue of their alternate practice field, as it is suspected some Green Bay operatives might accidently see something which would give the Packers an idea of what to prepare for in Sunday's game. A victory over the Packers will all but put the Bears into the championship playoffs with the eastern champion. The eastern representative probably will be New York's Giants, even tho that team is tied for the lead with Washington. The Redskins meet both the Bears and Packers, while the Giants play neither.

Scoring Spree May End.

A scoring record perhaps never equalled, or even closely approached, probably will come to an end Sunday afternoon when the old rivals clash. This record—that of scoring in every quarter of the five National Football league games—was started by the Bears against the Packers at Green Bay in their first game of the season. It is too much to expect that the champions will be able to do this a second consecutive time against Curley Lambeau's men from the north.

In the 20 quarters the Bears have played they have made 30 touchdowns, 23 points after touchdowns, and two field goals. They have been most prolific in the second quarter, which has brought them 85 of their 209 points.

MARIAN'S 720 SETS TRAVELING LEAGUE RECORD

Paul Marian of the Budweisers rolled a new North End Traveling league record of 720 last night as his teammates defeated the Schambergers, 2 to 1. Marian put together games of 236, 248, and 236. The former record of 708 was held by Roy Thompson, also of the Budweisers. Bill Sehr of De Luxe Recreation also topped Thompson's mark with a 712. Sehr rolled 244, 254, and 214. Scores:

Army Drills in Rain for Irish Game

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 27 [Special].—Undaunted by heavy rain, the Army regulars sloshed around a muddy gridiron on the Plains this afternoon as the drive for Saturday's Notre Dame game in New York got under way. Only the first and second teams worked out in the rain as the remainder of the squad drilled in the fieldhouse. Coach Earl Blaik felt that the men who are likely to see the heaviest action need all the experience they can get in handling a heavy muddy ball, hence the practice in the rain.

Blaik said reports he had received were that the Notre Dame team this fall was "terrific" and that Army would need every minute of a week of heavy workouts to prepare for Saturday's game.

IRISH REGULARS REST.

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 27 [Special].—Notre Dame's first team, which played most of Saturday's game with Illinois, was given a rest today as Coach Frank Leahy prepared the second and third teams for this week's Army game in New York. An oral review of Saturday's mistakes was held, followed by a dummy scrimmage against Cadet formations.

The game will bring together two of the country's major undefeated teams. Notre Dame has won from Arizona, Indiana, Georgia Tech, Carnegia Tech, and Illinois. Army has beaten The Citadel, V. M. I., Yale, and Columbia.

SMOCK LOST TO PURDUE.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 27 [Special].—Even up for the season as a result of the triumph over Iowa, Purdue's football squad began to prepare this afternoon for next Saturday's game with Fordham's undefeated and untied Rams in the Polo grounds in New York.

Coach Mal Elward must reshuffle his back field combination again as the result of a knee injury to Kenny Smock, the sophomore who has held down the No. 1 half back spot since Johnny Galvin was hurt.

They Help Senn Along Victory Trail

Unbeaten Senn Is North Side Hope for Prep Football Title

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

A glance at the records of previous all-city prep championship games gives the reader an impression that the affair is almost exclusively for south and west side elevens, but a north section squad, unbeaten Senn High, may be the Public School league representative against the Catholic league winner this season in Soldiers' field on Nov. 29. Senn already has been assured of at least a tie for the north zone title and needs only one victory in its two remaining games against Sullivan Saturday in Winnemac park and Waller on Nov. 8 before engaging the south division winner in the semi-final playoffs.

Coaches Eddie Dow and Harry Leighton of Senn believe there will be no difficulty encountered in taking sole possession of the sectional championship, but the semi-final affair with the south zone winner is bringing no end of worry because the north siders' opponent will be Fenger, the league's representative in Mayor Kelly's game for the last three years. It has required four years to develop a semi-finalist at Senn, the squad losing to Bill De Correvont and his Austin teammates, 13 to 6, in its last appearance in the title round in 1937.

Bradley Tech Runs Over Arkansas A. & M., 67-0

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 27 (AP).—Ray Ramsey, fleet half back, led Bradley to an easy 67 to 0 victory over Arkansas A. & M. tonight before 3,000. Ramsey scored four touchdowns in the slaughter which was featured by many intercepted passes and long runs.

Indiana Works on Defense for Iowa Contest

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 27 [Special].—Indiana's football team began preparations for its engagement with Iowa in Iowa City Saturday by working on a defense to meet the Hawkeye attack. Members of the first team were excused from drill after the squad viewed motion pictures of the Wisconsin game as Coach Bo McMillin reviewed mistakes.

John Tavener of Granville, O., sophomore center, who suffered a head laceration in the Wisconsin game, probably will miss the Iowa battle. His injury is not serious, however, and he returned late today from the University of Wisconsin infirmary. Coach McMillin announced that Lou Saban, blocking back, will be groomed this week on place kicking to relieve Capt. Gene White, who is suffering from a leg injury.

IOWA IN GOOD SHAPE.

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 27 [Special].—"We're improving and I wasn't disappointed in the boys' showing against Purdue," Eddie Anderson, Iowa's head football coach, said today as the Hawkeyes began work for Saturday's homecoming battle against Indiana.

The Iowa squad was in good physical condition, except for a few bruises, and Anderson indicated the Hawkeyes will have to be in top form to stop the Hoosiers.

The squad went thru a light offensive workout today and will concentrate most of the week on its ground and air attack which has produced only six points in three conference contests.

Dog Fanciers of Chicago Prepare for Big Week-End

BY BOB BECKER.

Two big events are on the schedule for Chicagoland dog fanciers this week-end with the Shore Land Kennel club all-breed show on Sunday in Lake Forest, and the field trials for cocker and springer spaniels Saturday and Sunday at Northbrook.

Mrs. Berndalyn Kewley, vice president of the Shore Land club, said last night that more than 525 dogs have been entered for the show to be held at the Onwentsia club. The entry deadline was at midnight, so club officials will not have a final tabulation until this morning.

Breed judging will start at 10 a. m. Sunday, and if the show goes thru on schedule the group judging will start at 7 p. m., with the climax to come about an hour later when the best dog in the show is selected by F. F. Davis of Altadena, Cal.

Breeders of hunting cocker and springer spaniels have been pointing for the field trial sponsored by the Cocker Spaniel Club of the Central States which starts early Saturday morning at the Mission Hills Country club and continues thru Sunday afternoon.

There will be six stakes on the two day schedule, including a springer open all-age, cocker open all-age, cocker limit, springer limit, spaniel shooting dog [for all types of spaniels], and a cocker puppy stake open to dogs whelped on or after Jan. 1, 1940. The open all-age stakes will be the most important of the trials, but cocker breeders expect the puppy stake to provide as many tense moments as the events for more experienced dogs.

HAWKS RETURN TO PLAY EXHIBITION SATURDAY NIGHT

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Blackhawks will be home Thursday morning and will fetch with them their little brothers, the Kansas City Americans. The teams will head for Chicago immediately after an exhibition game tomorrow night in the University of Illinois rink.

The first preseason exhibition game in the history of major league hockey in Chicago will be played in Chicago Arena Saturday night. It will be the Hawks against Johnny Gottselig's Americans. The teams will move over to Kansas City for a match Sunday night, then the Hawks will return to practice for the National league opener in Chicago Stadium Thursday night, Nov. 6.

Hawks Are in Shape.

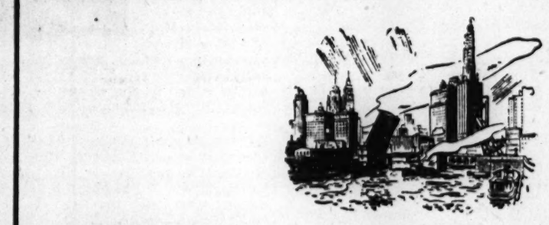
As he neared the end of the training stay in Champaign yesterday, Manager Paul Thompson declared that he's never seen the Hawks in such fine trim since he joined them in 1931.

Thompson has ceased to worry about inroads of the Canadian army regulations. The only real loss so far has been the detaining of Dave MacKay, defense man.

Reserves Are Plentiful.

MacKay will not be missed if Earl Seibert, Art Wiebe, Joe Cooper, and Johnny Mariucci are not knocked into the sick bay. If any of these fellows is hurt, replacements can be obtained overnight from the Kansas City club.

Because of developments in Champaign practice and the wrist injury suffered by Max Bently the last day the Hawks were in Hibbing, Minn., Thompson has revised his lines since he first talked of his personnel assignments. It now appears that Bill Thoms will be flanked by Doug Bentley and Mush March. George Allen, Bill Carse, and Papike will form another line and a third set will be composed of Cully Dahlstrom, Hergesheimer, and Purpur.



Chicago's favorite rum is

4-YEAR-OLD

RONRICO

It's easy to tell genuine aged rum in Illinois. Always look at the label. State law requires a notice on the bottle giving the age. If there's no statement, it isn't aged.

And Chicagoans now know that fine aged rum makes any drink smoother and more delicious.

That's why the preference is for 4-year-old Ronrico. It's the best rum—bar none. The label tells you it's full 4 years old. Every drop distilled in Puerto Rico.

Try 4-year-old Ronrico in your next cocktail, collins or other rum drink. Order it at your favorite bar or liquor store. Keep it on hand at home. And don't miss Ronrico and Soda—the grandest highball you ever tasted.

It's smart to insist on Ronrico 4-year-old... and it isn't expensive.

RONRICO COLLINS
Juice of ½ lemon
1 teaspoon sugar
1½ oz. Ronrico White Label (or Gold Label)

MOTHER WRITES OF HER HOME, AND WINS HONOR

Waukegan Woman 'Ideal Homemaker,' Say Judges.

The wife of a Waukegan postman yesterday won the title of ideal homemaker for the Chicago area in a contest inaugurating American Homemaker's week.

The ideal homemaker is Mrs. Ernest A. Quedenfeld, 623 Chestnut street, Waukegan. She is 32 years old and the mother of two children, but none of the four judges of the contest sponsored by the Homemaker's Conference and Exposition at the Hotel Sherman has the faintest idea how she looks, walks, talks, and cooks, or whether she can even make a bed. All they know about her is what she wrote in a letter and what they "read between the lines."

It was a good letter. Judge Joseph Sabath of Superior court, one of the judges, pronounced it "the most beautiful letter I have ever read." Another, Superior Judge John J. Lupe, was ecstatic over the writer's insight into human nature. The two women on the jury, Mrs. Bert Johnson and Mrs. Charles Sewell, concurred.

All entrants in the contest participated by letter.

Children Go to Sunday School.

Mrs. Quedenfeld began by saying she and her husband have been married 11 years; have a son, Philip, who is 10, and a daughter, Norma, who is 8. Their income is $2,100 a year, and they are buying a six room house.

The family, she said, is Episcopalian. The children attend Sunday school regularly and sing in the choir. Altho she does not budget, she says all their wants are filled; they also have taken out insurance for the children's education.

"We are very close as a family," she explained. She and her husband do the shopping together, and neither makes decisions alone. If the children are concerned, they are included in the discussion. "We have found," she added, "that leaves no room for misunderstanding."

Each member of the family helps in the care of the home, and each thus feels free, she wrote, to have his friends in, whether it be men playing cards or neighbor children doing home work. "Our home," she said, "is to be used by all of us."

Evenings Spent at Home.

Most of their evenings are spent at home, she continued, in reading, listening to the radio, or playing games. On warm evenings they cook their own supper over a back yard fireplace.

"I have never felt percentage minded as to budget," she continued. "We have plenty of home cooked food, enough clothes for our needs, carry more insurance than the average, and manage to put a little away for savings.

"In doing all these things on our salary today I feel we are living well and economically. There is lots of room for improvement, but we are striving to the best of our ability to live up to our ideals."

The jury decided she was. It scored her letter 95¾, one point above that of Mrs. Herald Witte, 3433 West 64th place, who won second place.

GIRL OF 14 DIES AFTER MISHAP IN SCHOOL HALLWAY

Gloria Graco, 14 years old, 2438 North Laramie avenue, a freshman at Foreman High school, died in St. Anne's hospital yesterday apparently as the result of a mishap that occurred in the school hallway two weeks ago. According to her father, George, a surface lines bus driver, a pupil whose name was not learned was carelessly swinging his arms in the hallway. One of the hands struck Gloria in the mouth and an infection resulted. She was taken to the hospital on Oct. 23.

Maeterlinck's Ex-Wife, Georgette Le Blanc, Dies

New York, Oct. 27 (AP).—Georgette Le Blanc, French singer who was known for 20 years as Mme. Maurice Maeterlinck, died yesterday at Le Cannet, France, according to word received here.

In her memoirs published in 1932 under the title, "Souvenirs: My Life with Maeterlinck," she wrote that the Belgian poet had made use of her conversation and letters in his works. She and Maeterlinck separated in 1919 and shortly afterward the poet married his "The Blue Bird."

Mlle. Le Blanc was the sister of Maurice Le Blanc, author of "Arsene Lupin."

OBITUARIES

Dr. Carl Gustaf Lagergren.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 27 [Special].—Dr. Carl Gustaf Lagergren, 95 years old, dean emeritus of the Swedish Baptist Theological seminary in St. Paul, died at his home here today. Dr. Lagergren, a native of Sweden, was dean of the Swedish Theological seminary of the University of Chicago from 1892 to 1912, and was president of the Swedish Baptist Theological seminary from 1912 to 1914, when it was located in Chicago.

PLAN $8,000,000 ELECTRIC STEEL MILL IN CHICAGO

Urged to Meet Rising Arms Demands.

The first all electric furnace steel mill in the nation, capable of producing 504,000 tons of alloy steel yearly, was recommended yesterday by the Office of Production Management for construction in South Chicago. Its cost was estimated unofficially at more than 8 million dollars.

Director General William S. Knudsen of the OPM made the recommendation to the Reconstruction Finance corporation, government financing agency which would provide construction funds. The plant would be operated by the Republic Steel corporation, which ranks third in the industry.

The projected plant is one of several recently proposed for the Chicago area as part of the OPM's plans for a 10 million ton expansion of the nation's steel making capacity. The need for alloy steels in airplanes, armor plate, tools, and ordnance has spurred the OPM program.

Full Capacity in 15 Months.

W. A. Hauck, OPM steel consultant upon whose report the Knudsen recommendation was made, estimated the Republic plant could start operations in eight or nine months and attain full capacity in 15 months. He estimated the plant would be capable of turning out 317,000 tons of steel annually for use in aircraft and ordnance equipment alone.

As advantages for locating the plant in the Chicago district, Hauck listed the area's ample electric power supply, competent operating and supervisory force, access to Great Lakes shipping to relieve the strain on railroads, and proximity to coal fields.

The OPM said that because virtually all of the nation's electric alloy steel production is going into the arms program, production increases are of "utmost importance."

First of Kind in Nation.

"The proposed plant is unusual," said the OPM, "in that it is the first in the country in which every unit from ore to finished product will be designed to produce electric furnace alloy steel."

To provide coke for the plant the OPM's blueprint calls for the development of a mine at Elkhorn, Ky., to furnish coking coal.

Republic, which has a large mill at 11900 Burley avenue, recently purchased 94½ acres in South Chicago, one parcel of 56½ acres adjoining its plant. This parcel is bounded by 118th street on the north, by the Calumet river on the west, by 122d street on the south and by the extension of Carondolet avenue on the east.

The other parcel, 38 acres in area, is a block south of the present plant, extends from 123d street to 126th street and from Carondolet avenue to Burley avenue. Both plots were purchased for $109,000, it was reported.

No Instructions Received.

C. M. White, Republic's vice president in charge of operations, said in Cleveland, O., last night that his company had made no definite plans for the utilization of the newly acquired land and that he had received no instructions from the OPM or the RFC.

Republic has a commitment from the Defense Plant corporation, an RFC subsidiary, for the construction of an electric steel plant costing $7,140,000 at Canton, O., where it now has large electric steel alloy making facilities. The DPC would hold title and lease that plant to Republic.

Electric furnaces have been used in this country since 1906. They utilize the electric arc's tremendous heat but are essentially a form of the open hearth commonly used in the steel industry. Tho expensive to operate, the electric furnace is said to produce a more uniform steel thru more exact control of furnace atmospheres.

BRITISH LET U. S. MOVIES TAKE OUT MORE OF INCOME

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27 [Special].—The rigid British control over the outgo of foreign exchange has been relaxed in favor of American film makers. Under a new agreement effective for the year starting Nov. 1, the film companies will be allowed to take out of England one-half of the 22 million dollars in film rentals now blocked and 20 million dollars in current income.

In the year which ends Oct. 31 American film companies which rent motion pictures to English exhibitors are restricted to 12½ million dollars, which they could remove from their British accounts and, in the preceding year, 18 million dollars.

Surety Company to Pay 'High Cost of Living' Bonus

Chicago officials of the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland and its affiliate, the American Bonding Company of Baltimore, announced yesterday that the directors had voted extra compensation, amounting to 10 per cent of their annual salaries, to all full time employés. The allowance, which becomes effective Jan. 1, was granted to meet the higher cost of living, officials said. In addition, employés will receive a cash bonus of 5 per cent of their 1941 salaries.

Report SPAB Will Ease Ban on Remodeling

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27 (AP).—The Supply Priorities and Allocations Board is studying possible relaxation of its ban on nondefense building to permit the remodeling of dwellings, it was learned today. It also may take steps to supply critical materials to construction projects already under way which face shutdown because of material shortages.

In a number of cases construction jobs already have been halted, defense officials said, because of inability to obtain steel, copper, brass, and other scarce metals.

Main Ruling to Stand.

The officials emphasized, however, that the moves under study do not imply any modification of the SPAB policy laid down three weeks ago forbidding the start of any new public or private construction which would use up critical materials, unless the jobs were essential to defense or the public safety and welfare.

The disclosure of possible concessions as to remodeling houses and providing materials for the completion of jobs already started, followed representations to SPAB and the Office of Production Management from real estate groups that complete stoppage of home building would cause "a serious dislocation" of the housing and rental structures of the country.

Asks Price Limit Change.

Philip W. Kniskern of Philadelphia, president of the National Real Estate Board, recently asked that a quantitative limit be placed on the amount of materials to be used in defense housing projects, instead of the present $6,000 price limit for each dwelling.

OPM sources said some concessions might be made toward the quantitative basis, but felt certain the $6,000 limitation would not be removed. To do so, it was said, might open the way to squabbling among contractors over available supplies and the "bootlegging" of scarce materials to build houses which might be beyond the means of most arms workers.

LESS STEEL FOR ICE BOXES.

Priorities Director Donald M. Nelson yesterday ordered a 35 per cent reduction in steel consumption by manufacturers of ice boxes for the period Sept. 1 to Dec. 31. Under tentative plans the reduction will be continued thru Aug. 1, 1942. The program affects 11 plants in 10 communities, employing 3,200 persons. Previous orders curtailed the manufacture of mechanical refrigerators.

PRINTING FIRM EXECUTIVES OPEN 3 DAY CONGRESS

Five hundred printing executives, members of the United Typothetæ of America, opened a three day printing congress yesterday in the Palmer House. Means to achieve a closer working arrangement between management and labor and methods to meet the growing shortage of printing apprentices are major points of discussion.

Leverett S. Lyon, chief executive officer of the Chicago Association of Commerce, addressed the opening meeting. John Haggerty, chairman of the International Allied Printing Trades association, will speak today. Tomorrow's speakers include Norbert A. McKenna and John B. Davis, both of the Office of Production Management, and A. E. Giegengack, public printer of the United States.

Steel Industry Sets Output Rate This Week at 99.9%

New York, Oct. 27 (AP).—Steel production this week will set a new high record at 99.9 per cent of capacity, the American Iron and Steel institute estimated today. This would top last week's rate by 2.1 points and compare with 96.9 per cent a month ago and 95.7 per cent a year ago.

Sloan Reports Discrimination in Auto Slash

New York, Oct. 27 (AP).—Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of General Motors corporation, said today in a statement accompanying the big automobile firm's quarterly report that the three larger motor manufacturers had suffered a greater curtailment of production by government decree than smaller car makers.

Alfred P. Sloan Jr.

"In connection with the priorities program for the automobile industry," said Sloan, there have been established allotment ratios among individual producers.

Big Firms Curtailed Most.

"In establishing these individual quotas, a differential has been created by the government between the three larger producers and the remainder of the industry; that is to say, the automobile production of the three larger producers has undergone a greater curtailment than the average of the industry as a whole.

"The fact that everybody must do his part in the defense program is accepted. General Motors not only proposes to do its part but more.

"But General Motors believes that the policy behind the sacrifices now demanded of everybody should be to maintain the relative position as among producers within industry."

Profit Above Year Ago.

The corporation's financial report for the quarter ended Sept. 30 showed consolidated net profit of $42,997,929. After allowing for preferred dividends there was a balance equal to 94 cents a share on the common stock. This compared with $15,597,030, or 31 cents a share, in the September quarter last year. Provision for United States and foreign income and excess profits taxes amounted to $37,633,000 against $12,577,000 in the third quarter of 1940.

Sloan disclosed that deliveries under arms contracts and orders from General Motors United States and Canadian plants during the third quarter amounted $115,900,000 and represented 24.7 per cent of total company sales.

MANUFACTURER BACKLOG DROP IS 1ST IN 18 MONTHS

New York, Oct. 27 (AP). — Unfilled orders on the books of manufacturers declined 1 per cent last month, the first recession in backlogs in 18 months, the National Industrial Conference board, a private statistical agency, reported today.

The board's adjusted unfilled orders index dipped from a high 537 in August to 534 at the end of September, but remained 171 per cent above a year ago.

Lower orders and increased shipments combined to reduce the backlogs of unfilled orders of durable goods, while nondurable goods' backlogs were about unchanged, it said.

Week's Business Failures at Preceding Total, 178

New York, Oct. 27 (AP).—Business failures during the week ended Oct. 23 numbered 178, the same as in the preceding week, compared with 263 in the corresponding week of 1940.

U.S. TAX NEARLY 3 TIMES PROFIT OF ARMS MAKER

But Stewart-Warner Net Income Rises.

Federal income and excess profits taxes will take about three-fourths of Stewart-Warner corporation's earnings before taxes for the September quarter and the first nine months of 1941, the Chicago manufacturer of automobile products, radios, and armament items reported yesterday.

Frank A. Ross, who fills Knowlson's post as president.

For the September quarter the company reported net income of $599,839, or 47 cents a share, compared with $317,439, or 25 cents a share, in the corresponding quarter last year. The company set aside $1,652,352 for federal taxes, compared with $252,436 in the 1940 September quarter. Net earnings before federal taxes were $2,252,191, compared with $569,875 in the third quarter last year.

9 Month Profit Larger.

For the first nine months of 1941 the company had net income of $1,370,111, or $1.08 a share, compared with $994,684, or 80 cents a share, in the corresponding 1940 period. The provision for federal taxes was $3,764,959, compared with $514,637 last year. Profit before federal taxes was $5,135,070, compared with $1,509,321 in the first nine months of 1940.

Following a meeting yesterday, the Stewart-Warner board of directors announced Frank A. Ross, senior vice president, will head the company during the absence of James S. Knowlson, president and chairman of the board. The board approved Knowlson's leave of absence without pay in which he will serve as deputy director of priorities in the Supply Priorities and Allocations board.

Consolidated Edison Company of New York, Inc., reported a consolidated September quarter profit of $4,393,051, or 14 cents a share, compared with $4,239,753, or 13 cents a share, in the corresponding quarter last year. Set aside for taxes was $7,793,021, compared with $7,473,637 in the 1940 September quarter.

Hudson Earnings Rise.

Climax Molybdenum company, world's largest producer of molybdenum, an alloy used in steel production, reported a September quarter profit of $2,569,627, or $1.02 a share, compared with $1,265,299, or 50 cents a share, in the corresponding 1940 period.

In the September quarter Hudson Motor Car company had net income of $1,190,788, or 75 cents a share, compared with $531,195, or 33 cents a share, last year.

WARNS DEALERS AGAINST SALE ON OWN PRICE PROP

A securities dealer may be accused of being a market manipulator if he takes advantage of the price increase caused by his purchasing a block of a security, Chester T. Lane, general counsel of the Securities and Exchange commission, asserted yesterday in giving theoretical opinion to an inquirer.

Lane said that if the dealer starts selling the securities at a time when the price still is propped by his earlier purchases, "the natural inferernce" would be that he raised the market price for purposes of manipulation.

To avoid such an inference, the opinion indicated, the dealer would have to withhold his sale until the market price no longer reflected his purchasing activity.

General Chemical Buys Warehouse on 47th Place

CIO Strike Closes Big Shipyard; Illinois Miners' Wages Raised

Welders' Dispute Grows

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Shipbuilding and repair activities were hampered yesterday by a spreading welders' strike springing from a quarrel within the AFL and by a walkout of CIO men at the Robins Drydock and Repair company, Brooklyn.

The welders' strike forced closing of the Lake Washington shipyard, Houghton, Wash.; the Pacific Car and Foundry company, Benton, Wash., and the Seattle structural division of the latter company. About 4,000 men were idle.

Some welders also were on strike at shipbuilding and airplane plants in the Long Beach-Los Angeles area in California, but operations were not halted. About 75 were out at plants in Florence, Ala.

Dispute Convention Stand.

The welders demand a separate union of their own within the AFL, altho this was denied them at the recent AFL convention on the decision that the welders should join existing AFL union, affiliating with the boilermakers, for instance, if they worked principally on boilers.

Wage questions figured in the strike at the big Robins drydock, which has a contract with the United States maritime commission to repair damaged British merchant ships entering New York harbor. At least 14 vessels are there for overhaul or repairs.

The CIO Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers, claiming as members 5,800 of the 6,000 men employed at the yard, said the management had promised a 5 per cent wage increase, then had withdrawn it.

With the yard closed, the defense mediation board asked the management and union to "refrain from any action which might aggravate the situation." It promised to hold a hearing as soon as possible.

Threaten Renewed Picketing.

At Bendix, N. J., members of the CIO United Automobile Workers talked of putting pickets about the plant of Air Associates, Inc., again. The union's strike against the company was called off last week when the management agreed to reinstate strikers whose jobs it previously had given to new employés. However, 65 strikers refused to go to work yesterday when employment cards were given them reading "assigned to a position" without specifying their former posts. Air Associates, holding 5 million dollars in contracts for airplane parts, employs about 700.

CIO automobile workers called a strike at the Chrysler Motor Parts corporation, Kansas City, Kas., because the National Labor Relations board denied its petition for a collective bargaining election. The board said the company had a contract with an AFL union. The CIO said 90 per cent of the 95 workers petitioned for the election.

Coal Pay Roll Mounts

A two year contract boosting the wages of 35,000 Illinois coal miners was approved yesterday by the Illinois Coal Operators' association and the United Mine Workers of America [CIO] after a conference in the Union League club.

The contract calls for pay increases of $1 to $1.60 for a seven hour day and a basic wage of $7, retroactive to April 1. Fifty wage classifications are covered. Strip miners' daily wages will range as high as $10.50.

George F. Campbell, president of the coal operators' association, estimated that the wage increase would cost mine owners an additional 5 million dollars a year, but said the price of coal probably would not be raised.

The contract covers 27,000 miners employed in 60 mines owned by members of the Illinois Coal Operators' association. Eight thousand others working in 200 Illinois mines of nonmembers also will receive the pay increases within a few weeks, Ray Edmundson, UMW president, said, asserting these operators customarily follow the lead of the association.

The agreement follows the pattern of the northern Appalachian accord signed last spring and on which a temporary Illinois agreement was based. Under the retroactive clause the state's miners will collect $510,000, Campbell said.

MIDLAND UNITED CLAIMS PRESSED BY EDISON UNIT

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 27 (AP).—Commonwealth Subsidiary corporation of Chicago today presented evidence in an effort to prove claims of $6,500,000 against the Midland United company, once a top ranking link in the Insull utility chain.

Special Master Daniel O. Hastings, conducting hearings in bankruptcy proceedings against Midland United and Midland Utilities company, both of Chicago, said he probably would call on other creditors to present proof of claims tomorrow.

Claims total an estimated 50 million dollars. Other large creditors are the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, Commonwealth Edison company, and the Peoples Gas, Light, and Coke company, all of Chicago.

In addition, Midland United and Midland Utilities have filed large claims against each other.

RESERVE AREA'S CHECK DEALINGS EXPAND 20.3 PCT.

Check transactions in the 7th [Chicago] federal reserve bank district expanded 20.3 per cent in the week ended Oct. 22 to $1,908,745,000, compared with $1,586,965,000 in the preceding week, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported yesterday after compiling reports from 157 banks in 41 clearing house cities.

Debits to deposit accounts in the corresponding 1940 week were $1,365,796,000. For the 13 weeks ended Oct. 22 debits totaled $20,417,190,000, a gain of 32.3 per cent over $15,428,508,000 in the parallel 1940 period.

"COMMON SENSE"

In a fireside chat on Oct. 12, 1937, President Roosevelt said:

"Meanwhile, remember that from 1913 to 1921 I was fairly close to world events, and in that period, while I learned much of what to do, I also learned much of what not to do.

"The common sense, the intelligence of America agree with my statement that 'America hates war. America hopes for peace. Therefore, America actively engages in the search for peace.'"

ODLUM OFFERS PLAN TO ASSIST LITTLE BUSINESS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27 (AP).—An armament official proposed today establishment of special financing for small and medium sized industries and allocation of raw materials to tide them over during the period in which they are converted from civilian to defense production.

This program was offered to the senate defense investigating committee by Floyd B. Odlum, director of the division of contract distribution of the Office of Production Management. He contended that it offered the best prospect for keeping thousands of small concerns from closing their doors.

WARNS MIDWEST OF DISLOCATION TO FOLLOW WAR

Valley Group Head Urges Planning.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 27.—Removal of trade barriers within the nation, closer linking of the 7,000 mile inland waterway system with rail and highway transportation, and fortification of the mouth of the Mississippi river were among the subjects discussed at the 23d annual convention of the Mississippi Valley association.

Maj. Gen. Eugene Reybold urges increased use of waterways in arms program.

However, the impact of the national preparedness program on the activities of the midcontinent area served by the association was the principal theme of most of the speakers. Approximately 500 representatives of varied lines of activity from St. Louis, Chicago, Kansas City, Minneapolis-St. Paul, New Orleans, and other cities in the valley are attending.

Billions Spent in Midwest.

In his opening address, Lachlan MacLeay, president of the association, said that government armament program contracts and expenditures in the midcontinent area thru Sept. 24, 1941, exceeded 7 billion dollars. Contracts for new plants and plant expansion by federal agencies have amounted to $1,096,007,000.

This vast program has brought thousands of workers to the area who must be used in such a way as to offset as far as possible the enormous economic dislocations that are bound to occur at the end of the emergency, MacLeay said. The building of the huge arms plants is certain to create new problems. Who is to own and operate them at the end of the emergency and what is to be done with this new manufacturing capacity when it is no longer needed for arms, he asked.

"Plans must be ready for use when the world is ready to turn from a war to a peace economy," he declared.

Hits State Trade Barriers.

Existence of "ports of entry" in a supposedly free and united nation was sharply criticized by Paul T. Truitt, United States department of commerce, in a discussion of trade barriers. The arms program is being seriously impaired by barriers to commerce set up by the states, particularly in connection with truck operation, he said.

Truitt said there are two types of barriers—direct and indirect. The former usually are created thru abuse by pressure groups of one or more of three state powers: [1] taxation; [2] police power for protection of health, safety, and morals; and [3] the states' sovereign propriety powers.

Examples of the direct type include the Wisconsin and Washington excise taxes on oleomargarine; laws in 14 states which provide that eggs to be sold as "fresh eggs" must have been laid within the state, and laws requiring the use of local labor and the purchases of local products from local companies.

Kentucky Weight Rule Hit.

Indirect barriers include a wide variety of size and weight regulations placed on motors trucks, train length limits and lack of uniformity on state laws prescribing container sizes and weights for fresh fruits. State barriers on truck operations are delaying movements of numerous needed arms products, Truitt said, including aluminum, oil, gun mounts,

STOCK MARKET FURLS RECOVERY SAILS AND SINKS

Taxes Cast Their Shadow on Tobacco Group.

New York, Oct. 27 (AP).—Stocks furled their recovery sails in today's market and leaders lost fractions to more than a point. The tax specter cast its shadow on the tobacco group and breaks of 1 to 10 points among these issues had much to do with unsettling sentiment.

Aside from mounting tax worries, recovery contigents were handicapped by growing labor rifts seriously menacing armament output, and belief that the Russian war situation was much worse than had previously been revealed by the Red chieftains.

Cause of Tobacco Drop.

Hitting tobacco stocks was the announcement of President George W. Hill of American Tobacco that, because of heavy taxes, he had recommended that the regular quarterly dividend of $1.25, paid for nearly a decade, be cut to 75 cents in the final three months of 1941.

American Tobacco common and "B" opened more than an hour late off 8¼ each on blocks of 3,000 and 1,000 shares, respectively. The former ended down 10 and the latter 9½, both at new 1941 lows along with Reynolds "B." Liggett & Myers common and "B" also declined.

CHICAGO LIST LOWER.

Prices generally were lower on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday in transactions totaling 23,000 shares. Volume leaders were Commonwealth Edison, 1,900 shares, off ½ to 24¼; Central Illinois Securities, 1,000 shares, up 1/16 to ¼; American Radiator, 900 shares, off ¼ to 5¼; Westinghouse Electric, 750 shares, off 1⅜ to 71¾, and General Motors, 700 shares, off ⅝ to 39.

In the last half hour, after the close of the New York exchange, Stewart Warner advanced ¼, Swift International and Butler Brothers declined ⅛, and Chrysler declined ¼.

NO APPEAL ON SEC RULE.

New York, Oct. 27 [Special].—Emil Schram, president of the New York Stock exchange, announced today that no court appeal would be taken from the order of the Securities and Exchange commission directing the exchange to eliminate its rule prohibiting member firms from acting as dealers on other exchanges in stocks traded on the board here.

HALSEY, STUART WINS BIG UTILITY BOND REFUNDING

Will Reoffer CIPS Issue Later This Week.

The Central Illinois Public Service company, which furnishes electricity and gas to communities in southern and central Illinois, yesterday completed the major step in its 47 million dollar refunding program which substantially reduces its annual interest charges.

The public utility company, part of the Middle West corporation system, awarded its 38 million dollars of first mortgage 3¾ per cent bonds due Oct. 1, 1971, to the high bidder, Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., Chicago, and associates. The syndicate purchased them at 105.7897 per cent of face value. The only other bid was 105.1269 submitted by a syndicate headed by Kuhn, Loeb & Co., New York.

Will Retire Bonds of 1968.

The proceeds from the sale of the bonds will be used by the utility to retire an equal amount of 3¾ per cent first mortgage bonds which would have matured Dec. 1, 1968. With 9 million dollars to be borrowed from a New York bank and several insurance companies at from 2 to 3 per cent interest, CIPS will refund the same amount of 3½ and 4 per cent serial debentures maturing from Dec. 1, 1941, to Dec. 1, 1948.

Public offering of the first mortgage bonds is expected this week, possibly tomorrow, at 107 per cent. Certain post-sale amendments of the registration statement first must be filed with the Securities and Exchange commission.

Offer Finance Firm's Loan.

Public offering is being made today of 10 million dollars of Beneficial Industrial Loan corporation 15 year 2¾ per cent debentures by an underwriting group headed by Eastman, Dillon & Co. The debentures are priced at 100 and accrued interest.

Net proceeds will be placed by the corporation in its general funds, probably for use later in reducing outstanding bank loans and commercial paper, it was said.

The debentures, due in 1956, are redeemable as a whole or in part at redemption prices ranging from 101 to 100.

PLACE CEILING PRICES ON GLYCERIN, DUE TO RECENT BIG ADVANCES

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27 (AP).—Price Administrator Leon Henderson today imposed a price ceiling on glycerine at levels far below current price quotations. Glycerine is used in making high explosives and other military products.

The action was necessary, Henderson said, because of a price increase totaling almost 150 per cent in about nine months. The increase resulted, he said, from an "abnormal demand," created by the armament program.

The schedule establishes a base maximum price of 11½ cents a pound for crude glycerine compared with the 18 cent price now quoted by refiners for fourth quarter delivery, and 18 cents a pound for refined glycerine, compared with existing 21½ cent quotations.

WARNS MIDWEST OF DISLOCATIONS TO FOLLOW WAR

Head of Valley Group Urges Planning.

steel trusses, cloth for uniforms, machine tools, and other items. Kentucky with its 18,000 pound truck weight limit has been especially troublesome, he said. A single truck operator in one year had more than 200 arrest tickets and had to pay more than $15,000 in fines.

Discussing the growing importance of New Orleans, E. A. Stephens, president of the board of commissioners of the port of New Orleans, said that freight handled last year totaled 19,795,600 tons, an increase of 3,491,000 tons over 1939. He said the 1941 figures will far exceed last year's volume.

Urges Port Fortification.

Stephens warned the country that it should fortify the mouth of the Mississippi against military attack.

"We must bring forcibly to the attention of our officials what a disastrous thing it might be for the entire Mississippi valley if this strategic point is not properly prepared to fight off an attack," he said.

Maj. Gen. Eugene Reybold, chief of engineers, United States army, urged that priority be given to waterways that form a link in the defense transportation system. He said the inland waterways will handle from 50 to 300 per cent more traffic than a year ago. They will be especially helpful in carrying bulky goods, leaving the railways and trucks to carry goods that must be moved swiftly.

Attacks Water Diversion.

John B. Gage, mayor of Kansas City, assailed the proposal of Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior, that water impounded in the Fort Peck dam—in Montana—be diverted for use on irrigation projects instead of being retained for its original use—maintenance of a steady flow of water in the Missouri river for navigation and to provide flood control.

Gage said that this country should not embark on new irrigation projects because we are already producing a surplus of farm products.

Private Aircraft Repair Parts Get High Priority

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27 (AP).—The OPM today extended its priority preference rating on aircraft repair parts and accessories to civilian operated airplanes. The priorities division explained that the nation's 84,152 certified pilots "can only maintain their flying ability thru a continuity of flying experience."

WHEAT WEAKENS AS HOPE OF LOAN INCREASE FADES

Bearish sentiment predominated yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Reports indicating that the congressional farm bloc was prepared to abandon its demand for parity price loans on wheat and other agricultural products led to selling of wheat and futures closed about the bottom at losses of 2 to 2⅛ cents. December finished at $1.13⅜ a bushel.

Wet weather in the central west which is delaying harvesting of corn and soy beans buoyed prices of the two commodities in the early trading, but they weakened later with wheat. Corn finished ⅛ to ⅝ cent lower, while soy beans unchanged to ¼ cent lower. Oats lost ¼ to ½ cent and rye was off ⅞ to 1 cent. Lard declined 12½ to 17½ cents per hundred pounds in sympathy with cottonseed oil.

SEARS, ROEBUCK WILL PAY $1.25 EXTRA DIVIDEND

Brings Total for Year to $4.25 a Share.

The company reported that gross sales are about 30 per cent ahead of last year. It was indicated, however, that earnings after taxes will be about the same.

The Crane company, Chicago manufacturer of radiators, plumbing supplies, and heating boilers, declared a dividend of $1 on the common stock, the first since 80 cents was distributed last December. The regular $1.25 quarterly on the preferred stock also was authorized.

SUPREME COURT DENIES REVIEW OF USE TAX CASE

Chicago Tailoring Concern Upheld in Fight.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27 (AP).—The Supreme court refused today to review a decision that Michigan's 3 per cent use tax act did not impose any tax liability on an Illinois corporation engaged in business in Detroit. The Michigan board of tax administration appealed from the state Supreme court.

The use tax does not apply to transactions in which the property involved has been subjected to a state sales tax at the same rate. The J. B. Simpson company, Chicago tailoring firm, successfully contested imposition of a sales tax on goods sold in Detroit in earlier litigation, and also contested imposition of the use tax.

Order Must Stand.

The Supreme court refused to review decisions under which the Shaker Heights Realty company of Cleveland was denied judgments totaling 23 million dollars against the Van Sweringen corporation. Shaker Heights, formerly the Midamerica corporation, appealed from the 6th federal Circuit court.

The litigation resulted from the financial difficulties of the late O. F. and M. J. Van Sweringen, railroad magnates. Midamerica was formed in 1935 to bid on securities held by J. P. Morgan & Co., as collateral on $39,500,000 in loans to Van Sweringen firms. Morgan sold the securities to Midamerica. The Van Sweringens died owing millions and leaving virtually nothing.

Refuses Review of Case.

The Supreme court refused to interfere with a national labor relations board order directing McKesson & Robbins, Inc., wholesale drug company, to stop giving effect to closed shop contracts with the Teamsters' union [AFL] at two Seattle warehouses. A jurisdictional controversy in 1936 between the teamsters and the International Longshoremen's association produced the litigation.

As a result of the controversy the two Seattle warehouses were closed for five months in 1937 and reopened under a "truce agreement" that the controversy be submitted to the federation's convention in October. The longshoremen withdrew from the federation in August, however, and affiliated with the CIO. The federation ruled in favor of the teamsters and McKesson then entered into closed shop contracts with that organization and demanded that all of its employés join.

STOCK IN TRUST.

I own a substantial amount of stock and want my married sister to share in its current income as well as to receive the stock itself upon my death without having to resort to a will or probate. I don't want her to control any of the stock at present, but at the same time I want to guarantee her a share of any income available. What arrangement can I make to carry out my wishes? —B. D. B.

Answer: As owner of the stock, you could place it in a trust and act as trustee or name a third party or institution to act in this capacity. In either case the stock would be registered in the name of the trustee, who would receive the income. The income would be distributed according to the terms of the trust instrument, or provisions governing the trust. Since you would declare the trust, you could determine the terms of the instrument, making the arrangements necessary to carry out your wishes. As trustee, you or the third party named would be bound by the instrument. You could arrange under the trust to have the trust terminate and the stock pass to your sister upon your death, or you could have the trust terminate upon her death, returning the stock to you outright.

DIVIDEND OMITTED.

May I have a report on Interstate Bakeries? I have had the preferred stock for many years, buying it when it was the Schulze Baking company. Interstate has been paying 62½ cents quarterly on this stock, but I didn't receive a dividend this month.—F. S. E.

Answer: Interstate Bakeries corportion owns and operates 25 bread and cake baking plants in the middle west and California. It was incorporated in 1937 to merge a company of the same name and its two subsidiaries, the Schulze Baking company and the Western Bakeries corporation. New stock was issued in exchange for the old upon completion of the merger. The new company assumed the Schulze company's first mortgage 6 per cent bonds of 1945, outstanding at the end of 1940 in the amount of $2,085,000. Present capitalization is 305,442 shares of $1 par common and 69,712 shares of no par $5 cumulative preferred stock.

No dividends have been paid on the common stock and cannot be paid until arrears amounting to $10.62½ a share on the preferred on Oct. 1 this year are cleared. Payments of 62½ cents were made in April and July, but the company announced it was omitting the third quarter payment due in October.

Interest on the assumed bonds has been covered by favorable margins. The company has operated profitably since incorporation, with net income of $165,696 in 1937, $384,394 in 1938, $473,461 in 1939, and $251,832 last year.

HALF YEAR LONG RISE IN LOANS TO BUSINESS REVERSED LAST WEEK

For the first time in 26 weeks business loans of the nation's banks declined in the week ended last Wednesday, the federal reserve board reported yesterday. The shrinkage in this type of credit was interpreted in some financial quarters as an indication that the rate of industrial expansion under the arms program was slowing.

Commercial, industrial, and agricultural loans dropped 12 millions in the week to $6,556,000,000, but were still $1,810,000,000 ahead of a year ago.

Following are the principal assets and liabilities of the member banks of the Federal Reserve system in 101 cities at the close of business Wednesday [last six ciphers omitted]:

HOGS RISE MORE TO BEST LEVELS OF TWELVE DAYS

Additional recoveries in the market for hogs yesterday carried the price level to the highest position in 12 days and 50 cents above Monday of last week. Price advances of 10 to 25 cents were attributed to smaller receipts from farms, heavier lend-lease buying and broader domestic demand for fresh pork.

Influenced by the decline of hog numbers at the market, wholesale prices of fresh pork rose 50 cents to $1 a hundred pounds. Top light loins sold at $23, which was $2 above last week's low point. Colder weather also was a stimulating factor in the meat trade.

No change occurred in slaughter lambs.

DAY BY DAY ON THE FARM & GAIL COMPTON

Color Theory Exploded.

Oct. 27, 1941.

THE theory that Jack Frost is responsible for the brilliant autumn foliage has been put to shame this year by none other than the trees themselves. Most of the trees are sporting their gayest hues already and had them before the frost arrived.

Botanists are not quite sure exactly what factors make the fall colors bright or dim, and there are several technical points on the color change over which they will argue. They are agreed for the most part, however, that soil conditions, rainfall, and the location of the tree have more to do with the colors of a leaf than any frost action.

For the most brilliant fall colors the scientists recommend an autumn such as this. Many days of rain have kept the leaves green and well fed. Frost held off, giving the leaves time to mature normally. There have been sunny days combined with cool nights. All of these, the botanists say, are the ingredients for beautiful fall colors.

Some Hold Back.

While the trees went about the job of putting Jack Frost out of business, they also took time to show up a few scientists. While many trees are flaming in magnificent color, there are almost as many other trees that have held back and refused to put on a show.

Some of the giant oak trees at the farm are ignoring the fact that it is late October and insist on keeping their leaves green. The hickories, on the other hand, wave limp, brown leaves.

The maples have been doing more than their part, and their bright yellows stand out wherever they are.

Some of the oaks are red, picking up the motif from the lowly sumacs.

Green from Chlorophyl.

Autumn colors are formed by the pigments within the leaves. The green color that predominates all summer is due to the chlorophyl in the leaves.

In the fall, when the leaf matures, it needs less food, and does not demand as much from the chlorophyl. As a result the chlorophyl gradually disappears, and the remaining pigments have a chance to show themselves after being masked all summer. Thus when the tree is shutting off its food supply, or just starting it, as in the spring, the other colors have a chance to be seen.

The early autumn hues of orange, scarlet, yellow, and crimson in turn will give way to somber brown tints as the dead, dry leaves fall to the ground.
